The John D. Lease.
Good Business Mileage.
Another Canal Needed.
The Dead Really Talk.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

FANCY "realtors" and plain real estate men will read with interest of a lease signed by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., as tenant, Columbia University as landlord. To provide three blocks of New York real estate for an opera house site and a fine commercial development in the heart of the city, the Rockefeller lease will pay to Columbia a total of $261,000,000 in 87 years. That land sold, about 100 years ago, for less than $10,000.

Select your real estate CAREFULLY, but GET SOME.

THE value of a machine depends on the length of its working life.

Uncle Sam is fortunate in the lasting qualities and working determination of business men that build the country.

NEW YORK merchants gave a dinner to Col. Michael Friedsam, who has finished 50 years of work as head of one of the biggest commercial institutions in America. Asked when he expected to retire, Col. Friedsam replied: "When they carry me out."

GEORGE F. Baker, past 80, works as hard as ever, frequently giving away some of the millions he has earned.

John D. Rockefeller, within a few months of 90, will stop, with his mashie in the air, to tell you, "Mr. Kingsbury, head of Standard Oil of California, is a very able man." He has given away hundreds of millions and is still working, although his son carries most of the load.

American business men possess extraordinary "mileage."

FORTY THOUSAND men of the United States Army and Navy are engaged in a battle to last a week. Some of them are theoretically defending the Pacific entrance to the Panama Canal, others are theoretically attacking it.

In a real war, as Senator Reed, of Missouri, said the other day, enemy airplanes could destroy the locks of the Panama Canal and put it out of business in five hours. And battleships would hurry in the other direction to avoid being sunk by the same airplanes. Uncle Sam needs a sea level in Nicaragua.

JOB said, in a pessimistic mood, "He that goeth down to the grave shall come up no more. .... Neither shall his place know him any more."

It would surprise Job and his friend Bilbad to learn that Dr. Steinmetz, who died several years ago, is to be heard on the radio throughout the United States on the thirtieth of this month. A photophone film made before his death will be heard by millions.

THANKS to radio, from this day forward the dead will speak to the living and nobody will dare question the authenticity of THAT miracle.

A GERMAN music hall singer, tall, fat and florid, sang "Only no cold water. My weak stomach cannot bear it."

European governments appointing experts to decide what Germany can and must pay, sing a similar song. "Only no mention of the money we owe America. Our weak stomachs couldn't bear it."

IT is all right to let Americans help to extract whatever gold Germany can pay. But Americans suggesting that any part of the proceeds should be devoted to that ten billion U. S. A. war debt strikes Europe as very crude.

THE British can't quite make up their minds to build a tunnel under the English Channel, connecting France and Britain. They feel as they felt more than a hundred years ago when Napoleon was trying to get across the Channel.

They fear that another Napoleon might march through the tunnel.

If any second Napoleon comes, it will be through the air, and every intelligent Englishman knows it. But tradition is powerful.

A MICHIGAN court sentencing a grandmother to life imprisonment for selling a pint of whisky was the subject of a newspaper cartoon. Congressman Boylan, Democrat, of New York, wanted to print the cartoon in the Congressional Record. Congressman Tilson, Republican floor leader, terribly shocked, said: "Cartoons must never be printed in the Record."

If they were printed, well selected, the Record would have more readers.

For instance, a cartoon printed in the Record every month, showing what would happen to New York, Washington, Boston, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, New Orleans and Chicago, if enemy planes ever came with bombs from the North, East, South or West, we might possibly promote an adequate air fleet.

MR. V. M. WHITNEY, of Brooklyn, got married and wrote the "Fourteen Points of Married Life," saying just what a husband should be and do. Now he is asking for a divorce.

There were 14 other points started in the White House that fared about as badly.

GERMANY applauds and criticizes the former Kaiser's book, entitled "My Ancestors."

What kind of a book would Frederick the Great write if he could come back and write "My Descendants"?

EVERYTHING comes true in time. Goldsmith wrote in his Elegy on the Death of a Mad Dog:

"The man recovered of the bite,
The dog it was that died."

HOSTETTER WIDOW TO WED

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Mrs. Allene Tew Burchard, wealthy widow, of New York and Paris, is to marry Prince Henry VIII, of Reuss, a member of one of Europe's oldest reigning houses.

Mrs. Burchard inherited an estate of $3,000,000 on the death of her husband, Anson Wood Burchard, vice chairman of the General Electric Company, in 1927. She is now in Egypt and has chartered a houseboat on which she will be hostess to the prince and five friends on an extended cruise on the Nile. Announcement of the engagement was cabled to friends.

THIRD MARRIAGE

The marriage will be Mrs. Burchard's third. She is a daughter of Charles H. Tew, of Jamestown, N. Y., and was first married to Theodore Hostetter, of Pittsburgh, who died. She had two children by her first marriage, Mrs. Glenn Stewart, who died several years ago, and Theodore Hostetter, an aviator, who died during the World War.

Since the death of Mr. Burchard, she has spent much of her time abroad, maintaining a home in Paris and making regular pilgrimages to the grave of her son at Masnieres. In 1927 she dedicated a monument to him and opened a school building which she presented to the town as a memorial.

HAS WAR RECORD

Prince Henry is a son of Prince Henry VII and the Princess Marie Alexandrine of Saxe-Weimar, Duchess of Saxe, both of whom were close friends of Bismarck. He had a notable war record, was seriously wounded and later entered the diplomatic service, being attached to the German embassies in France, Japan and Austria. He was married in 1913 to Princess Victoria Marguerite of Hohenzollern, whose father was a cousin of Emperor William II.

The house of Reuss until the revolution of 1918 ruled for many centuries over two principalities near the Polish border.

RESIDED HERE

Mrs. Allene Tew Burchard, formerly Mrs. Theodore R. Hostetter, of this city, left Pittsburgh a few years ago after the death of Mr. Hostetter in 1902. The Hostetters formerly resided on the North Side. They had two children. Mrs. Glenn Stewart and Theodore R. Hostetter, Jr. Mrs. Stewart died in 1924, and the son was killed during the World War flying over the German lines. Mrs. Burchard at present has no relatives in Pittsburgh.

Police Seek Girl, 15, Wearing Male Attire

The Missing Persons Division has been asked to find Mrs. Jeanne Burd, 24, proprietor of a beauty parlor; Gertrude Zelmore, 16, and Myrtle "Billie" Hall, 15, all of Uniontown. They are said to have left Uniontown about two weeks ago. The Hall girl, it is said, may be wearing male attire.

Walsh's Overcoat Taken by Thieves

Police Superintendent Peter P. Walsh might have been excused if he had ordered his sleuths to solve at all costs the robbery of the Rothman tailor shop at 67 Magee street, early today. Among the $1,200 of clothes stolen was an overcoat belonging to Walsh.

3RD RACKETEER PLEADS GUILTY

Prosecution of alleged racketeers indicted as a result of the county grand jury probe and electing to stand trial brought a third plea of guilty today in Criminal Court.

John Lang admitted maintaining a slot machine in his saloon at 2027 Charles street, North Side. His case will be disposed of Saturday along with nearly 150 cases in which pleas of guilty were entered. Lang was the third defendant arraigned for trial and changed his plea like the two preceding him.

The trial of Justice of the Peace Wallace L. Baker, of Bellevue, and his constable, E. V. Stokes, on charges of extortion, bribery and malfeasance, growing out of the alleged confiscation of upwards of 300 slot machine and retention of their contents, listed for today, was postponed until next Tuesday.

'Vasbinder's Letter' Found Poor Forgery

A letter purporting to be from Jack Vasbinder denying he had been killed by Paul Jaworski, executed bandit leader, is branded a poor forgery by Chief George Murren, of the County Detective Bureau. The letter, received by a local newspaper, was compared by Murren with letters Vasbinder had written his wife. Vasbinder shot his way with Jaworski from the county jail in August, 1927. In a letter purporting to have been written by Jaworski in the death house last week, Jaworski said he had killed his pal in the sensational escape to save him from a dope fiend's life.

Civil War Pension Bill Passes Senate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—(INS.)—An omnibus pension bill, granting pensions to about 3,000 Civil War veterans and dependents at a cost of $500,000 a year, was enacted by the Senate today. The bill previously had passed the House, but the Senate added about 100 pensions to it, requiring further approval by the House.

SEA HERO SAVES CREW OF 32

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—(INS.)—Victorious in a battle with the hungry waves of the Atlantic for the second time in three years, Capt. George Fried, of the United States liner America, pointed his ship toward New York today after snatching 32 men from a watery grave.

After a 31-hour race through mountainous seas, the famous skipper located the disabled Italian freighter, Florida, some 700 miles off the Virginia Capes, where she had been buffeted by heavy seas since sending out an S O S at noon Tuesday. At 10 o'clock last night, less than three hours after the America sighted the freighter, the Florida's full crew had been transferred safely to comfortable quarters on the giant liner.

The Florida, listing badly, was abandoned. The giant waves, cheated of their human prey, were lashing the sinking freighter in full fury early today, and with a full westerly gale blowing, it appeared doubtful whether the Florida could last until a salvage vessel arrives.

No fears were felt today for the safety of the American tanker Dannedaike, which sent out an SOS on Tuesday noon one minute after the Florida had called for help about 50 miles away. Capt. Mathiasen, of the Dannedaike, reported in a message to the ship's owners in Philadelphia that the tanker was proceeding to Bermuda at a reduced speed.

Van Sweringens Pool Stocks in Holding Company

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—The second move of O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen to obtain public support for their eastern railroad consolidation plans was disclosed today in reports of their organization of a $100,000,000 company to hold their railroad stocks.

The Cleveland brothers hold either personally, or through Van Ness and Company, a controlling interest in the Erie, Nickel Plate, Chesapeake Corporation, Pere Marquette, Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh, and possibly the Chesapeake and Ohio.

Part of these stock holdings are to be transferred to the new corporation. The public's backing will be enlisted through an offering of junior and senior securities in the new company.

Under this plan the Chesapeake and Ohio would ask to "take over" the Nickel Plate, Pere Marquette, Hocking Valley, Erie, Virginian, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, Bessemer and Lake Erie, Pittsburgh, Shawmut and Northern and other short lines.

WCAE GETS LEAVE TO MOVE STATION TO SOUTH SIDE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 24.—The Federal Radio Commission today approved an application of station WCAE at Pittsburgh to transfer its transmitter from the roof of Gimbel Brothers building in the downtown section to the seventh floor of Gimbel Brothers' warehouse at Twenty-first and Wharton streets, South Side.

Authority to make the transfer was asked because of "steel absorption of power" in the downtown district, which caused the station's signals to be weak, it was stated.

Karl J. Kaufmann, vice president, announced that the physical work of moving the station would be started as soon as official notification had been received from Washington. He also stated that WCAE would continue to prosecute its plea for a change of wave length.

N.S. SCHOOL PASSES PROBE

While the Allegheny High School building, Sherman avenue, is antiquated and probably would not pass muster on a present day building inspection, it does not constitute a fire hazard, was the unofficial opinion of the three city fire department officials who inspected the structure today on orders from Fire Chief Richard L. Smith.

The inspection was made by Battalion Chief M. J. Loebig and Capts. U. L. Hunter and Charles J. McDermott.

LOCK UNSAFE ROOM

The inspecting party visited the unfinished attic of the old main building, where stage scenery is stored. It is a large, dark room, girded with wooden rafters and stringers. The floor is unfinished and sways perceptibly to the weight of a person. Chief Loebig immediately instructed that the entrance to this room be locked and barred at all times.

Nowhere else in the building were similar conditions found. The main structure is constructed with wooden wainscoting and wooden floors in the rooms as was the custom of 47 years ago when it was erected. The addition is practically modern in this respect.

FIRE ESCAPE BLOCKED

The firemen noted there is but one fire escape, the entrance to which is blocked by a partition and classroom.

Otherwise the inspectors declared the halls and stairways wide enough for hurried exit.

THIRD AND MARINE UNITE

Negotiations have been completed for the merger of the Third National Bank with the Marine National Bank. The consolidation will take effect on Saturday.

The business of the combined institutions will be continued at the offices of the Third National Bank in the Oliver Building.

It is understood that $200 a share was paid for the stock of the Marine National by the Third National.

The combined bank will have deposits of about $7,000,000.

The Third National had a capitalization of $500,000 and the Marine a capital of $300,000.

William McK. Reed, president of the Third National, is expected to head the combined institutions. C. M. Gerwig is vice president and W. W. Hamilton is cashier. The officers of the new organization have not been announced.

The merger will formally take place after the close of business on Saturday and the two banks will open for business in the Oliver Building on Monday morning.

They are among the oldest national banks in the city. The Third National Bank was founded 65 years ago and the Marine National 54 years ago.

SNOW, RAIN AND SLEET COMING

Snow, sleet and rain are on Pittsburgh district's weather menu for the next 24 hours, according to Forecaster W. S. Brotzman.

A southwest storm of vast extent was approaching today, and will reach here late this afternoon, it was predicted, accompanied by a slow rise in temperature.

The predicted cold snap last night was shunted northward, and the lowest point of the mercury here was 23 degrees. The temperature tonight will be around 35, it was said.

Flu Hits Thousands In England, Ireland

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Lord Rothermere, British newspaper proprietor, predicts a return to power of the Labor government in Great Britain at the forthcoming election. BOOTLEGGERS SLIDE RUM OVER DETROIT RIVER ICE

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Opportunities afforded liquor smugglers by the frozen Detroit River were described by the Toronto Globe today as follows:

Six inches of river ice interrupted by less than 100 feet of open water, coupled with the fact that Sumner C. Sleeper, chief of the Detroit customs patrol, and a dozen of his men, had thrown up their jobs, presented to the rum trafficking fraternity an opportunity which they have been denied for many months.

The smugglers by using small automobiles, sleighs and toboggans, succeeded in transporting an undetermined quantity of liquor and Canadian beer to Detroit and its environs. The operations were carried on boldly and in the sight of hundreds of spectators.

In several instances, small cars were observed towing boats with steel runners which whisked them across in express time. When the open stretch of water was encountered the boats were utilized. Further down the river the ice was solid all the way across and the boats were dispensed with.

U. S. SEIZES OLD BEER PLANT

The Labor Products and Ice Company brewery, formerly the old Anchor brewery at Brackenridge, was seized today by federal prohibition agents who reported finding a quantity of high test beer in the racking room.

The brewery was operating under federal permit to manufacture cereal beverages.

For a time after prohibition, the old brewery was idle, but later operation under federal license was resumed.

Foch Well on Way To Normal Health

PARIS, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Marshal Ferdinand Foch was improving rapidly today and his doctors were highly pleased. The Marshal has been eating and sleeping well and gaining strength. Premier Poincare's visit, which was to have been the first, has not been set and probably will not occur for two or three days. The doctors spent an hour and a half with their patient this morning, but most of the time was devoted to conversation.

BALDRIGE NAMED TO STATE BENCH

HARRISBURG, Jan. 24.—The appointment of Attorney General Thomas J. Baldrige as judge of the Superior Court, to succeed the late John J. Henderson, was announced today by Gov. John S. Fisher.

At the same time the Governor announced the appointment of Cyrus E. Woods, of Greensburg, former ambassador to Japan, as Attorney General. The announcements were made at a meeting of the Fisher cabinet today. They did not come as a surprise, as the appointments have been anticipated here for several weeks.

REFUSED COMMERCE JOB

Woods came into national prominence recently when the Senate refused to confirm his appointment to the Interstate Commerce Commission made by President Coolidge at the suggestion of Senator David A. Reed.

Both appointments are regarded as more or less personal ones, as both men are close friends of the Governor socially, as well as politically. Woods was general chairman of the Pepper-Fisher campaign committee in 1926.

The new Attorney General's political career began in 1900 when he was elected to the State Senate from Westmoreland County, one of the youngest men ever to take his seat in that body.

IN GRAFT PROBE

At the end of the 1825 session he was elected president pro tempore of the Senate, succeeding Gov. William C. Sproul. He served in that capacity during the special session of 1906, called to investigate the "Capital Graft" charges and the session of 1907.

During the Wilson administration he was appointed minister to Portugal, returning to this country to become secretary of the commonwealth at the beginning of the Brumbaugh administration. He resigned that post in 1921 to become ambassador to Spain, later going to Japan in the same capacity.

He was born in Clearfield in 1861, graduated from Lafayette College and was admitted to the bar in 1889. He practiced in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh and for a time was general counsel of the Pittsburgh Coal Company.

QUIETS KLINE RUMOR

Baldrige was appointed Attorney General at the start of the Fisher administration, resigning his position as president judge of the Blair County courts to take that post. He was born in Hollidaysburg in 1872, and received his education at Andover Academy, Bucknell College and the University of Pennsylvania, being admitted to the bar in 1895.

The announcement of the appointments today definitely set at rest recurring rumors that Mayor Charles H. Kline might be named to the bench. It is regarded as making Kline's race for re-election a certainty.

BERLIN, Jan. 25.—(INS.)—The Federal Council today approved the bill ratifying the Kellogg anti-war pact. The measure now goes to the Reichstag.

Lindy to Start New S. American Trip in 30 Days

DETROIT, Jan. 24.—(INS.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will soar away on a good-will tour of South America within the next 30 days, according to Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker, ace of aces in the World War, who made the announcement of the flying colonel's new tour to members of the Michigan Automotive Trades Association at their annual meeting here today.

Details of the forthcoming flight are now being ironed out, Rickenbacker said. While the proposed trip has never been revealed before, Rickenbacker said that President-elect Hoover had set an example in his recent South American good-will tour, which would be followed by the government with its air messenger, Lindbergh.

Within the next year an air line with regular service will be started along the line that Lindbergh will fly, Rickenbacker said.

VARE CAMPAIGN EXPENDITURES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Expenditures of Senator-elect William S. Vare in the three-cornered Republican senatorial fight in 1926, were defended today before the Senate investigating committee in a closing plea by Vare's counsel, Francis Shunk Brown.

Brown presented a brief, although Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, the chairman, informed him that the committee had concluded its inquiry into the campaign and was ready to hear Vare answer charges of election frauds.

Brown said the expenses of $785,934 by the Vare-Biedleman-James group in the Republican primary placed an average cost of $1.32 each on the votes of the ticket.

Wood Case Witness In Jail for Safety

DETROIT, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Cecil Holt, Wyandotte accountant, who is expected to be the state's chief witness against Mrs. Grace M. Wood if she comes to trial for the attempted abduction and slaying of her husband, Ralph A. Wood, wealthy real estate dealer, has taken refuge in a cell in the county jail from persons who made an attempt on his life last night.

Police had guarded Holt's home since Tuesday night, but at the invitation of Prosecutor James E. Chenot, he decided last night to seek safety in a cell after an armed man forced his way into the kitchen.

Politicians know that the prohibitionist does not forget or forgive, and that he has influence at home.

PONTIAC, Mich., Jan. 24.—(INS.)—John Lasnear, 61, a cripple, and his granddaughter, Thelma, 3, were dead today as a result of being trapped in a fire which yesterday destroyed their home and drove three other members of the family into zero cold.

Lasnear's aged wife and Mrs. Paul Lasnear, her daughter-in-law, received burns while rescuing the latter's infant son, Paul, Jr.

NEWS DEALERS PRAISED

By unanimous vote, confidence in Homestead news dealers who sell the Sun-Telegraph exclusively, of the Pittsburgh evening and Sunday papers, has been egxpressed by the Homestead District Chamber of Commerce. This was in answer to propaganda to the effect that newsboys employed by the dealers need "protection."

Harry Feath, of the Feath News Agency, replied to the insinuations, and told of the conditions that led to his decision to handle no other Pittsburgh evening or Sunday papers except the Sun-Telegraph. After a full discussion of the matter the Chamber of Commerce unanimously adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved—That we express our appreciation of the news agents of this district for their fidelity in serving this community with daily papers in all seasons and under all conditions, and we hereby extend a vote of confidence to them in their controversary with a Pittsburgh newspaper."

DORMONT RADIO SETS HIT BY TRAFFIC "BLINKERS"

Radio reception in Dormont is "on the blind" and the borough's new street car safety zones with their "blinking" lights is to blame, according to residents.

The safety zones, recently set up along West Liberty avenue through Dormont and Mt. Lebanon, have caused borough and township officials more grief than enough. First it was the motorists who complained—the unlighted steel barriers in the street constituted a hazard, they declared. A number of smashups occurred and drivers said they were unable to see the steel and concrete posts at night. Lights were ordered.

CAR RIDERS KICK

Next came the car riders themselves who claimed their clothes were being ruined by passing vehicles which splashed water from the street. Borough Manager E. O. Garrett, of Dormont, and the borough council got their heads together and splash boards were installed.

Now it is the man who stays at home who complains! The clock work which causes the lights to blink their amber warning to motorists sets up a disconcerting click-click which is transmitted through the power lines to radio sets.

"Well, I guess it's up to us," said Manager Garrett when faced with this latest complaint.

"BLINK" QUIETED

Electrical engineers came to his aid and offered something in the way of resistance coils guaranteed to take the "blinking" noise out of the "blinking" lights and apparently everyone is hopeful of satisfaction.

But Garrett is still worried. "What next?" he wants to know unmindful of the old adage—"The third time's the charm!"

SCHOOL PASSES FIRE TEST

sored by pupils for a new building.

The board is reported almost unanimously in favor of a new school, but one or two have voiced objection to the idea of students and teachers within the school becoming so active in the campaign without first having appealed to the board.

"INADEQUATE"—DAVIDSON

Dr. William M. Davidson, superintendent of schools, in his report on the situation, refers to the present building as being "wholly inadequate."

In his report he said:

"Sooner or later the building must not only be made adequate, but at the same time be made safe for occupancy by high school students."

He referred to the survey made for the board by Charles L. Wooldridge and continued, "I heartily concur in Mr. Wooldridge's suggestion. I should like to be authorized to prepare a building program with a view to ascertaining probable costs and other essential items of detail which I would like to submit to the board of education in connection with the study of the whole high school situation north of the river."

ACTION DELAYED

Dr. Davidson's report together with a previous one on building projects, was referred back to the superintendent of schools, the superintendent of buildings and the superintendent of supplies for further study and report.

This action was taken to mean that the board is anxious to obtain further data on the situation with a view to an early solution, possibly authorization of a new building.

Mary J. Cowley, reported to have criticised Mary Smith, 1929 valedictorian, and other students interested in the campaign, denied she harbored any resentment.

"These students deserve commendation for their interest and public spirit," she said.

SMITH STRESSES NEED

Prof. William L. Smith, principal of the school, expressed himself wholly in favor of the student's campaign. "We need a new school badly," he said. He pointed out the failure to list Allegheny as an accredited school in the Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges of the Middle States and Maryland as one of the outstanding indications of his school's failure to come up to par with other modern high schools.

Adolph Mayer, Jr., secretary of the Federation of Civic Bodies of the North Side, said arrangements had been made to bring the public demand for a new school to the attention of that organization at the next meeting on February 1.

Wife Takes Jail As Man Elects To Mind Tots

BAY CITY, Mich., Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Mrs. Theresa Efu will serve 191 days in the Saginaw County jail while her husband, Leslie Efu, cares for their three small children. Both pleaded guilty in Federal Court of violation of the prohibition law.

Judge Arthur J. Tuttle fined one of them one cent and sentenced the other to the 191-day jail term, allowing them to decide who should pay each penalty.

It was decided the husband should pay the fine, since he could better care for the children.

4 DIE AS AUTO HITS TROLLEY

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Two men and two women were killed late last night when an automobile collided head-on with a trolley car in the Kensington section of the city.

Those killed were Joseph B. Jaeger, 27; Ralph Dodson, 25; "Dolly" Soldel, 29, and Patience Campbell, 18, all of Philadelphia.

A park guard, a passenger on the trolley, told police that the automobile had attempted to pass another motor car going in the same direction when it swerved and crashed into the trolley. The motorman of the trolley, Montgomery Baulig, 48, was thrown through the front end of the car, but escaped with cuts and bruises. He was arrested. More than 30 passengers in the street car were shaken up.

JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 24.—(AP.)—J. A. Logue, assistant cashier of the First National Bank here, has signed a statement that he appropriated approximately $135,000 of the bank's funds.

He appeared voluntarily before a federal commissioner yesterday and was held for trial in May. The money, bank officials said, was invested in real estate, and most of it can be recovered.

LOVE FOR SEA ENDS ROMANCE

By J. C. OESTREICHER
International News Service.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Declaring that her "passionate love of the sea" is so great she could never endanger her career by marriage, Miss Mercedes Gleitze, young London typist, who gained international fame by swimming the English Channel and the Straits of Gibraltar, has given her "mail-order fiance" the air, it was learned today.

In a letter to Pvt. William Farrance, of the East Lancashire Regiment, who wooed and won her by mail while he was stationed in Quetta, India, Miss Gleitze has definitely broken the engagement.

The epistle reveals that she permitted her swain to see her only twice, although he came all the way from India on leave to clinch their remarkable romance by marching to the altar.

Miss Gleitze is at present working in a Manchester cotton mill "to study living conditions among the poor," while awaiting an opportunity to establish new long distance swimming records.

Private Ferrance is going back to India. His friends declare he "will never again fall in love with a photograph."

Girl Slain With Club, Big Manhunt Starts

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—(INS.)—City and county authorities today joined in a determined man hunt for the slayer of pretty Miss Laura Buchholz, 26, found dying on a sidewalk in Blue Island late last night. The girl's skull had been crushed in by two blows of a wooden club. She died in a hospital without regaining consciousness. Her hat and purse were found about 200 yards from the body.

LEFT-TURN BAN HEARING CONTINUED BY COUNCIL

Council will continue hearing at 2 p. m. Friday, February 1, on Safety Director James M. Clark's proposal to establish, February 4, a 60-day period to experiment with the elimination of 42 left turns in traffic on downtown streets. The hearing began yesterday.

Clark explained the proposed eliminations would affect 18 of the 100 street intersections studied by the Safety Department before making a recommendation.

The director declared statisticians of the Better Traffic Committee counted traffic at the various intersections and recommended the proposed changes after agreeing on alternate routes.

The principal points that would be affected by the proposed eliminations are the intersections of Sixth avenue and Grant street; Boulevard of the Allies and Grant street; Sixth street and Market street, and streets in the vicinity of the Wabash station, such as Ferry, Diamond and Stanwix streets.

Live Trolley Wires Trap Carrick Street Car

Seventy-five passengers, mostly women, were reported trapped in an "electrically charged" Carrick street car and trailer, city-bound, on Brownsville road and Hays avenue, Mt. Oliver, late yesterday, when three sections of overhead trolley wire broke loose and scorched the outside of the cars.

Virinio Delegatt, 13, of 18 Maytag street, Carrick, was severely cut and bruised on his right arm and hand when he jumped through a window of the trailer. The passengers were panic stricken when their escape was shut off until the charged wires were removed by the crew.

CRUISERS BILL GETS PLACE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—With tacit assurance that it will not be torpedoed by a filibuster, the Cruiser bill was before the Senate today, indications being that it would not be put aside until it is voted upon.

Opponents of the bill, of whom Senator Norris, of Nebraska, is a leader, plan to attack the provision requiring a time limit of three years for construction and they also want the 15 cruisers provided for, reduced to 10 or 6.

The bill is an administration measure, but one request that the President has made, that the provision requiring a time limit of three years for the building of the ships be eliminated, is opposed by some of the strongest supporters of the bill, including Chairman Hale of the Senate Naval Committee.

2 KIDNAPED IN HOLDUP FREED

City detectives were unsuccessful today in their hunt for the two auto bandits who kidnaped two service station attendants a few hours after last midnight, one in the West End, the other downtown.

The sleuths were confident that, after the first holdup, the bandits changed clothes and proceeded to their next victim.

The attendants were probably taken from their stands to prevent immediate notice of the holdups to the police, for they were released later.

Clifford Seibel, 21, of 2539 Library road, Overbrook, attendant at the Aiken Oil Company station, Obey avenue and Noblestown road and Frank H. Schrader, 30, of 1205 West North avenue, attendant at the Fort Pitt station, Penn avenue and Barbeau street, are the robbers' victims.

Eighteen dollars was taken from the cash register in the Aiken station and $7.40 removed from Seibel's clothes. He was forced into the machine at the point of a revolver and driven to Thornburg Junction where he was thrown to the street.

At the downtown station, the two robbers entered and at the point of revolvers, took $70 from the register, and $3 from Schrader's pocket. He was then made to follow them outside and enter the machine.

Schrader was taken to what is known as the Golf Club road, near the Chartiers Heights Country Club, and pushed out of the car.

Rockefellers Feted By Egypt's Royalty

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—A round of entertainments is being given for John R. Rockefeller, Jr., his wife and son, who came here recently with Prof. James H. Breasted, the noted University of Chicago Egyptologist. They were guests at luncheon today of Prince Mohammed Ali, who showed his guests the treasures of his palace. Yesterday a luncheon was given in their honor by Franklin Mott Gunther, the American Minister.

TROUBLE

RADIO WAS A PLEASURE
Radio reception was a pleasure before the advent of the lights, says Marjorie Boyle, Dormont, who used to get KFI almost every night, very late.

CLICK! CLICK! CLICK! CLICK!

MORROW KEEPS MEXICO POST

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Dwight W. Morrow is to return to Mexico City soon and remain as ambassador for an indefinite period. This became known authoritatively today after he had conferred for two hours with President-elect Hoover.

This is in accord with the ambassador's own desire and also with that of the next President, who has a high appreciation of the work the former internationally known banker has been rendering at Mexico City since his personal drafting by President Coolidge.

The ambassador to Mexico is understood to have taken the position that his work in that country was unfinished and a similar view of the situation has been credited to the President-elect by those who have conferred with him recently.

Vatican Decries Dances for Charity

ROME, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Charity teas and dances in which the social delight of the participants overshadows the idea of bounty to the unfortunate, were decried today by Osservatore Romano, the newspaper through which the Vatican makes its public announcements.

Instead, the journal advocated the kind of charity in which "the left hand knows not what the right hand is doing."

"Charity is of too high and divine an origin to mix with the languors and audaciousness of the dance," said the editorial. "The undue luxury and abandon in dress which too often characterize such functions, do not constitute beneficence, but are rather an insult to the deserving persons for whom the charity fetes are organized."

C. E. POPE WILLS LARGE ESTATE

Bequests to his business partners and relatives were made by Charles E. Pope, bachelor and founder of the Impervious Varnish Company, in his will, which was filed for probate today. To his colleagues, Adam E. Baum and E. H. Fay, Mr. Pope gave enough stock in the company to raise each of their holdings to 26 per cent. No estimate of the value of the large estate was revealed.

His home at 202 Darragh street, his Ross Township farm, a house in Cable place and two-thirds of the balance of his estate, Mr. Pope gives to a sister-in-law, Mrs. Albert Pope, after making bequests of $500 each to five brothers and sisters. The remaining one-third of the estate goes to Mrs. Clyde W. Pope, and there are bequests of $1,000 each to his housekeeper, Virginia Webb, and chauffeur, William Baer.

Mr. Pope named as administrators Adam A. Baum, H. E. Anderson and John C. Slack.

Sneak Thieves Rob Car Office and Home

A sneak thief entered the office of the Kissel Skiles Company at 3919 Forbes street early this morning and stole $78 from the cash drawer, detectives were notified. The night clerk had left the office unoccupied for about ten minutes and on his return discovered the theft.

Jewelry valued at $75 was stolen from the home of L. E. Stank at 835 Warrington avenue, detectives say. A thief entered through a rear door and took a stickpin, a baby's ring and a woman's ring.

DECEPTION ISLAND, Antarctica, Jan. 24.—(Via Whaler Hektoria and KUP, San Francisco Examiner Wireless Station.)—We have just returned from a trip on a whale catcher, during which I filmed the shooting of an exceptionally large and fat whale. It measured nearly 100 feet and weighed more than 100 tons.

Every last particle of the whales brought to this station is conserved either as oil or fertilezer, and the estimated value of the whale we saw taken is more than $5,000.

We are daily expecting confirmation that the boat will call for us next Sunday to take us to the Falkland Islands in time to connect with the Royal Mail steamer Orduna.

We can occasionally hear Commander Byrd's radio distinctly and we constantly call him and the Ross Sea whalers, but get no response.

Three Prisoners Taken to Atlanta

Deputy United States Marshal John T. Austin Wednesday left for the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., with three prisoners convicted at the special session of the United States Court. They were Daniel Martorelli and James Ross, to serve three years and two years, respectively, for violating the Harrison narcotic act, and Thomas McCaffrey, one year, for forging a government check.

DAWN OF BRIGHTER DAY FOR U. S. SHIPPING SEEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Ship builders and owners—and one representative of union labor—gathered here yesterday for the second national conference on the American merchant marine, under the auspices of the United States Shipping Board.

They heard Senators and government officials proclaim the dawn of a rosier day for American shipping and enumerate specific means of bringing this about, but before the day's session closed they also heard the labor representative, Andrew Foruseth, president of the International Seamen's Union, declare flatly, "It can't be did."

Senator Jones, of Washington, coauthor of the 1928 shipping act, told the conference that events of the past several months promised a new day for American shipping, which was on firm ground for the first time in 75 years, and that steps to further it's growth must and will be taken.

The Senator outlined the salient needs in American shipping development as provision for higher speed commerce—one of the immediate needs—aid to cargo shipping, placing of the Pacific islands in coastwise trade with the United States and fostering indirect trade.

DISCRIMINATION CHARGED

There is discrimination by Canada and Australia to protect their interests on the Pacific coast, he asserted, and added there is "no reason why America should sit tamely by and submit," without taking measures to insure the same protection to her shippers.

He termed as "distressing" the difficulties of American shipping to secure adequate terminal facilities in home ports, while foreign vessels get the "cream" of the facilities, and insisted the government should take steps to remedy this condition, if necessary, by acquiring leases on the facilities and assisting American shippers in the use of them.

Representative Wood, of Indiana, predicted the Hoover administration would increase American trade with South America. He said that Americans formerly were "inured to the idea of British and foreign supremacy" in merchant marine, but they are now realizing the importance of America's shipping.

U. S. "MONOPOLY" SCORED

Edmund A. Walsh, vice president of Georgetown University and regent of the school of foreign commerce, declared that insidious and persistent propaganda had been circulated in educational circles asserting the impossibility of America's competing with other nations in the merchant marine.

Foruseth, who was not on the program, told the conference that American shipping cannot compete with foreign trade as long as certain existing conditions obtain.

Referring specifically to the shipping board's ruling that a vessel, in order to fly the American flag and be classed as an American vessel, must be built in American yards, he asserted that the United States is the only nation which has established such a "monopoly."

2 BUS VICTIMS IDENTIFIED

BELLEVUE, O., Jan. 24.—(INS.)—Two of the five bodies remaining in Bellevue morgues, following the bus crash Tuesday, were identified today.

One was that of F. A. Kodat, Flint, Mich., and the other that of William R. Infke, of Bunnell, Fla.

Kodat's identification was made possible by the number on an eyeglass case found in his pockets.

Three victims of the crash, in which 19 persons were killed, today seemed destined to enter unmarked graves.

The bodies of two white men and a Negro woman, all unclaimed and unidentified, still lay in undertaking establishments here.

One correction in the list of dead developed last night, a man whose name had been carried as Elmer Almond, 41 South Forest avenue, Youngstown, was identified as Elmer Alexander, of that address.

Chief of Police Charles North today was undecided whether to accept the story of Teddy O'Browski, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who said he had committed bank robberies in Detroit and San Francisco before he died yesterday. Detroit police wired they had no record of any such robbery as O'Browski described. Neither were San Francisco police able to recall any bank holdups in which he might have participated in 1920.

STRONGHEART, FILM HERO, SPENDS AGE IN LUXURY

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 24.—(INS.)—A one-time foremost film star now spends his declining years very often behind the wire netting of an enclosure back of a home in the hills of Hollywood.

His changing moods have made this necessary.

Occasionally he starts to attack persons of his own household. Again he stares wistfully down the hills toward the studio where he trod the boards to fame and fortune.

The erstwhile star is Strongheart, the world-renowned Shepherd dog. He is 10 years old now and 10 years is about the span of activity of any dog's existence. But if a "dogs' life" is supposed to imply bad treatment, then the phrase is a misnomer in the case of Strongheart. His owner, Jane Murfin, provides Strongheart with every comfort and he has even a dietician to look after his food.

Strongheart's principal interest these days is in his 4-year-old son, Strongheart, Jr. Strongheart, Sr., doesn't think so much of the boy. All Junior seems to want to do—like so many indulged sons—is to romp around the yard and strike up acquaintanceship with strange sons and daughters of other canine families.

There isn't anything Strongheart, Sr., can do about it, but he growls and barks his disapproval in no unmistakable tones occasionally.

Strongheart's fan mail still continues, although his pictures have not been shown in any of the bigger theaters of the United States for some years. The fan mail comes from the Antipodes and the Orient, where he still is a great favorite.

Miss Murfin attributes Strongheart's good health to the well balanced exercise he takes as well as his diet.

There are two great sadnesses in the heart of Strongheart. The one and only woman he ever loved, a beautiful white shepherd named Lady Jule, worked with him in several pictures, but they seem to have forgotten each other for they never see each other nowadays.

The second tragedy was the shooting to death of Peter the Great, another film dog. Strongheart and Peter used to be great pals, in fact the secret might well be revealed now, Peter "doubled" for Strongheart in some of the more hazardous scenes.

WHERE DREAMS OF STAGE ENDED

ESTELLE HARTNETT ALICE COLEMAN IRENE THOMAS MILDRED SHARSKY

Safely back at their homes today, these girls, three of whom are Peabody High School students, are pictured in Harrisburg police station, where their dreams of stage careers ended when their funds were exhausted. Missing since last Friday, they were "found" yesterday when they told a policeman their plight. Parents went to Harrisburg for them.

Doctors' Suicides For Lack of Aid Bring Fund

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—As a memorial to the twin doctors, Arthur and Sydney Smith, who committed suicide in London last week because they were despondent over the lack of public support for their life work in the development of radium as a treatment for cancer, an anonymous donor has offered the University of Edinburgh $25,000 for radium research.

The coroner, at the inquest, said they had reached the breaking point and in a moment of intense worry and depression, with minds unbalanced, had mutually agreed to end their lives.

West View Burgess' Hearing Tomorrow

Dr. David A. Atkinson, burgess of West View, tomorrow will face Roy Filmore, of 18 East General Robinson street, and deny that he advised Gilmore to leave town after dressing a bullet wound in Filmore's hand suffered in a holdup. Atkinson was arrested on a charge of being accessory to felony late yesterday and has posted $2,000 bond pending a hearing in Morals Court today.

Filmore is alleged to have confessed shooting Peter Bubanovich, of 3824 Sewickley road, a week ago. He was held for court on 15 charges of robbery by Magistrate A. D. Brandon yesterday in Morals Court and made his charge against Atkinson at that time.

SENATE VOTES TAX REFUND HEARINGS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Carrying with it Senate approval and Senate amendments, the first deficiency bill today was on its way to conference.

Of the two principal amendments, one provided $24,000,000 for prohibition enforcement the other would make public hearings by Treasury Department committees on tax refunds involving more than $10,000.

The fund to aid liquor law enforcement was voted Tuesday, but the tax refund amendment was not approved until late yesterday, only a short time before the Senate roll call on the deficeincy bill. It was a compromise from an amendment offered by Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, which would have taken the refund cases involving more than $10,000 from the Bureau of Internal Revenue and would have turned them over to the Board of Tax Appeals.

ACCORD ON AMENDMENT

Secretary Mellon opposed the $24,000,000 addition for enforcement and he was also against McKellar's first proposed amendment. In addition, a number of the Tennesseean's colleagues disagreed with him, most of them declaring that it would put too much work on the Board of Tax Appeals. McKellar then amended his proposal to make the tax refund hearings public and an agreement was quickly reached.

Throughout the debate on the original McKellar proposal there was criticism of the present system of tax refunding. Couzens, of Michigan, contended that the Treasury should first assert the claims, then make the testimony and documents in the case public and afterward ask Congress to appropriate the necessary funds.

Senator Norris, of Nebraska, assailed what he termed the secret handling of tax cases, declaring it was detrimental to the public interest.

COOLIDGE STAND UNKNOWN

If the amendments to the deficiency bill are approved by the House, the measure goes to the President. He has not indicated his attitude toward it, but differences of opinion in the House on the addition for prohibition enforcement have already developed.

The deficiency bill, as finally passed by the Senate, carried $126,178,112, in comparison with $84,130,030 as approved by the House. Both the Senate and House approved the provision calling for $75,000,000 to be expended in tax refunds.

Autoist, Hurt in Skid From Boulevard, Dies

Christopher Rynd, 34, Gibsonia, Pa., died early today in West Penn Hospital as the result of injuries sustained yesterday when his automobile skidded in Washington boulevard, near Brilliant Cutoff. The car left the highway and plunged over a high embankment to the tracks of the Allegheny Valley Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Rynd was extricated by the crew of a shifting engine. The engine was stopped within 50 feet of the wreck.

PARLEY CALLED ON SITES FOR DRUG FARMS

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Representative Stephen G. Porter, of Pittsburgh, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, announced today that a conference of cabinet officials and members of Congress will be held soon for the purpose of laying plans looking to the selection of sites for the two great Federal narcotic farm institutions provided for in the bill recently signed by President Coolidge.

Under the terms of the bill, which was sponsored by Representative Porter, the secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of War and the Attorney General of the United States are delegated to make an investigation of the national narcotic situation and report to Congress with recommendations for the location of the two farms, together with the type of buildings and the scope of grounds necessary.

EARLY START DESIRED

Accordingly, the Pittsburgh congressman has proposed that an initial conference be held shortly by Secretary of the Treasury, Mellon, Secretary of War, Davis and Attorney General Sargent, with himself as the author of the legislation, and Representative Milton W. Shreve, of Erie, Pa., as a member of the House Appropriations' Committee, which later will be called upon to appropriate funds for the farms.

The meeting probably will be some time this week, Mr. Porter said. It is his purpose to have the three cabinet officers agree on plans early for making the preliminary investigation and survey.

In view of the part Pennsylvania members of Congress played in the enactment of the legislation, which was sponsored in the upper chamber by Senator David A. Reed, of Pittsburgh, the suggestion has been made that Pennsylvania can have one of the farms if it desires. At any rate the cabinet commission will be sure to study any sites in the state which may be proposed.

GREAT FORWARD STEP

Establishment of the two great national farms is regarded as one of the greatest steps forward taken by any nation for the solution of the drug evil. The purpose of the two institutions will not be simply to provide a place for separate confinement of drug addicts, but will be also to perfect some method for permanent cures. Provision is made in the act for various states to send their narcotic prisoners to the farms along with those convicted of violating the Federal laws.

At present all addicts convicted of violating the Harrison Narcotic act are confined in the regular Federal penal institutions, with little segregation and little, if any, separate treatment.

In offering the bill, Representative Porter proceeded on the idea that addicts are suffering more from a constitutional disease than some criminal weakness. In short, he contended that they are subject to cures and should not be treated always as criminals.

WHAT A DOCTOR KNOWS ABOUT CONSTIPATION

There IS a way of overcoming the tendency to constipation. And here is how you can PROVE it.

The next time your bowels need any assistance, don't take the first laxative that comes to mind. Take one the druggist can assure you is made with CASCARA. Just as effective as using force, and it's good for the system. Indeed, it helps make good blood. For cascara is nothing but the bark of a tree. The Indians chew this bark, and live to an old age without a day's sickness.

What happens when you cascarize the bowels? They will usually function well for SEVERAL DAYS. One more dose—no larger, and perhaps smaller than the first—and the bowels function of their own accord for a still longer time. Until you don't feel the need of any aid of any sort for weeks-on-end.

So, the only habit you get from cascara is that of natural and normal regularity. How different from things one must usually repeat on the morrow! Cascara is the ideal laxative; and the familiar little candy Cascaret is doubtless its ideal form. Children beg for these tasty tablets, and many men and women wouldn't think of taking ANYTHING else for the purpose. And EVERY drug store has them.

IF YOU HAVE AN ACHE OR PAIN LET THIS EXPERT HELP YOU

HE LOOKS AFTER THE TWENTY-SIX ATHLETES OF WASHINGTON BALL TEAM

For More Than Twenty Years He's Been Relieving Lame Back, Sore, Stiff Muscles, Swollen Joints, Sprains, Achy Feet, Rheumatic Pains and Kindred Ills of Big League Athletes.

Greatest Living Expert On Keeping Athletes In Perfect Condition.

TRY HIS METHOD ON YOUR ACHES OR PAINS

We want to introduce the reader to Mike Martin, who probably knows more about keeping a person in fighting condition than anyone else living. For over 20 years at various universities and with the New York Yankees, Cincinnati Reds and now as trainer of the Washington Ball Club, Mike Martin has won fame as a lightning quick fixer of sprains, pains, aches, etc.

Mike Martin is a genius. He can take men claimed to be too old, stiff or rheumatic to play baseball at all and make them as frisky, vigorous, supple and quick as a boy. Mike Martin knows his business—ask Herb Pennock, Ty Cobb, Geo. Sisler, Lee Meadows, Ray Kremer, Walter Johnson, Alexander, Chief Bender, Nick Altrock, or any of the big stars of today, or the past few years. They know. Ask the trainer of any of the Big League Ball Clubs.

HE CAN HELP YOU

Mike Martin has had a little folder printed, telling how he quickly banishes stiff, swollen joints, achy, lame backs or feet, various rheumatic pains, etc. He has arranged with leading druggists here in town to sell you generous sized bottles of the liniment these great "Stars" use. He has made it a long time for his own use. Athletes on other teams kept Mike busy making his "Mike Martin Liniment." Trainers, coaches, colleges, big league teams all over the country buy it by the gallon from Mike. Now, Mike Martin, swamped with demands for this liniment and directions how to use it, has employed a big sales company to distribute it and they are supplying all the druggists—Mike still superintends the making of it—during odd times between acting as trainer of the American League Washington Ball Club.

MIKE MARTIN, Trainer Washington Baseball Club

ASK THE DRUGGIST

If your druggist hasn't secured a few bottles of Mike Martin's Liniment, ask him to get it. There is no other liniment like it. It works like greased lightning even in cases of chronic lameness, swellings, stiffness or pains, yet is so mild it can be used on a baby's skin. Mike Martin's Liniment is unquestionably the most effective, quick, sure, up-to-date remedy made. Big league players couldn't afford to fool with weaker, slower remedies. No one else should.

If your druggist has some remedy of his own he prefers to sell—just write Mike Martin, Trainer, Ball Park, Washington, D. C., 65c for folder and two ounce bottle of liniment or $1 for large four ounce bottle.

10,000 OFFER TEMPERANCE PLANS

HEARST CONTEST SETS WHOLE NATION THINKING

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Preliminary analyses of a considerable percentage of more than 10,000 plans thus far submitted for consideration in the Hearst $25,000 temperance prize contest indicate that the nation has donned its thinking cap in a determined effort to find a substitute for the evils of prohibition.

Entries for the prize also have been received from France, Norway, Germany, Rumania, Ireland, England, Scotland, Mexico, South America, Canada and the West Indies. Thoughtful people throughout the world are competing to win the $25,000 offered by William Randolph Hearst through the Hearst newspapers. Hundreds are writing daily for the rules of the contest which are sent out by mail and are also reprinted herewith.

Irrespective of the practicability of some of the plans proposed to end America's reign of lawlessness and corruption, they all indicate that the problem of prohibition is continually in the consciousness of the people. Nearly all express the hope that through the contest a solution will be found acceptable to all classes of law-abiding people and to the nation's lawmakers.

The contest is to close April 30, but on account of the great labor of handling and judging the contributions from readers, the Hearst newspapers urge that entrants for the prize send in their plans at the earliest convenient date.

Following are further expressions of opinion on the contest:

Maurice Bloch

Maurice Bloch, minority leader of the New York Assembly:

"It is generally admitted that the Durant enforcement plan contest was valueless outside of supplying Mr. Mills with $25,000. The Volstead act, in its present form, cannot be fully enforced, because public sentiment is not behind it.

"Mr. Hearst recognizes that fact, and believes the way to real reform is along sensible and tolerant lines, rather than by severity, which will accomplish nothing. His offer of a $25,000 prize is a step in the right direction and he should be commended for taking it.

"The great mass of our people admit that present conditions are disgraceful, but not knowing how to remedy them they have just let things drift along. The generous offer of Mr. Hearst will make a lot of people put on their thinking caps and something of value should result.

"And I sincerely trust that the rational, sane idea that wins the $25,000 and nothing else can do it, will be legally adopted by Congress, for it is clear that radical improvement must be made without delay if there is any respect to be left for law."

Joseph C. Wlison

Mayor Joseph C. Wilson, of Rochester, N. Y.:

"The Hearst proposal is laudable. Someone should do something to solve the prohibition issue. The main trouble is that too much was bitten off in the Eighteenth Amendment. If the friends of prohibition had started with the elimination of the saloon and worked upwards with other eliminations eventually they might have accomplished prohibition. But now it is doubtful if anything has been accomplished. Prohibition, as dry as it should be, is the wettest subject before the public."

William F. Love

"If Mr. Hearst's plan results in the evolution of a procedure that can cope with the liquor situation better than is now done, it will be of great benefit to the country.

"Not only has there been found to be extreme difficulty in obtaining any degree of enforcement so far, but such as has been obtained has been at tremendous expense to the people with actions that are sure to create further lack of respect for government. Orders of 'shoot to kill' may be justified in some instances, but no matter how ardent a proponent of prohibition a person may be, there should be reason enough left in considering the theory of it, to enable him to see that the people of this country will eventually rise against such killings by government officers. It may take a long time, but it is sure.

"When we recall the wet conditions of Maine, Texas, the South generally and the local option sections of the North before prohibition, which had voted themselves dry, we must admit in a calm, cool consideration of the matter that a great many people never intended to be dry.

"The Michigan habitual criminal act seems to be known for sending dry law violators on a small scale to prison for life rather than the gunmen whose cases were intended to be reached by similar laws passed by other states. The resentment against such use of the four-time convict law is dangerously apt to cause amendment of that law in states which have a more sensible intention as to its use.

"If this offer produces any plan acceptable to a majority of our people as a reasonable one for controlling a condition that seems to be uncontrollable, surely we would be better off than we are now, if it were adopted."

7 Rules of $25,000 Temperance Contest

The purpose of the contest is to obtain a practicable plan, as a substitute for prohibition, which will secure better actual temperance conditions, which will be more easily possible of enforcement by state and Federal authorities, which will offer less encouragement to crime and tend less to debauch the public service, and which will not so outrage and violate the fundamental rights and personal liberties of American citizens.

The rules and conditions of the contest are simple and are as follows:

1—Every person is entitled to enter the contest, but no one person may submit more than one plan.

2—The practicable plan proposed as a substitute for prohibition must be set forth in an article containing not more than 1,000 words.

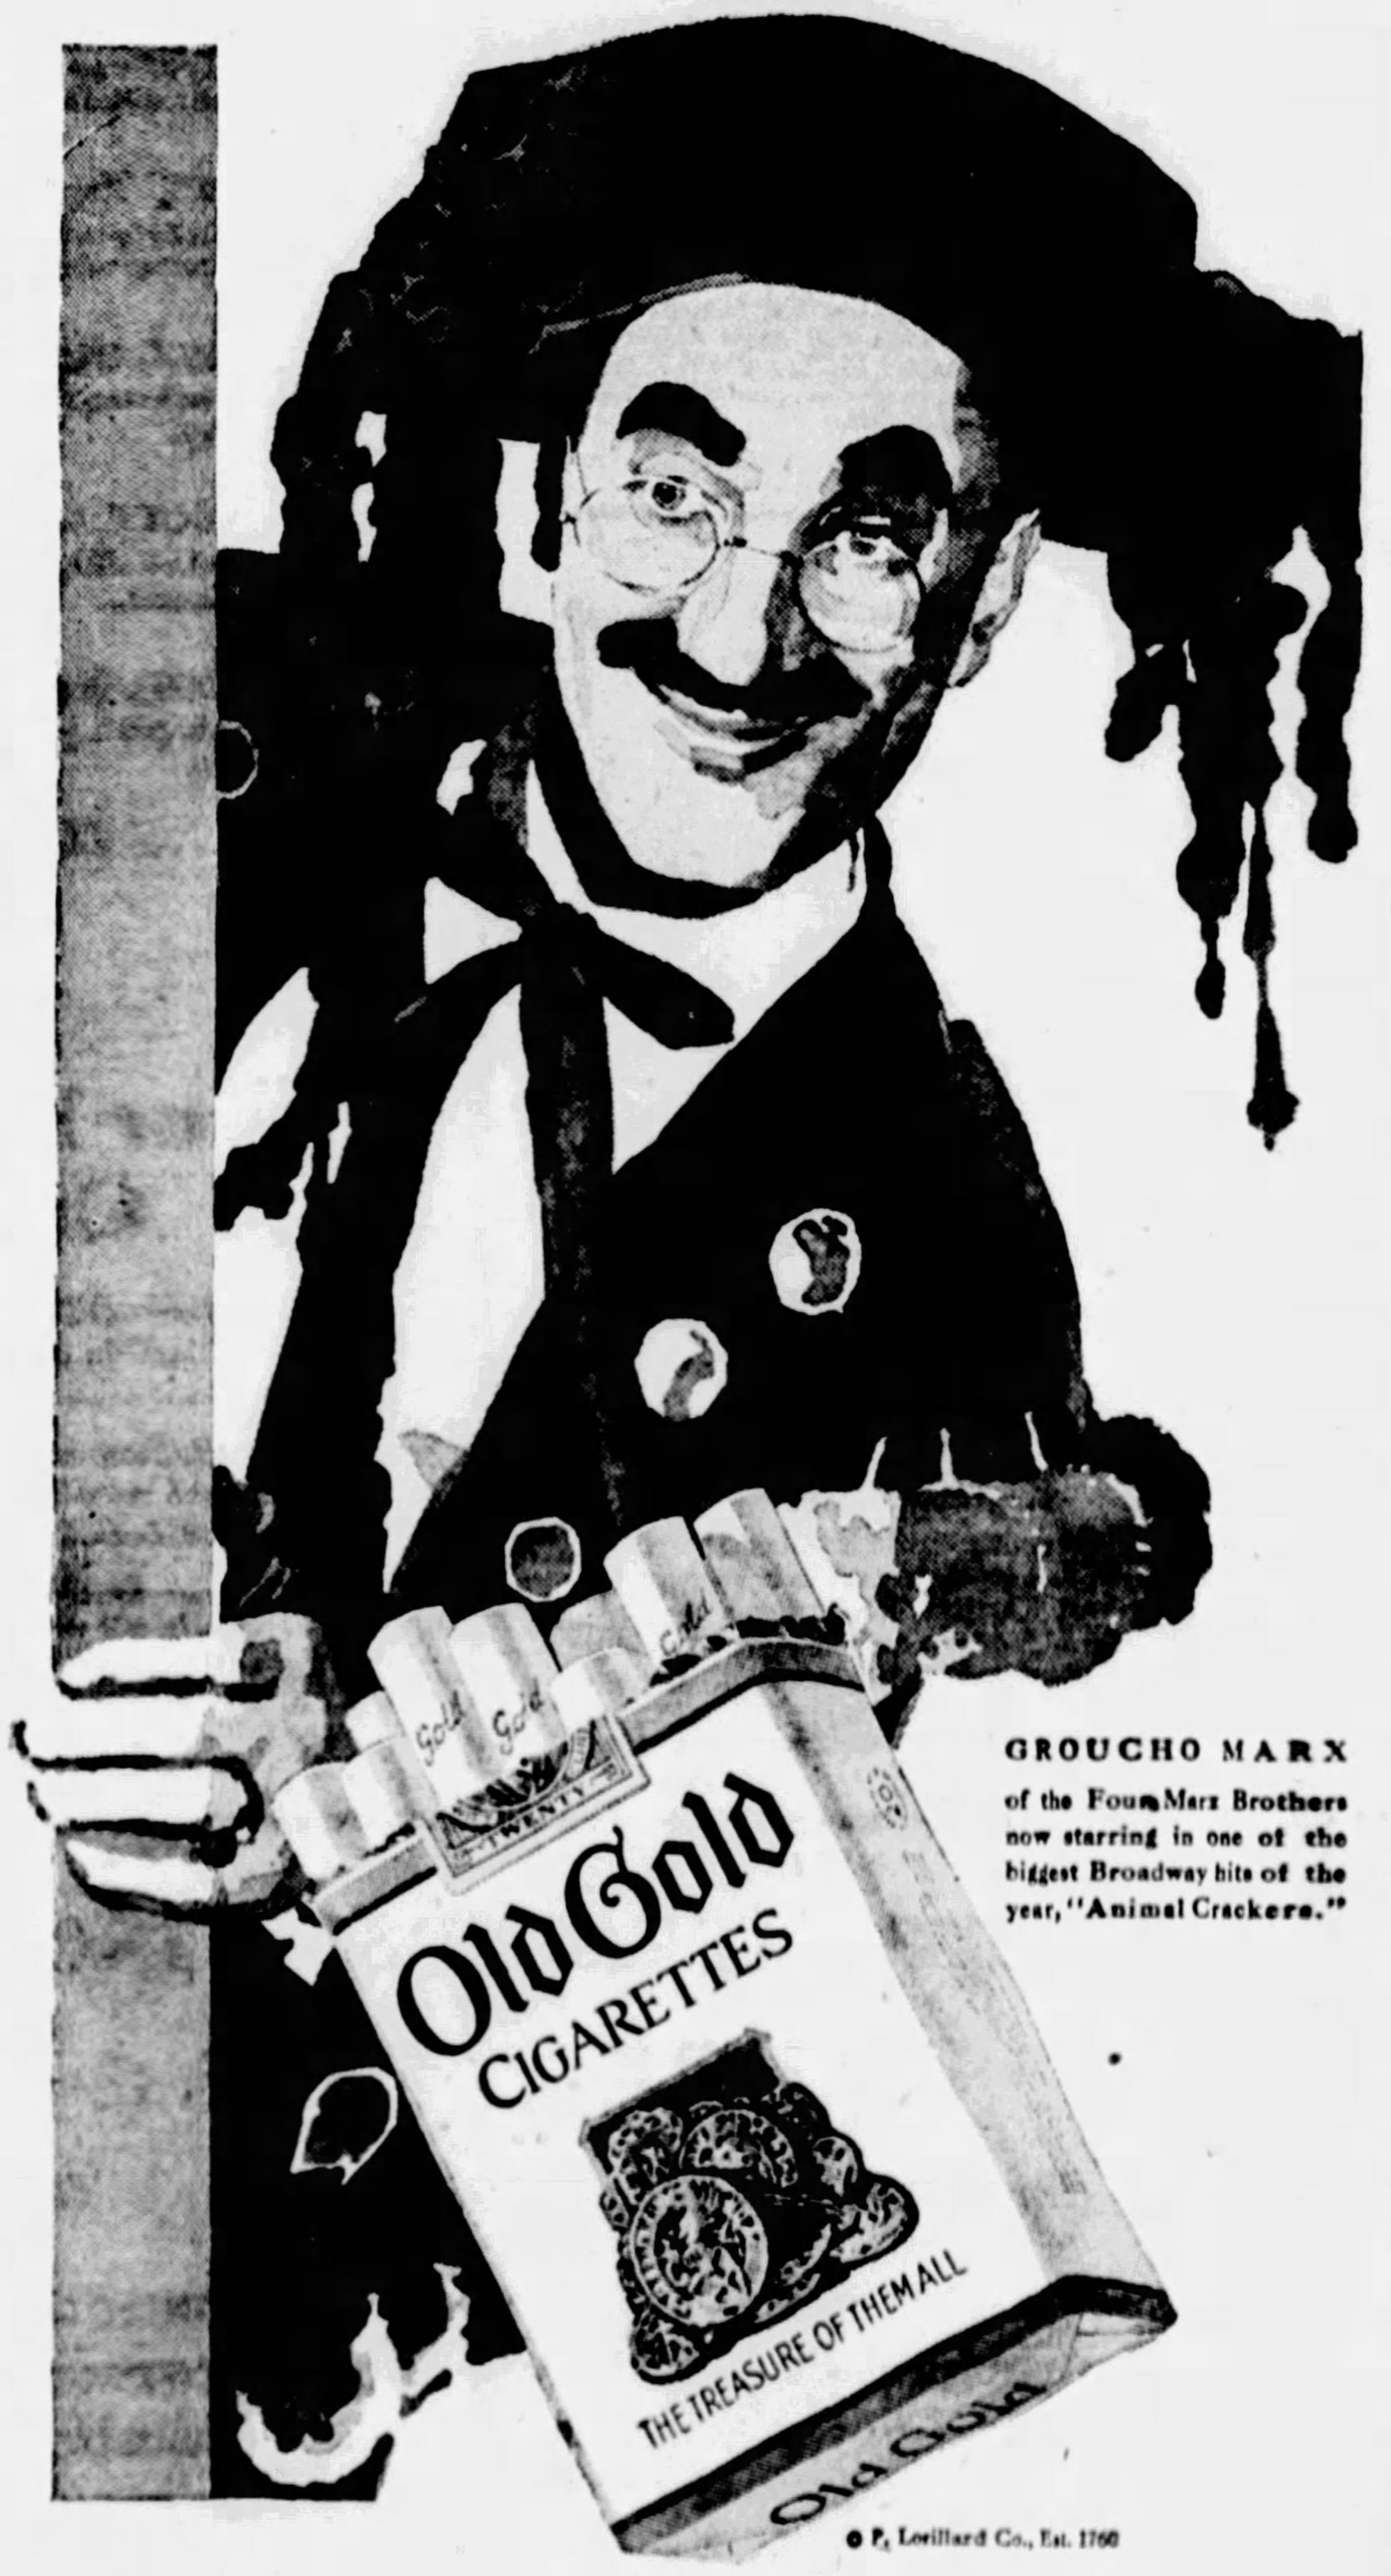
3—This contest will close on April 30, 1929, and no plan which has not been mailed and postmarked on or before that date will be considered.

4—The articles submitted in the contest will be judged by a committee of eminent Americans, the personnel of the committee to be announced at a later date.

5—The full prize of $25,000 will be awarded to the contestant submitting the best plan as a practical temperance substitute for prohibition.

6—If other plans not awarded the first prize shall still be considered worthy of some compensation by the committee, a second prize of $5,000 and other prizes of $1,000 each may be awarded.

7—Articles submitting a plan to be considered in this contest may be sent to the temperance contest committee, care of the editor of any one of the following Hearst newspapers: Albany Times-Union, Atlanta Georgian, Baltimore News, Boston Evening American, Chicago Herald and Examiner, Detroit Times, Los Angeles Examiner, New York American, Omaha Bee-News, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Rochester Journal, San Antonio Light, San Francisco Examiner, Syracuse Journal, Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Washington Herald, Wisconsin News (Milwaukee).



"Will the gentleman who just coughed, kindly step to the box office . . for a package of Old Golds?"

"Of course, I have never said just those words from the stage—but in all kindness I have often wanted to offer this friendly help to some poor fellow whose cough was interrupting the show and spoiling the enjoyment of those around him.

"A year or so ago, the makers of OLD GOLD ran some ads on the disturbing effect of coughing in theatres. As an actor, I was grateful for those ads. I am more grateful now that OLD GOLD has invited stage folk to help them bring 'first aid' information to our unhappy friends the 'theatre-coughers.'

"My own advice is that prevention is the first and best aid. The kind of prevention that smoking OLD GOLDS gives. Harsh tobacco irritates the throat, and that causes coughing. Changing to OLD GOLDS soothes the throat and removes the cause of the 'cough tickle.'"

FOURTH AVENUE PARKING PLEA STUDIED

The Better Traffic Committee will begin a study today of a proposal submitted by representatives of banks on Fourth avenue for a change in the law against automobile parking on that thoroughfare that would permit cars between Ross and Ferry streets to stand for 20 minutes on the northerly side only.

If the committee decides favorably on the proposal, Safety Director James M. Clark will establish a 60-day experiment period.

A delegation of more than 20 Fourth avenue bankers appeared yesterday before Mayor Charles H. Kline and Council to protest against the intensive campaign waged by police in the last two days in enforcing the no-parking ordinance.

Spokesmen for the delegation included Harrison Nesbit, president of the Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A.; W. S. Linderman, president of the Duquesne National Bank; Lloyd Smith, president of the Union National Bank, and Malcolm McGiffin, president of the Fidelity Title and Trust Company.

CHAMBER WINS 66 MEMBERS

Sixty-six additional members were reported last night by teams of the North Side Chamber of Commerce in the membership drive, bringing the total of the campaign thus far to 125. Reports were made at a supper held in the North Side branch Y. M. C. A., West North avenue and Monterey street.

John O'Neil, leader of the "White" group, again took first place with 44 new members. J. G. Shaw, for the "Blue" group, reported 17, and James Moore, for the "Red" contingent, five.

Two more meetings will be held on successive Wednesday nights, when it is expected the total new members will reach the goal of 200, thereby boosting the membership of the organization above the 500 mark.

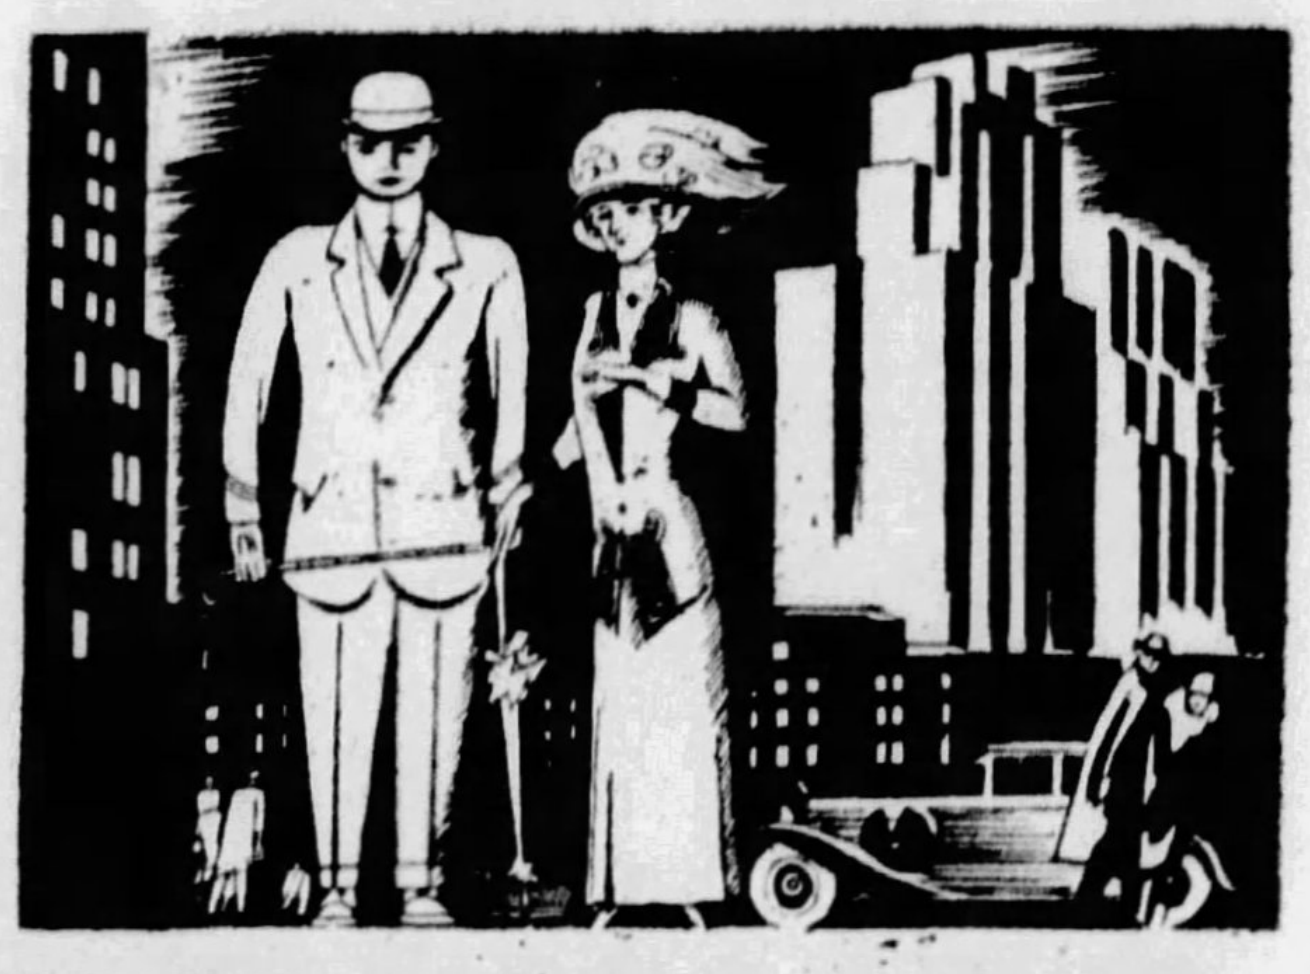
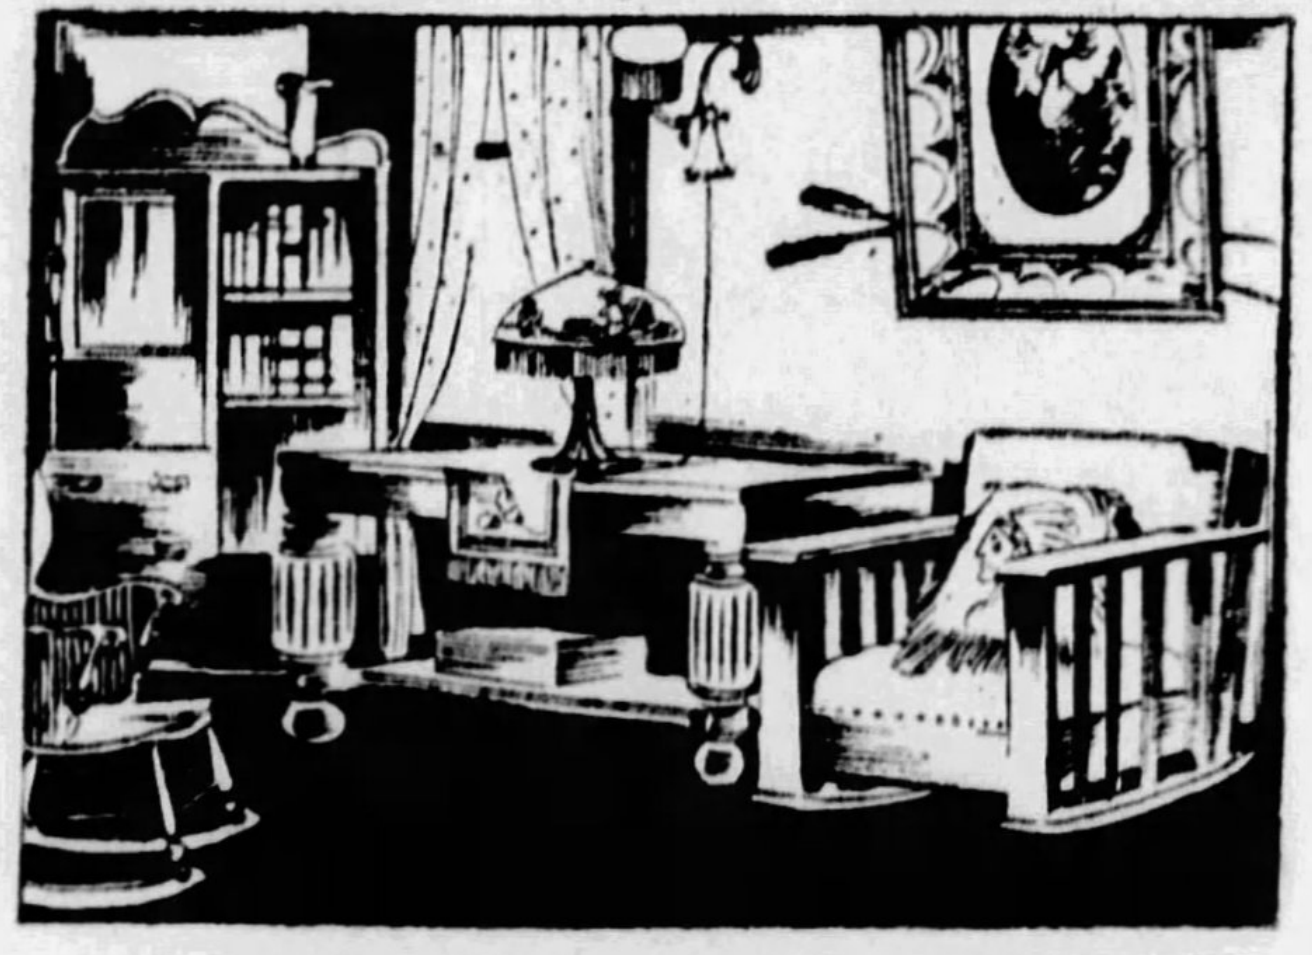
HORNE'S CLEARANCE



Is THIS any FUNNIER than THIS?



No one would think of appearing on the street today dressed like the two figures above, reproduced without change from a style catalog of this store, of not so many years ago. There are many homes still to be seen, however, which are strongly reminiscent of the room scheme, of the same period, pictured below.

A woman who will hesitate to wear the same coat more than two seasons, for fear of stamping herself as behind the times, will frequently put up with furniture which is more conspicuously out of date, seemingly unmindful of the unfavorable impression it creates.

Are we less particular about inward appearances than outward? And should we be, when we consider that the home is where we live, spend our best hours and receive our friends—and realize the effect of home influences upon ourselves and our children?

This is a question to ask and consider with the February Furniture Sale coming, with its opportunities for gratifying our home ambitions under extraordinarily favorable circumstances. The February Furniture Sale here, this year, will surpass all its predecessors in the variety and beauty of its selections and the attractiveness of its prices.

This very smart and new idea of one pattern appearing in two different fabrics in the same frock, is more than a fad, it is a Spring fashion with real significance. It gives the flattering effect of chiffon where it is needed, and the weight of radium silk where weight is required.

And isn't it gratifying to find a fashion so important, so new, so pointed toward the future, in dresses at such a moderate price?

There are dresses with the blouse of chiffon and the skirt of radium, as the one pictured; and frocks in one-piece coat effect posed over the radium weave . . . In orange tones, gray-with-yellow, sunburst-with-green-and-brown, green-with-tan, blue-with-rose-and-green.

Cash Registers Needed
Successful Sales Show
New Fashion Thoughts

Cars to Match Frocks
Real Fun at Display

By H. W. DIETRICH
Automobile Editor.

ATTENTION, Bill Owings!

"Bill, there is only one more thing you can do to make this already most successful show a far greater success. And that is the placing of cash registers somewhere in the space allotted to each of the exhibitors."

Bill Owings (if you don't know) is the manager of Pittsburgh's 1929 Automobile Show, now being presented in Motor Square Garden. The show opened last Saturday and is open each day from 1 to 11 p. m. until Saturday night.

And here is why Bill Owings should add cash registers to his show equipment. More automobiles are being sold at this show than at any previous show. In all the excitement of selling cars and gathering the names of prospective buyers and explaining the fine points of the various cars to others, who is going to keep a record of all these sales. And then what could be more harmonious or where could be found a better background for sales activities than the tinkling of bells of cash registers in actual operation in combination with the comforting, inspiring voice of the Silver Masked Tenor?

FAR SUPERIOR TO PREDECESSORS

SERIOUSLY speaking, this IS the most successful show from a sales standpoint. And there is a reason, a good one. The cars being offered this year are far superior to their predecessors. As an example, take the new brakes. The linings of these brakes are good for virtually 30,000 miles and they stop the car smoothly and without a squeak. Mechanically and fashionably correct to a point as near perfection as the artist-engineer-scientist can make them, the cars are well worth a visit to an exhibit where they can all be seen on one floor and compared with one another.

PIONEERING NEW CAR FASHION

FROM the fashion viewpoint the Buick. This car is pioneering a new thought in motor car fashions. The lines from these cars are in keeping with the advanced fashion trend of Paris, and that is curves. Buick has them pleasingly blended and most attractive. In this group at the show are cars finished (as viewed by the eye of a man) in green, tan, dark, red and slate. A sport roadster, a sport coupe and a victoria type car are attracting much attention.

Another line that has done much to make the automobile the fashionable car it is today is the Chrysler group. This group, being exhibited by the famous Samson family of this city, offers the Plymouth, the two Chrysler lines and the Chrysler Imperial. In this group a Chrysler roadster, that is painted in one of the innumerable green tones, is capturing the favor of many of the women visitors. There are four other cars in this group.

COLOR COMBINATION MOST ROMANTIC

THE name of Durant always comes to mind when the conversation turns to four-speed transmissions and powerful motors. Ed Bisch is displaying a group of cars that should be a leading contestant for feminine honors, especially when the colors in which they are finished are named. There is a sedan of Nile blue and a coupe in desert sand. What could be more romantic? Then there is a black green cabriolet, a Durant blue sedan and a de luxe sedan also in desert sand.

While on the subject of color. Don't overlook the Cadillac and LaSalle display. There are two Cadillac models here that should have honorable mention for their colorings and if it is true that women are buying cars that match their frocks then these two cars should have an extraordinarily wide sale. They are painted in vineyard lake and green gray for the five-passenger coupe and Paris gray for five-passenger sedan.

Few exhibits in the big auditorium can outshine the Chevrolet group in color. This latest addition to the six-cylinder line of cars is attracting one of the largest throngs at the show. In addition to the new power plant an improved appearance has been effected. And in the color line is to be had green, blue, slate, brown or most anything you want.

ASKING QUESTIONS CREATING REAL FUN

THE great crowds of show visitors continue to gain much enjoyment from the question and answer contest being conducted on the sub-floor. Here more than 30 exhibitors of accessories, parts, tools and shop equipment are displaying placards asking a question. The show visitors ask the attendants in those booths the question and receive the answer. For correctly writing down the answer and leaving the signed total at the foot of the ramp on the way out there are two first prizes of $50, four more of $25 each and numerous others of from various sums down to $2.

ELCAR SECRETARY VISITOR AT GARDEN

AUTOMOBILE factory officials seldom overlook or fail to attend an automobile show that is outstanding or attracting a wonderful amount of business. The latest testimonial to this effect is had in the visitation to this city of A. M. Graffis, secretary and chief engineer of Elcar, who was an interested spectator at the show yesterday. Elcar has an interesting group at the show, presenting a fashion that is a bit different from other cars.

Another interesting group is that of Chandler. Chandler, you remember, is the car that gained much popularity through its Pikes Peak motor. Its exhibit is just inside the entrance and features a variety of closed cars in popular colors.

Frank Saupp, who is one of he real veterans of the auto field here and the Dodge distributor for many years, also has in his exhibit one of the newest cars at the show. This car is the Dodge Brothers Six, which reflects the influence of Walter P. Chrysler in his latest subsidiary. The display features a show chassis of the new six, two models of the new six and one of the Senior Six. The Senior Six is most attractive in its dress of black and chromium.

NOVEL DISPLAY OF ACCESSORIES

MANY novel displays are to be seen on the sub-floor, the work of the parts and accessory men. One of these booths shows almost a score of tubs filled with greases of various densities. Few showgoers ever knew there were so many different types of greases.

H. T. Miller, who has been doing business as an automotive merchant on Bigelow boulevard for many years, is attracting much attention at his display. One of his exhibits is the Ha dee heater, a real accessory for winter driving. A little girl, in a red devil suit, calls attention to this heater.

Then there is J. W. Danforth, who for many years has contributed much to the comfort of motorists. He has the new Gabriel "Triple-Hydraulic" shock absorber, which is said to more than triple the efficiency of previous shock absorbers. Another commanding exhibit is that of the Superior Auto Accessories Company. Here is Steelcote, a finish that is flexible.

Bombs Dropped In Air Test Kill 11 Soldiers

LONDON, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—The Express today prints a dispatch from Lahore, India, saying that three Indian officers and eight troopers of an Indian cavalry regiment were killed and many others wounded near Jamrud at the entrance to Khyber Pass by bombs dropped by British airforce planes. The aviators apparently mistook the white uniforms of the troopers for a bombing target.

5,500,000 CARS YEARLY IS SLOAN PREDICTION

BOSTON, Jan., 24.—(INS.)—Production of 5,500,000 automobiles yearly in automotive factories of the United States was predicted today by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors Corporation.

The production record of somewhat over 4,500,000 passenger and commercial vehicles during the year just closed will be surpassed within the next three or four years, Sloan told business leaders of Boston at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon today.

15,000,000 WORKERS

Pointing out that the wealth produced yearly by the automotive industry in this country was approximately equal to the wealth created through agriculture, Sloan said there were from 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 persons, or 10 per cent of the entire population, dependent on the automobile industry.

"When I make the statement," he continued, "that of the 25,000,000 automobiles registered in the United States as in more or less daily use, over 50 per cent are being operated by those who have purchased them at a cost less than the cost of the lowest priced new car, we get a better understanding of how it is possible to maintain such a high automobile population in proportion to our total population."

CYCLE MUST HOLD

He added it will be "absolutely impossible for our industry to maintain its present state of productivity and its corresponding contribution to the national welfare unless the cycle of the new car and the used car is maintained."

Sloan said that as long as the spirit of progress prevails—as long as the automobile manufacturer employs research, adopts improved engineering, more effective manufacturing and distribution as well as intensive development of the artistic side—the cycle will be maintained and "the end of what we can accomplish is nowhere in sight."

Cambria County Millage Reduced

EBENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 24.—The Cambria County Board of Commissioners have decided on a reduction of 25 per cent from the 1928 millage, fixing the millage for 1929 at 6¾ mills.

"I light a Lucky and go light on the sweets

LUCKY STRIKE
"IT'S TOASTED"
CIGARETTES

Al Jolson as he appears in Warner Bros. Vitaphone success, "The Singing Fool."

Something sensible. "Better to light a Lucky whenever you crave fattening sweets." It brings to men the health and vigor that comes with avoiding overweight. To women it offers a slender, fashionable figure.

20,679 physicians have stated that Lucky Strike is less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes. Very likely this is due to toasting which removes impurities. This same process, toasting, improves and develops the flavor of the world's finest tobaccos. This means that there is a flavor in Luckies which is a delightful alternative for the things that make you fat. That's why "It's Toasted" is your assurance that there's real health in Luckies—they're good for you!

Keep fit—reach for a Lucky instead of a fattening sweet. That's what many men have been doing for years. They know the evidence of prominent athletes whose favorite cigarette is Lucky Strike and who say Luckies steady their nerves and do not impair their physical condition.

A reasonable proportion of sugar in the diet is recommended, but the authorities are overwhelming that too many fattening sweets are harmful and that too many such are eaten by the American people. So, for moderation's sake we say:—

Health and Taxation Metro Board Topics

Commissioners of the second class townships of the county met with members of the Metropolitan Plan Commission yesterday afternoon and discussed health and taxation under the metropolitan charter. A change in the supervision of health conditions throughout the county was suggested by some of the commissioners. The two groups also discussed taxation and the system of assessment proposed for the new charter. Representatives of the Volunteer Firemen's Association met with the commission yesterday to find out what their status would be under the metropolitan plan.

Texas House Concurs In Land Sale Probe

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 24.—(AP.)—After a bitter verbal fight on the floor, the Texas House of Representatives passed the Senate concurrent resolution calling for an investigation of the state land office by a 94 to 33 vote yesterday.

The resolution, providing for an investigation not only of the land office, but of the Governor's and the Attorney General's offices and the University of Texas board of regents, insofar as their activities were linked with public land sales and leases, was sanctioned by the Senate.

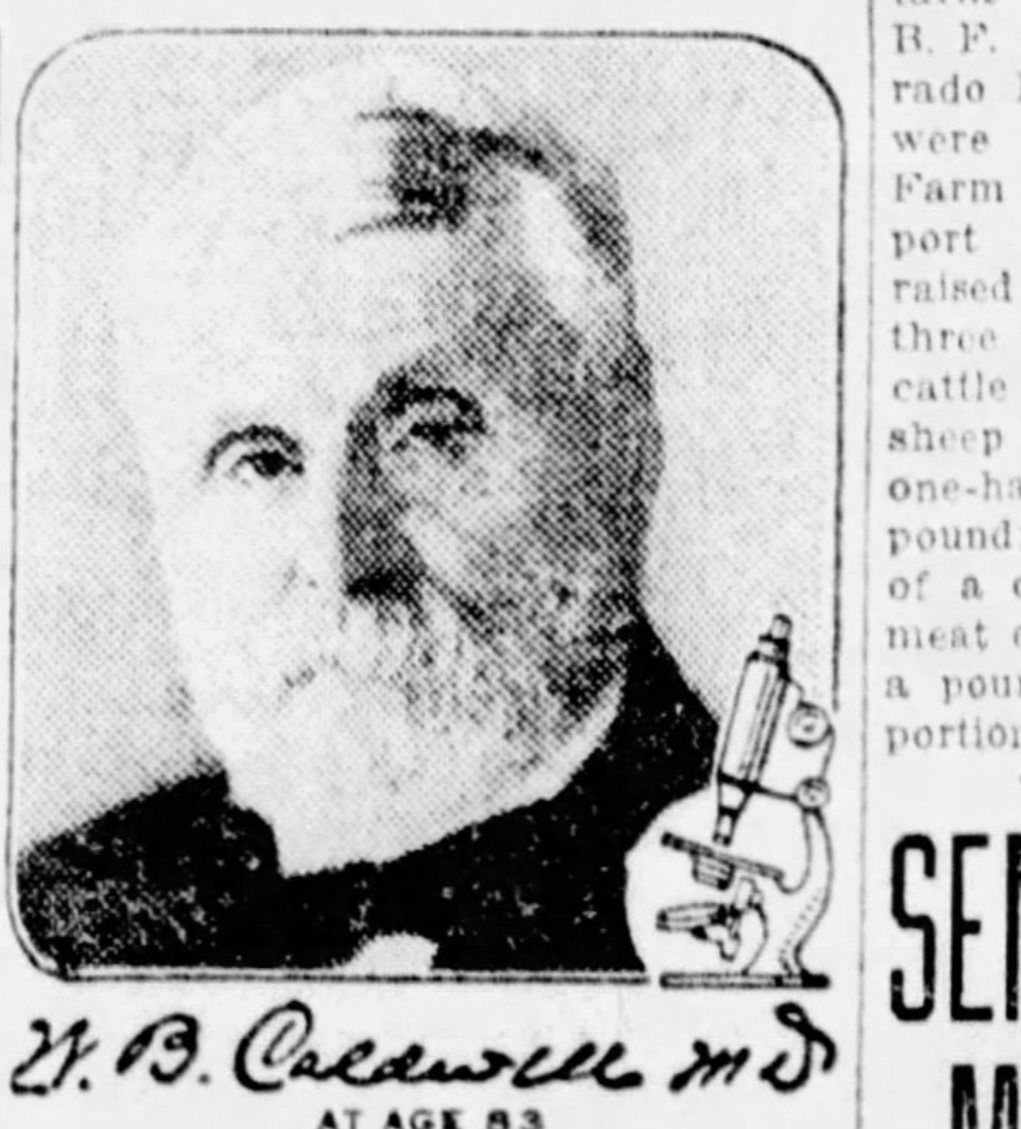
Doctor Found Women and Children Sick More Often than Men

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, billousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

In the course of Dr. Caldwell's 47 years' practice, he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with pepsin. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and placed it on the market.



W. B. Caldwell M.D.

AT AGE 83

The preparation immediately had as great a public success as it previously had in Dr. Caldwell's private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and we have many hundreds of letters from grateful people telling us it helped when everything else failed.

While women, children and elderly people are especially benefited by Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, its mild, gentle action is promptly effective on the most robust constitution and in the most obstinate cases. Containing neither opiates nor narcotics, it is safe for the tiniest baby. Children like it and take it willingly. Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

FARMERS URGE TARIFF RAISE ON IMPORTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—(INS.)—Representatives of the American farmer descended upon the House Ways and Means Committee like a veritable avalanche today, demanding increases of 33 1-3 to 100 per cent in the tariff on agricultural products, livestock and provisions.

Representative Hawley (Rep.), of Oregon, committee chairman, announced that 100 witnesses would appear in three days, by far the largest number appearing on any tariff schedule thus far considered in the hearings.

The first specific proposal for tariff increases was presented by B. F. Davis, president of the Colorado Farm Bureau. His demands were backed by the American Farm Bureau. Davis urged the import duty on feeder cattle be raised from one and one-half to three cents a pound, on fattened cattle from two to four cents; sheep $2 to $3 a head; swine from one-half cent to three cents a pound; fresh pork, three-fourths of a cent to five cents a pound; meat extracts from 15 to 30 cents a pound, and other rates in proportion.

SENATE DEFERS MELLON CASE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—The resolution to request the resignation of Secretary Mellon, which has been on the Senate calendar for more than a year, was reached again today, but no action was taken, although Senator Harrison (Dem.), Mississippi, suggested that if any action on it is to be taken it should be started before long "because the fourth of March will soon be here."

Senator Smoot (Rep.), Utah, objected to consideration today and that was sufficient to defer it.

Ford Aviation Head To Speak at Dinner

William B. Stout, head of the airplane division of the Ford Motor Company, will be the principal speaker at the fifteenth annual dinner of the Traffic and Transportation Association of Pittsburgh, to be held tonight in the William Penn Hotel. Thomas Byers, president of the association, will deliver the address of welcome and introduce Edward R. Bardgett, the toastmaster.

Freight Derailment Blocks P. R. R. Tracks

Fifteen freight cars were derailed on the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks at South Fork last night, blocking all four tracks of the Pittsburgh division for several hours. The 15 cars were part of a west-bound freight train. Railroad workers were rushed to the scene immediately to open the tracks. No one was hurt.

Army Planes Seek Man Adrift on Ice

SELFRIDGE FIELD, Mt. CLEMENS, Mich., Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Two army airplanes equipped with skis took off from here today for Petoskey to aid in the search for Louis Sweet, fisherman, who drifted out into Lake Michigan Tuesday on an ice field. The planes were piloted by Lieuts. Marion L. Elliott and Richard Cobb.

N. Y. Man to Guide Wealthy Giving To Charity

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—When Bird S. Coler retires as New York City's commissioner of public welfare on February 1, he will devote his time to guiding philanthropists who have money to give away, but are not quite sure which causes are worthy and which unworthy, he has announced.

Mr. Coler's title, invented by himself, will be "consultant on hospital and welfare matters." In his city post he has already directed the distribution of nearly $3,000,000 by persons drawing their wills.

The bane of welfare work nowadays is "too much fake giving and fake collecting," he said. "Many wealthy persons have told me that they were desirous of helping the orphan, cripple or homeless, but were skeptical and in a quandary as to how to do it."

LOVE FOR OLD CHURCH MAY BALK ROCKEFELLER PLAN

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—A church, whose members feel they have a "sacred trust" to maintain their edifice in the heart of New York, threatens to prevent a complete realization of the Metropolitan Opera center planned by John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

The Collegiate Reformed Church of St. Nicholas, at Fifth avenue and Forty-eighth street, occupies one of the few parcels of land in the three blocks from Forty-eighth to Fifty-first streets, between Fifth and Sixth avenues, not included in the $3,000,000 a year lease by Columbia University to Mr. Rockefeller.

The Rev. Dr. Malcolm James Macleod, pastor, and Charles Stewart Philips, treasurer, said today the church had repeatedly refused to sell or lease.

Dr. Macleod said he believed landmarks in New York, particularly churches, should not be torn down. "The material things are great," he said, "but the spiritual things are greater."

The spire of St. Nicholas Church has often been declared one of the most beautiful in the world. The bell in its steeple was cast in Holland in 1728. The church at one time refused an offer of $7,000,000 for the site.

A representative of Mr. Rockefeller said that if negotiations for the church site had been opened he believed Mr. Rockefeller would drop them immediately if he learned the church was unwilling, under any circumstances, to move from its present place of worship.

Ohio Man Buried In English Church

CLAYPOLE, Lincolnshire, England, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—In the presence of his family, a few personal friends and numerous villagers, Harry Coulby, of Wickliffe, O., who died in London on January 18, was buried here today. Interment was in the little church on which he spent much money after he had gained success as a shipowner on the Great Lakes. Prior to the burial, the body lay in state at the home of his sister, Mrs. John Milner.

When Skinny Men Grow Manly

Five or 10 Pounds of Flesh on Their Bones Make a Lot of Difference.

Out in the country they used to say "Just as thin as a fence rail" and after Jim had somehow managed to grow more shapely and add more weight they used to say:

And that's the way it goes all over the world; the skinny gaunt man can never be attractive or look manly until he puts more flesh on his scantily covered bones.

Many thin men have gained in weight and at the same time in vigor and attractiveness—no thin man can do it unless he tries.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your money will be returned.

City Closes Exhibit Of World War Relics

Russell Shields, who says he was a lieutenant in the Royal Canadian air forces, was ordered to close his exhibit of war relics in the State Theater yesterday because he is said to have misrepresented his exhibit in obtaining a permit. Inspector James Hoey, who closed the exhibit, said persons were told the show was free, but upon leaving were asked for a 25-cent donation. Many visitors thought the donations went to a soldiers' home, but Shields said it was a privately-owned exhibit and the receipts were kept by him.

The main difficulties center around Mortimer, the hero, who neither knows how to wear cowboy pants nor how to ride a Western horse, and Gwendolyn, the heroine, who insists her part is not large enough and wishes therefore to be a female bandit.

U. S.-Canadian Wave Division May Be 60-40

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Technical matters are understood to be giving the greatest difficulty to the international radio conference meeting here to settle the allocation of the intermediate wave band on the North American continent.

The conference, which is being attended by representatives of the United States, Newfoundland, Cuba and Canada, is not open to the public, and the delegates are reluctant to reveal the extent of the progress made.

The major question of how many priority waves will be assigned to each country is expected to be reached soon. It is rumored that as between the United States and Canada the allotment will be 60 per cent to 40 per cent.

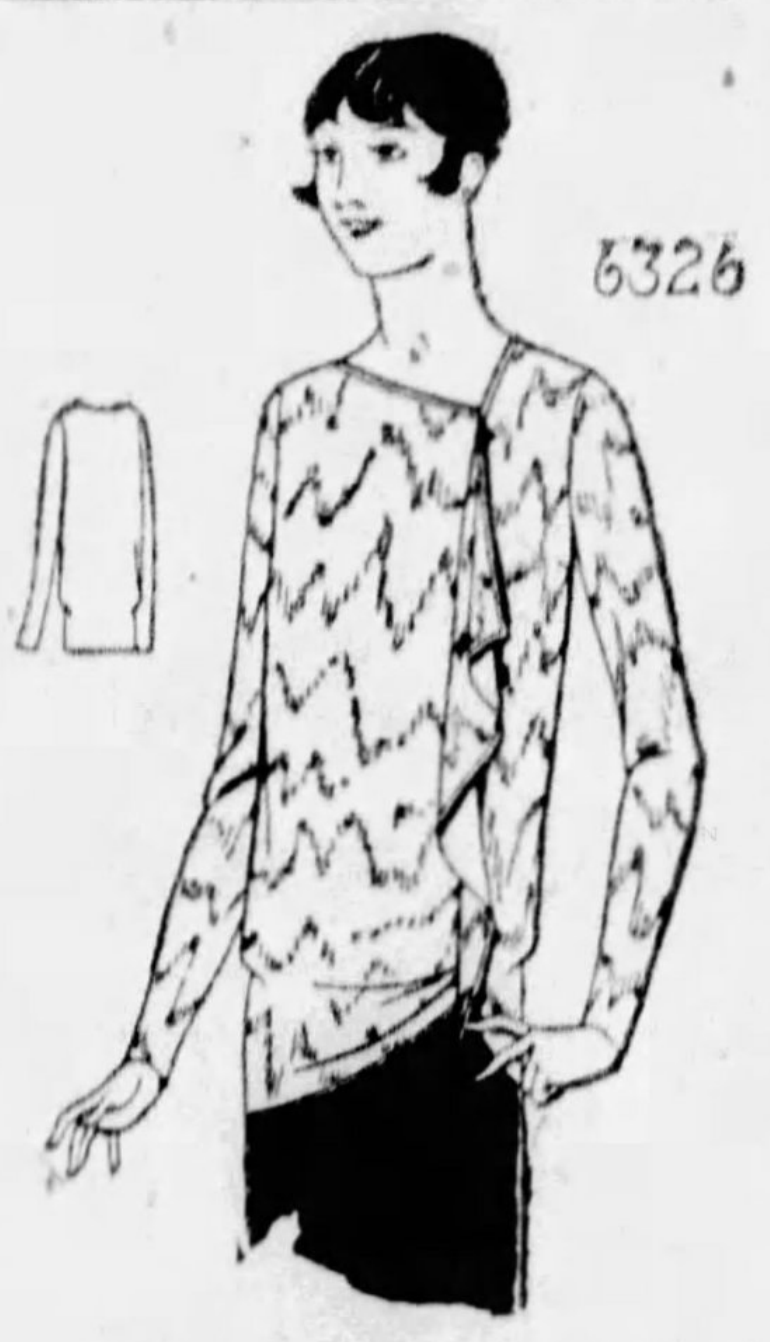
The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern



A SMART BLOUSE STYLE

This is an excellent model for a separate blouse or for one to accompany an ensemble skirt and coat. Moire was chosen in this instance in the new shade of blue, with pipings and jabot facing of white. Velvet, plain or printed, or crepe and velvet combined, are also suggested for this model. The blouse extends over the hips in girdle effect. The girdle section closes over the left side under the graceful jabot.

The pattern is cut in seven sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. To make the blouse for a 38-inch size will require 2¾ yards of 35-inch material. The facing on the jabot will require ¼ yard 24 inches wide.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Stubborn Cough Quickly Ended by Famous Recipe

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that usually follow the "flu."

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Stage and Screen Notes With Gossip About Magic and Plays

THURSTON PLANNING ILLUSION TO MAKE THE OLD YOUNG; FOUND IDEA HERE

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

GEORGE SEIBEL

WHEN Thurston returns to Pittsburgh next season, he will bring a new illusion—and it will be one that was originated in Pittsburgh during the present engagement of three weeks in the Pitt. It will be called either "The Fountain of Ponce de Leon" or "The Elixir of Cagliostro," and the effect will be that of rejuvenating an aged woman, making a young flapper of her. That ought to be very popular—unless, as somebody remarked when the thing was being talked over, it won't attract any attention because it's being done every day.

The idea of the illusion first came at a little dinner where Thurston was in company with a group of writers and magical amateurs. The jester said:

"Thurston is going to make a fortune. He has invented a new vanishing cream. He will ask any married woman to come up on the stage and sit down. A bit of the cream rubbed on her forehead and she will vanish—the magic of the vanishing cream! Then Thurston will sell a box of the cream for $1 to every married man in the audience. It beats Reno!"

Said one of the amateur magicians present:

"Why not make 'em young instead, like Cagliostro?"

It Can Be Done, You'll See It

Cyril Yettmah, an English magician, who is now devoting himself to the building of new illusions, is with Howard Thurston on the present tour, assisting in the mechanical development of several new ideas. Yettmah took the suggestions that were made quite seriously. "It can be done," he announced.

Now the details are being worked out. According to one outline of the illusion, Thurston will step to the front of the stage and call for the oldest lady in the audience. When the oldest lady in the audience has been selected and brought upon the stage, she will be seated directly under a fountain in which the fabulous waters of Florida, discovered by Ponce de Leon, will flow. As the sparkling cascades descend, the lady is visibly transformed into a beautiful young girl.

In the other version, the magician produces a vial in which is contained some of the elixir which Cagliostro used to restore the aged to youth. The old lady will be seated before a mirror, and as she inhales the elixir her years will drop away and she will become sweet sixteen.

Yettmah says it can be done.

New Illusions Are in Demand

The new illusion will be one of the few startling novelties that have been developed in the world of magic during recent years. Not since Bautier de Kolta and John Nevil Maskelyne has there been anything as ingenious and sensational as this promised performance. Howard Thurston is especially interested in its development, because he is engaged in writing a life of Cagliostro, the famous necromancer who figures in a romance of Dumas. Thurston is himself a writer of considerable skill, and his autobiography, soon to be published in Collier's, will be an entrancing story.

When I told him of my visit to Palermo, where Cagliostro was born, he was deeply interested. The notorious charlatan was in reality called Joseph Balsamo, and was a physician, who helped his trade by pretending to turn the old back into youth. Balsamo, or Cagliostro, was a faker, of course, but everybody knows Thurston would not deceive anybody. He always assures the audience himself that he wouldn't.

AMUSEMENT MAKERS :-: TO BE SEEN LATER :-: IN PLAYHOUSES

Dennis King will bring D'Artagnan to life in "The Three Musketeers," Ziegfeld musical play coming next week to the Nixon.

Ed Wynn, "the perfect fool," will be seen next week in the Alvin in a musical comedy, "Manhattan Mary," a George White Show.

Kenneth Harlan, from the movies, is among the future bookings of Keith-Albee-Orpheum vaudeville to be presented in the Davis.

Norma Shearer is to come to the Aldine at a later date in "A Lady of Chance," a photoplay in which she will be the star.

Extra Performance Of "Porgy" in Nixon

Because, it is said, many were turned away at the Wednesday matinee in the Nixon, where the Theater Guild is presenting "Porgy," Manager Harry Brown announces that by special arrangement there will be a special extra matinee tomorrow afternoon. This arrangement is made to give as many as possible a chance to witness "Porgy."

FILM STARS' STAGE PREMIERE GIVES HOLLYWOOD BIG NIGHT

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright 1928, Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 24.

TWO premieres yester-eve of interest: "The Swan" and Ruth St. Denis in terpsichore concert. The first, in particular, brought forth the flicker-ites in bibs, tuckers and applause. The latter was deserved—highly so. Performances by Edward Everett Horton, Ralph Forbes, Lois Wilson, Marie Dressler, Mary Forbes, Mitchell Harris and Jessie Arnold were excellent. Indeed, "The Swan" marked the first contribution to a Los Angeles stage.

Ed. Norton, also a celluloid favorite, launched his theatrical organization at the Vine Street Theater some months ago. It succeeded from the start, due to Norton's own histrionic abilities, fine supporting cast, and his willingness to sacrifice the limelight to play and company upon occasion. The theater hereabouts is just beginning to be in its infancy. Hence, in years to come, should it survive adolescence and enter a contented state of maturity, Eddie Norton's name will be embalmed in print as the theatrical pioneer in a city that brings up its young and its grandparents on celluloid skimmed milk.

Norma Among Those Present

AMONG those at "The Swan's" premiere were Bebe Daniels and fiance, Ben Lyon; Norma Talmadge and Gilbert Roland (their first public appearance since returning from Europe); Mr. and Mrs. George Fitzmaurice, she being Lois Wilson's sister; Ruth Chatterton, recently reconciled with her husband, Ralph Forbes; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Knopf, he being related to the Borzoi books by mother; Jane Winton and Charles Kenyon; Hedda Hopper, Laura Hope Crews, Paul Bern, Willis Goldbeck, Howard Greer, Mr. and Mrs. William Seiter (Laura La Plante); Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn Leroy (Edna Murphy); Gregory Lacava, and others mayhap of electric light interest. Really a swell eve.

Norma Talmadge.

Not being twins—and it would be lovely to be twins at times—I didn't get to the Ruth St. Denis premier, but the sleuth for this colyum vows 'twas a feetful delight. Jetta Goudal went. Likewise Patsy Ruth Miller and Fay Garnett, movie director. The two are that way about each other just now.

Billie Dove's New "Outfit"

MAX REE, costume director contributes this:

Billie Dove dropped into my office yesterday wearing an outfit that serves both motoring and aviation purposes. She wore a cape dress of pueblo (light beige) shade. It fitted loosely to the waist, but swathed hips tightly. The skirt was a wrap-skirt with cascade drape on left side caught by a row of petals extending in one straight line from the left hip to the right shoulder, where it caught the short circular shoulder cape. The skirt, cape and petals were finished with a narrow edge of pueblo shaded satin. There were diagonal straps on the sleeves at the wrist and bright silver buttons. A tight fitting, pueblo colored felt hat covered her ears. It was crushed up in front. The shoes were pueblo colored plain kid pumps. She wore suede gloves with narrow cuffs edged with silver.

Billie Dove.

Stars Party After Show

SCREEN SCRIBS: Evelyn Brent, Harry D. Edwards and Lowell Sherman dining at ye Montmartre. . . . Marie Dressler lamenting the way she suffered from stage fright the night "The Swan" premiered was nobody's pain but her own. . . . Ralph Forbes speaking ditto for himself. Likewise Lois Wilson. Ditto Eddie Horton. . . Mrs. George Fitzmaurice hostessing to the gang at her house after the show. . . And all doing very well with the buffet snack. . . Famous Players ordering Clara Bow to have her name removed from the chop house which she owns and daddy runs. Clara can't "Three Week Ends" and be mama to a lamb chop, too. So the sign now twinkles Robert Bow. . . And—that's all.

Lois Wilson.

Forrest Halsey pauses from a state of scenariozation to remark that one doesn't HAVE to be crazy to go into the movies—but it helps.

Scottish Clan Holds Concert Tomorrow

A musical celebration, commemorating the one hundred and seventieth anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns will be held in the Moose Temple, Penn avenue, at 8 o'clock Friday night, under the auspices of Clan Cameron, No. 120, Order of the Scottish Clans. The program will feature Miss E. Lumsden, contralto; A. Campbell, tenor, and E. Raboch, baritone.

The artists will be assisted by combined choruses of the Daughters of Scotia and Clan Cameron, under the leadership of J. M. Ferguson. The Scott Troupe of Highland dancers will give selections of Highland dances. After the concert a dance will be held, music being furnished by Scotty Walker's Orchestra.

MUSIC PLAYS IN FUTURE BILLS

Seats for Ed Wynn in "Manhattan Mary" are on sale in the Alvin box office. Adhering to a new policy on seat sales, there will be no telephone reservations. Window sale purchasers have unreserved choice of the houses, excepting mail orders taken out. The new plan devised by Manager John B. Reynolds is intended to give greater satisfaction to the purchasers of seats. "Manhattan Mary" comes next Monday.

"The Three Musketeers," a Florenz Ziegfeld musical production based on the Dumas novel, will be seen in the Nixon, opening next Monday, seats for the event being on sale today. Matinees will be Wednesday and Saturday. Dennis King is featured and Vivienne Segal will have a leading feminine role.

Lita Grey Chaplin, former wife of the famous screen comedian, will headline the two-a-day Keith-Albee-Orpheum vaudeville program in the Davis next week. She will be seen and heard in "A Musical Treat," assisted by Rowland Becker and Pat Casey.

BACLONOVA TO SING

Olga Baclonova, who sang with the Moscow Art Theater and on the New York stage, will be heard in two songs during the showing of George Bancroft's latest sound production, "The Wolf of Wall Street," coming to the Stanley next week.

"Alias Jimmy Valentine," based on O. Henry's tale that became a crook play, will be the screen attraction by the Penn next week. William Haines is starred in this sound picture. "Perfect Girl," with Helen McFadden, will be the stage attraction.

Lois Moran, a native of Pittsburgh, is co-starred with George O'Brien in "True Heaven," next week's synchronized film feature at Loew's Aldine.

"Stolen Sweets" will be the burlesque in the Academy next week, with Harry Levine and Edith Palmer heading the cast.

REVUE TO BE SEEN

In addition to the sound screen feature, "The Haunted House," coming to the Enright Saturday, Laverne and Fayle's Revue will be seen on the stage, with Winifred and Mills.

Monte Blue has the starring role in the Vitaphone all-talking picture, "Conquest," booked to have its first East Liberty screenings in the Regent, beginning Saturday.

"The Midget Follies," a group of 15 tiny persons, will top the vaudeville in the Harris the first half of next week. The screen feature will be Reginald Denny in "Red Hot Speed," a talking picture.

Reginald Denny, in his first talkie, "Red Hot Speed," will be the screen feature in the Sheridan Square Theater the first three days of next week. The vaudeville will be headed by Oscar Stange and his orchestra.

Newman to Talk On "Spain" Tonight

"Spain" is the subject of the travel talk that will be presented by E. M. Newman in the Carnegie Music Hall tonight. Motion pictures will be shown in conjunction with the talk. These will include photographs of the royal family and of their living quarters in the palace.

JOHNSON, SHOE LEADER, DIES

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Jackson Johnson, 69, chairman of the board of the International Shoe Company, of St. Louis, died here late yesterday of heart trouble after an illness of four days. His widow, Mrs. Minnie Johnson, and J. B. Williamson, general counsel for the shoe company, were at his bedside when he died. His body is to be sent to St. Louis today.

Mr. Johnson watched his corporation grow from a jobber to the world's largest manufacturer of shoes in 30 years.

He was a native of Alabama and the son of a Confederate veteran. He opened his first store in Holly Springs, Miss., when he was 18, and sold out 15 years later to organize a shoe jobbing house at Memphis, Tenn. In 1898, he went to St. Louis and started the Roberts, Johnson and Rand Shoe Company as jobbers, later making shoes. In 1911, Johnson's concern joined with the Peters Shoe Company, which in 1912 became the International Shoe Company. The International also acquired the Friedman-Shelby Shoe Company that year. Johnson had been president in all the concerns, and in 1915 became chairman of the board.

Why Plum-Pudding?

PLUM-PUDDINGS have grown out of an Elizabethan dish known as plum-porridge; this was a mixture of fruit and so on, boiled without being put in a basin or tied in a cloth, as is the plum-pudding of our day.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

And Still We Love Them—

A KISS is something that a small boy endures, a fool begs for, a lover takes, a husband accepts, and an old man buys.

* * *

An idealist is a man who believes that "the next girl" will be the Peerless Woman of his visions—and is shocked when he wakes up to discover that she is just another human being.

* * *

After thirty the average woman finds out that happiness consists largely in being satisfied with "substitutes"—coffee-kisses, balcony seats and the vicarious thrills of a movie love-scene.

HELEN ROWLAND

* * *

Scientists have at last discovered how to control the sex of a child, they say. Of course! Just as the sex has ceased to matter, and you can't tell one sex from another, after the child is fifteen!

* * *

A man no longer exclaims, "I must have lost my head!" when he kisses a girl. In fact he knows she'd think him a little unbalanced if he didn't kiss her.

* * *

There never yet lived a man who didn't think that he could nonchalantly "cut the wire" of romance—and then come back and turn on the current at his own sweet will.

* * *

The man who has brains enough to fool a jealous woman usually has sense enough not to try.

* * *

One reason why a woman tries to avoid a divorce is because she hates to feel that all her effort to make a man over into a reasonable human being will be wasted on another woman.

* * *

Of course, it's bad luck for a cat or a blonde to cross a man's path—usually his wife's bad luck.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Don't Neglect Trifling Ailments

THERE is an old saying, frequently quoted nowadays: "Take care of the pennies and the dollars will take care of themselves." That is the admonition of prudence.

DR. COPELAND

I shall not attempt to discuss the social or economic significance of thrift. Personally, I believe in it. But I do wish to impress upon you, if I am able, the importance of taking care of the trifling ailments, the little illnesses, the commonly overlooked defects of the body.

Serious disease is almost always the result of neglect. I do not refer to immediate, recent, occasional neglect. I have in mind the long continued failure to give attention to some minor trouble.

We don't know much about cancer, certainly as regards to its cause. But it is perfectly safe to say that a person in perfect health will not be set upon by this dread disease. Lowered resistance must be present, or else cancer would not find its way into the body.

Perfect health may be compared to a powerful money vault. When the modern safe is closed and locked, it will protect its valuables against fire, the petty thief, the common burglar, and even the expert safe cracker.

The strength of the vault may be compared to the resistance of the body. It guards against all enemies.

When I was a boy the safe in my father's office was attacked by burglars. They were bunglers and made little progress except to break the combination lock. They left it so nobody could open the vault by the ordinary method.

An expert from the factory was called upon to open the door. The first thing he did was to drill a small hole through the steel, above the lock. In course of time this was through the plate and permitted tiny tools to be admitted for manipulation of the machinery. It was not long then before the door was open.

Some of the "minor diseases" drill holes into the body, if I may use that figure. Through these openings the more important diseases find their way. They take firm hold on the tissues. After a time the victim finds himself in the clutches of a serious ailment.

Abuse of the stomach is the common pastime of the human family. Who knows what the undernourishment following prolonged dyspepsia may have to do in the development of cancer?

There is no doubt that the neglect of common things, like bad teeth, disease of the mouth or tonsils, running ear and even pus-filled skin eruptions, may prepare the way for some really serious infection. The ordinary illnesses, the common ailments of everyday life, have an important bearing on the general state of health.

Chronic constipation, repeated colds, intestinal worms—all these bear a relationship to serious disease. We must not neglect them.

If you take care of the simple diseases, the big ones will take care of themselves. You will be putting money in the bank of health by acting on this suggestion.

FOR BRILLIANT TEETH AND CORAL GUMS

NATURALLY you want to preserve sound teeth and healthy gums. Then you must guard The Danger Line. For it is in the tiny V-shaped crevices at The Danger Line, where teeth and gums meet, that the acids are formed which cause the most dangerous forms of tooth decay and gum irritations.

Squibb's Dental Cream, because it contains more than 50% of Squibb's Milk of Magnesia, neutralizes the acids in those crevices which no toothbrush can reach. It brings the protection you need. And it is particularly suited to keeping teeth white and lustrous. Millions have found that it solves for good the problem of proper mouth hygiene. 40c for a large tube—everywhere.

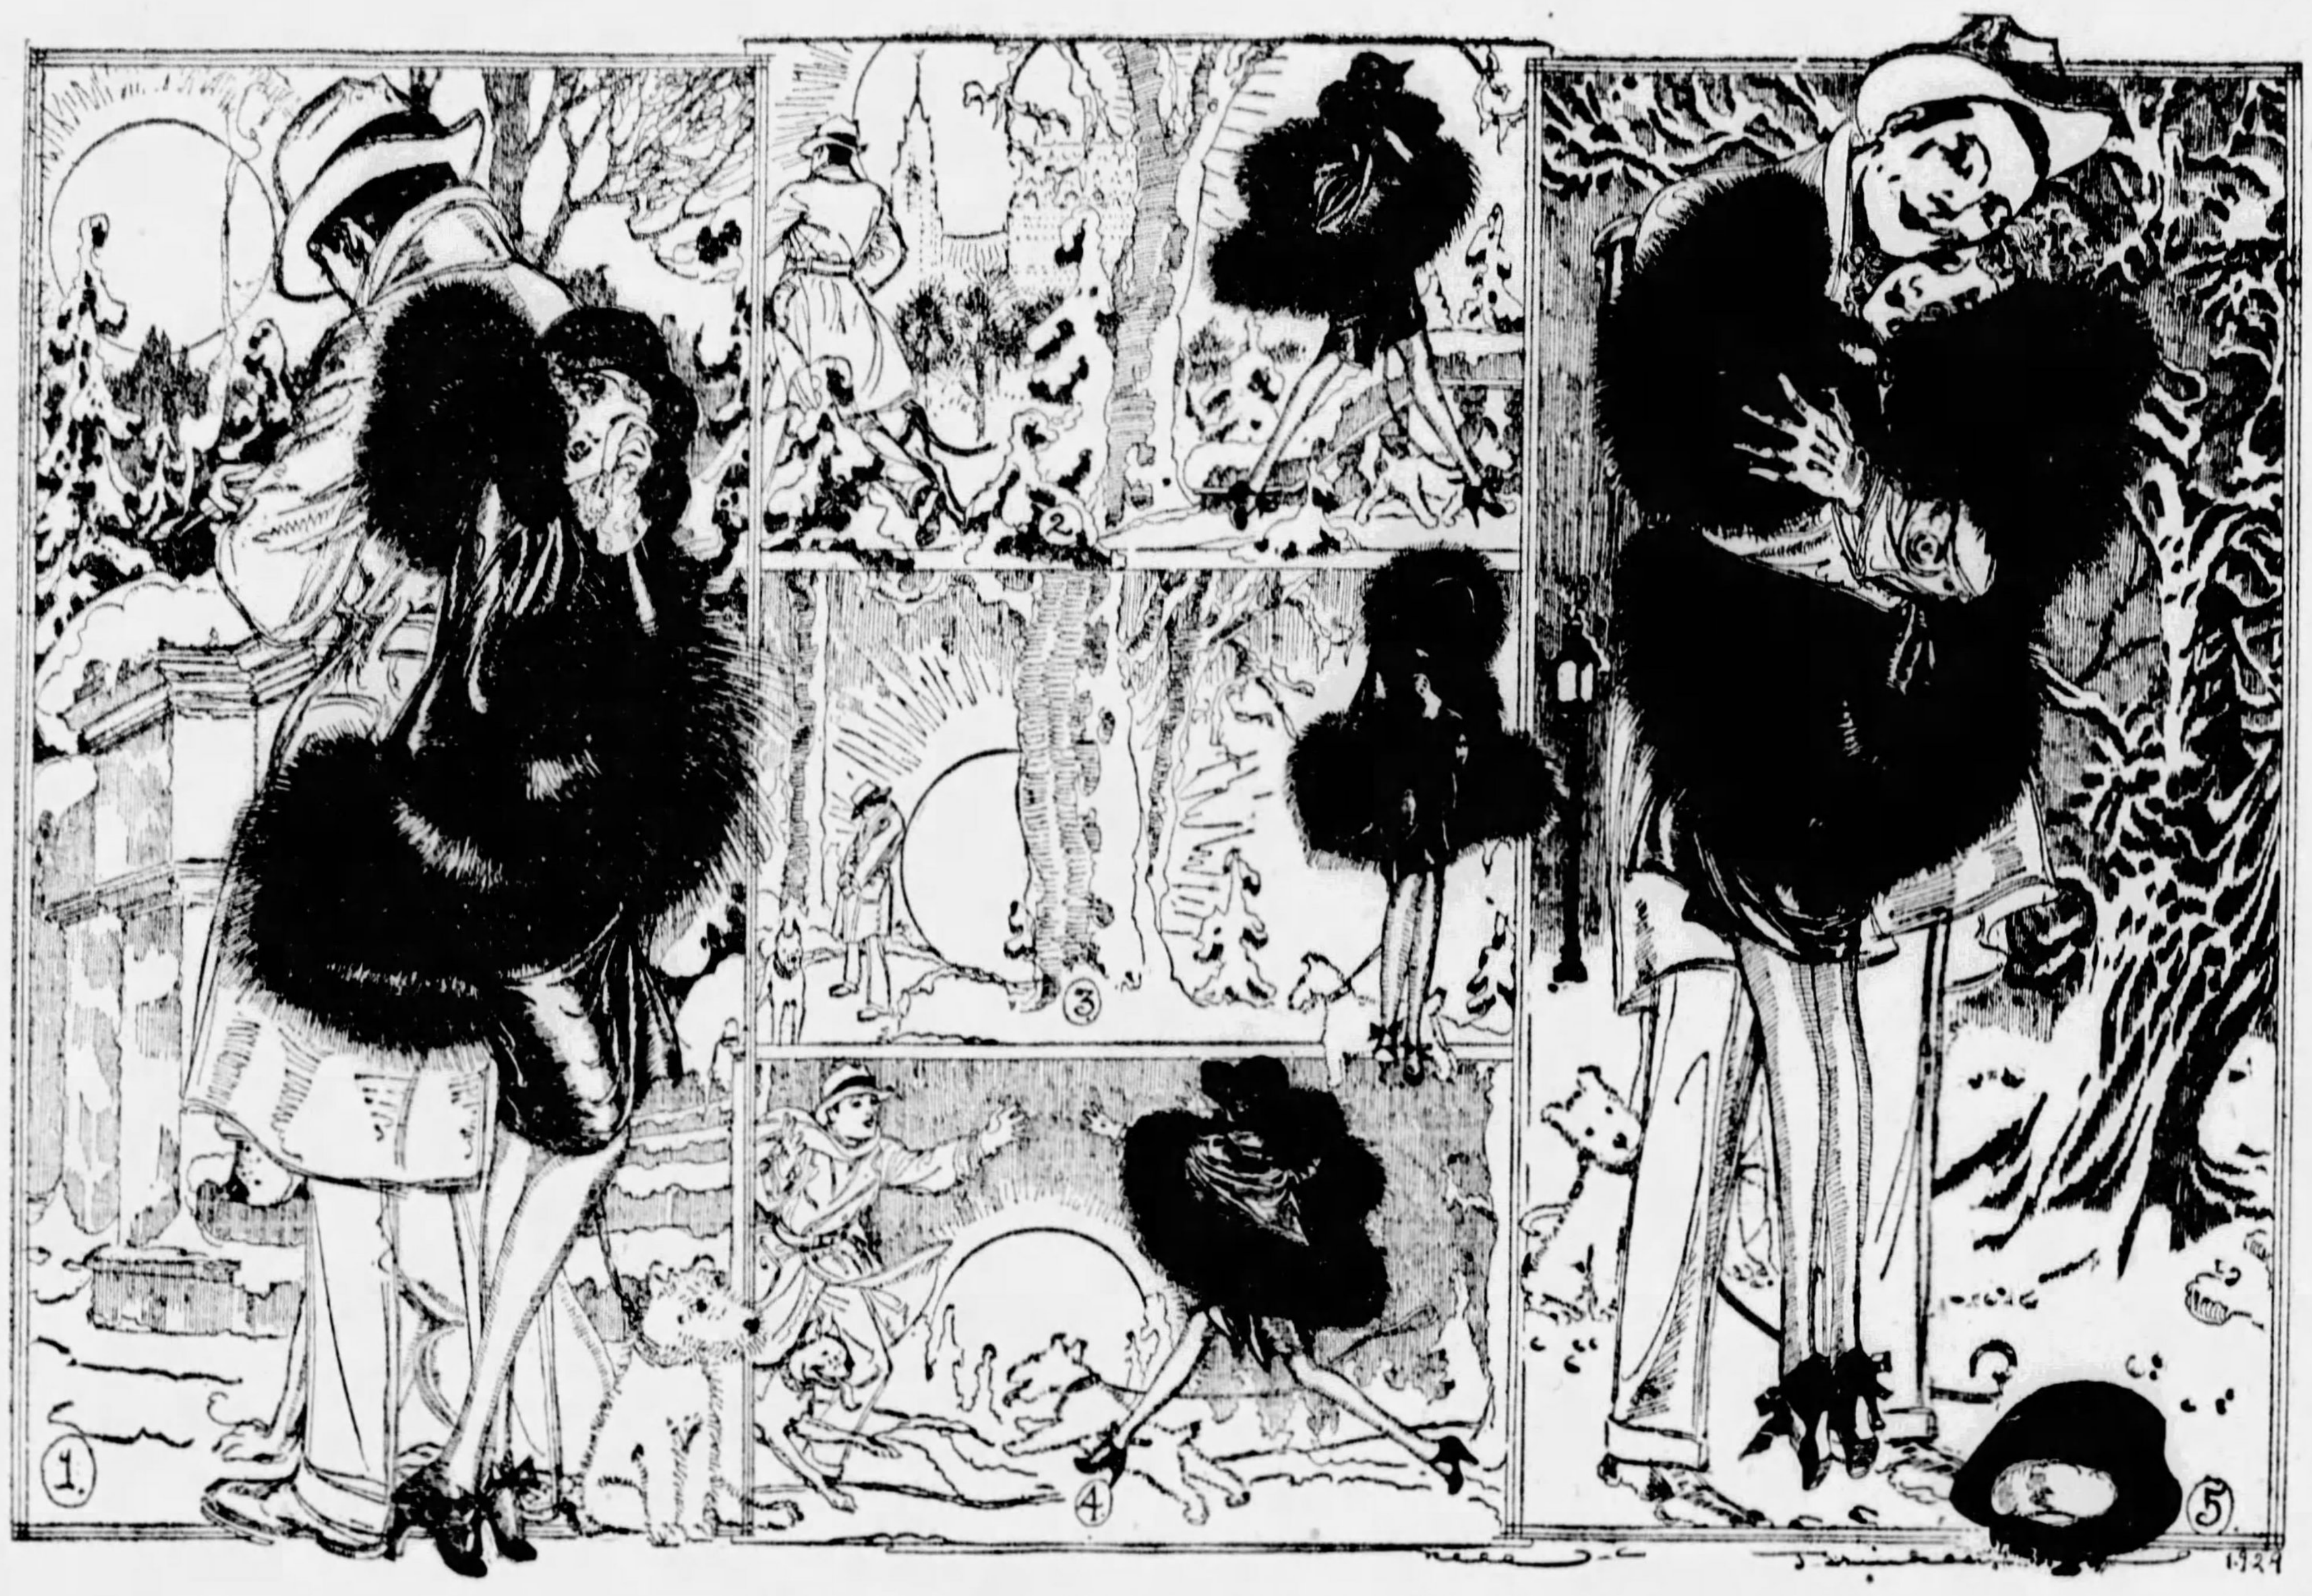
THE WORD "FOREVER" -:-

Drawn by
Nell Brinkley



"Sometimes it is but ten minutes long"

"FAREWELL FOREVER!" A few flaming words that begin with not—understanding, a black look or two, a hundred steps in a weighty silence, scowls and hot tears on a fragile handkerchief, and then, "goodby FOREVER! This is the last time you will ever see me!" Oh, much worn words.

Sung by sentimental poets; something about barks fleeing swiftly over foreign seas; thoughts "flying swiftly over the brine; adieu, false heart; one kind kiss before we part; souls being torn asunder; what, gone without a word; my native land, good night!" Chanted and groaned, too, from the stage in songs about fickle "pals and ladies."

Truly, to be sober, the world is full of parting; and Shakespeare made his heroes do it quickly, and his lovers in lingering anguish. Every friend you take to the station may grasp your hand for the last time. Each visit you make to the old people at home may never be made again. When you kiss the withered petal cheek and hug a gray head and climb on the train for work and the big town, you know quite well that it may be the last kiss, the very last caress. We know that—we feel the thought like a cold stone in our hearts sometimes; but we stick it away in the very bottom of the chest that holds unpleasant things and twist the key on it!

But lovers! They're the fellows that use "farewell forever" lightly. They play on it in tragic tones, and mean it not at all! But they think they do, poor children. "Forever" breaks their hearts, and looms like death; for they know it means a LONG, LONG TIME! But when they part for good, for forever, why it turns out to be for 10 minutes or so! At the most for a day.

Love just whispered in m'ear, "But a day can be FOREVER when you love!"

—NELL BRINKLEY.

Madge and Lillian Show How to Manage a Husband

THE luncheon which was served to us in the big white-paneled dining room of the Hotel Kelsey fully justified Lillian's encomiums, and under its spell my annoyance at Marion's childish behavior toward her stepfather, and my anxiety over Mary's strange frugality were materially lessened. After all, I told myself, they were but little more than children. We elders ought to be able to find some wise method of dealing with their vagaries.

"This is a special occasion," Lillian had said smiling indulgently at Mary and Marion when we had taken seats at one of the window tables, "so we'll choose the broiled chicken luncheon, if nobody objects. I know you all like chicken, and they do it very well here."

I agreed with her when, after we had been served with iced cantaloupe, followed by cups of delicious bouillon, the broiled chickens, accompanied by riced potatoes and tender young lima beans, were brought to us. A simple salad, ices, and cups of that rarest of all things, really good coffee, completed the meal. When we had finished, Dicky looked at Lillian and put his hand to his forehead in salute.

"I forgive you everything," he said. "I have lunched today."

"Yes, you'll probably be in a good humor for a whole half hour, at least," she told him witheringly, "so come upstairs and give the new apartment the once over while you're still fit for human society."

Dicky put up his hands, palms outward.

"Lay off, Macduff!" he parodied. "I'm yelling, 'Hold! enough!' already."

"I'll consider the proposition," Lillian said laughing, and their mock warfare ceased while we all went upstairs again.

"This appears to be the real thing," Dicky said when he had looked at all the rooms. "I fancy we can be very comfortable here this winter, don't you think so, Madge?"

Knowing the temperament of my Peter Pan, I stifled the enthusiastic assent upon my lips, and substituted a languid: "Oh, yes, as comfortable as it is possible to be in a hotel."

I knew that nothing would so fix his determination to take the suite, as this hint of disparagement, and I was not surprised when he turned toward me truculently.

"Well! Will you kindly tell me where in heaven's name you think you'd be more comfortable?" he demanded. "You know very well that with your work, you couldn't possibly run an apartment, and yet when something like this drops into your lap, you're ready to pick flaws in it."

I dared not look at Lillian for fear of betraying the laughter which I knew was as near her lips as mine. The lofty manner in which Dicky was ignoring the ultimatum he had given me about staying at the farmhouse with Junior for the winter, and giving up my work with Philip Veritzen, was irresistibly amusing. But I did not intend to tempt Fate too far. I had won conclusively in that important issue. I could well afford to adopt a more conciliatory attitude.

"Oh, I'm sorry, Dicky," I said in my very best manner. "I didn't intend to pick flaws at all. You know we'd both like an apartment better if we could have one, but as we can't I think this will be the very best substitute possible. And now, if you'll just tell me which room you'd like for yours, I'll be able to plan where to put our personal belongings when we bring them in."

"It doesn't matter," my husband returned promptly, and I saw that his natural courtliness had been bolstered by my apology. "You and Mary can choose first, or wait—if old Harry has the room next to their apartment, why wouldn't it be a good plan for me to take the one next his with the bath between, leaving you girls the other side of the apartment?"

"I think that's a splendid idea," I said demurely, with the mirthful consciousness that he had chosen exactly as Lillian and I had planned he should.

Wedding Gifts

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

When you receive an announcement of a wedding that has taken place, to whom do you address the gift? Mother says it should be addressed to Mr. and Mrs. John Albert, but a friend thinks it should be addressed to Mrs. Mary Scott Albert. Who is right?

2. Is it customary to write on the card?

3. At a dinner, when you have a married couple as guests, who should be at the right?

R. B.

YOUR mother is right. A married woman should never be addressed in the form "Mrs. Mary Scott Albert."

2. It is not usual nowadays for a message to be written on the visiting card that is enclosed with the wedding present. It is obvious when a present is sent at this time that it is a wedding present and that it brings with it the usual message of wishes-for-happiness.

3. The bride, who is the woman guest of honor, is given the seat at the right of the host. The groom, who is the man guest of honor, is given the seat at the right of the hostess.

Important Invitation

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please tell me if it is necessary for the bride to send one of her formal invitations to the groom's mother? Also, how should I invite the groom's in-laws?

A READER.

INDEED, the bride's family do send a wedding invitation to the mother of the groom. This invitation, to the groom's mother and father, if he has one, is the most important of all the invitations, since the groom's parents are the guests of honor of the wedding. That is why, incidentally, they sit on the right side of the aisle down which the wedding processional comes. This invitation should be most punctiliously addressed, and should be the first one mailed.

And an additional invitation should be sent to the relatives of the groom.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, January 25

A DAY of unusual commotion is heralded by the peculiar relations obtaining among the dominant planets. Although there is promise of a sudden opportunity or change of far reaching effect, and bespeaking many advantages, yet there also are hazards, delays, disappointments and even financial risks, possibly due to the necessary outlay of funds and other annoyances attendant on important change. With calm judgment and proper acumen, affairs eventually should thrive.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of unforeseen activities, with much upset and commotion attendant upon a radical change or travel. This may all be in connection with employment as well as with a romantic attachment. In any case, be prepared for delays, perplexities and some unusual outlay.

A child born on this day may have talents putting it in the genius class, nevertheless it may have a complicated character and have a spectacular career.

Be stirring as the time; be fire with fire, threaten the threatener.

to Try the Amazing Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique

Whitens Teeth 3 Shades in 3 Days!

Use the Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique for just 3 days. See your teeth really clean—fully 3 shades whiter! Then mark the difference in 10 days. You will never again say that sparkling white teeth are a gift confined to a fortunate few!

A Half-Inch on a Dry Tooth Brush

Kolynos is a highly concentrated, double-strength dental cream of unique germicidal and antiseptic properties. It is active in principle—foams in the mouth.

This means you can use it full strength; also that the brush bristles retain enough of their stiffness to properly scrub the tooth surfaces, penetrate the crevices between the teeth and the pits and fissures in the teeth, and to massage the gums. This is a 100 per cent measure for oral hygiene and only Kolynos affords it!

Removes the "Yellow"

The antiseptic Kolynos foam spreads itself all over the teeth and throughout the mouth. It dissolves and washes away the mucoid coating on teeth that "yellows" teeth and makes them look dingy. It cleans teeth down to the naked, white enamel.

The foam pushes its way into all the crevices between the teeth. It cleans out and disinfects these places where food particles lodge and cause decay. It combats tartar, destroys germs, bacteria and mouth acids and makes the whole mouth sweet and clean.

Bruceton Hit-Run Motorist Arrested

Martin Venorveski, 32, of Bruceton, was arrested today at his home by County Detective Michael R. Stabile and two Bruceton constables charged with having run down and killed George Miller, 17, Bruceton, and seriously injured C. Chepick, 18, of Snowden Township.

The accident occurred last night on the Cochran Mills road, between Bruceton and Broughton. Chepick is in the South Side Hospital with a fractured skull.

A broken handle on Venorveski's machine led to his arrest. After hitting the two boys, Venorveski, police said, kept going. Venorveski told Stabile he was about to give himself up when arrested. He said he did not stop because he feared friends of the two boys would stone him.

GASOLINE TAX INCREASE OPPOSED

Pittsburgh motorists and truck owners will oppose any movement toward increasing the gasoline tax.

Intimation by Gov. Fisher in the State budget that the addition of another cent to the levy on gasoline might be advisable in order to meet the expenses of the Highway Department in the maintenance of city streets and bridges have evoked emphatic protest. It is declared that this would mean a permanent tax of three cents a gallon on motor fuel and would constitute a burden on consumers.

The Pittsburgh Motor Club, through the Legislative Committee of the Motorists' Association of Pennsylvania, already has machinery set up in Harrisburg to oppose higher gasoline tax, it was stated today. C. H. Roth, secretary of the local club, recalled that officials of the State Highway Department last fall had broadcasted the fact that a big surplus fund was on hand.

"What has become of all this money?" asked Roth.

"Excessive gasoline tax is a hardship on owners of large fleets of trucks," said Frank L. Duggan, manager of the Consolidated Ice Company. "It must be remembered that many operators of trucks use the city streets almost exclusively and when the state does not allow municipalities to retain any portion of automobile license fees, it puts these truck owners in the position of paying heavily for the upkeep of rural roads which they seldom use."

Wins Praise

The quality of her acting as the Private Secretary in "The News Parade" is winning the praise of movie fans everywhere for this lovely newcomer to the screen. At home in New York City, hundreds admire her charming personality and she has fairly "set the style" on Broadway by the way she dresses her hair.

"The simple method I use in caring for my hair," says Miss Shea, "has been of great help to me in my motion picture work, where one's hair must always look its best. It's just the thing for busy girls, too, because it is so easy. Most of the girls I know in stage and picture work are taking it up as soon as they hear about it. All you do is put a little Danderine on your brush every time you use it. It makes your hair so easy to dress and holds it in place wonderfully. It's ideal for girls who are letting their hair grow. It keeps my hair and scalp so clean and comfortable. I don't shampoo half so often, now. It gives my hair such a silky, soft, lustrous appearance that all my friends comment on it."

Danderine removes the oily film from each strand of hair, restores its natural color, gives it more lustre than brilliantine. It cleanses and invigorates the scalp; helps overcome dandruff. It is delightfully fragranced; isn't sticky or oily; doesn't show. Waves, "set" with it, last longer. All drug stores have it, in generous 35c bottles.

Prohibition Agents Raid Downtown Club

Prohibition agents late last night raided a club on the third floor of a building at Third avenue and Market street and, they reported, seized two gallons of whisky. J. Goulon and W. P. Anderson were arrested. On a previous visit the Federal agents say they were kept out by barred doors while a quantity of whisky was emptied down a chute.

A 100-gallon still was confiscated last night in a raid, the agents allege, on a dwelling in the rear of 210 Bell avenue, McKees Rocks. Mash and moonshine was destroyed. No arrests were made.

Weather Conditions.

The high that covered the northern plains yesterday morning, and which threatened cold weather for this section, moved northeastward. This morning it is centered north of the Great Lakes, and covers most of Canada and the border states. It is now moving toward the North Atlantic coast.

Low pressure covers the southern half of the country, with its center in Texas and New Mexico. It is producing precipitation throughout its area, snow in the north and rain in the more southerly places. It is also causing rising temperatures throughout the Central valleys and the Plains states.

In the Canadian Northwest the temperatures range from 30 to 38 degrees below zero and low temperatures prevail in the border states and southward over the Rocky Mountains. Elsewhere the temperatures are generally normal or above.

River Conditions.

The rivers are falling slowly. Stage at Pittsburgh is 17.4 feet; Dam No. 2, 9.6, and Dam No. 6, 17.2. There is light ice running out of the Allegheny, coming from the smaller tributaries in the upper basin.

W. PA. CONVICTS PARDONED

HARRISBURG, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—A pardon was granted today to Howard Mottern, Jefferson County, who has been in prison since his youth for the killing of William Haines, father of Ernest Haines, a schoolboy chum, in 1916. The killing, it was charged, was done at the suggestion of the Haines boy who wanted his father's money. Haines was acquitted on an appeal a year later. The conviction of the boys started a campaign against capital punishment in the state. Nottern's sentence was commuted to life imprisonment and the Legislature was asked in 1917 to abolish capital punishment.

A pardon was granted to Antonio Lopez, Bethlehem, in whose behalf the government of Spain interceded. He was accused of felonious assault on Mrs. Carrie Foker. He will return to Spain.

Other pardons granted: Frank Parisi, Warren, statutory offense; Ray Miner, Erie, larceny; Tony Minkovitch, Indiana, voluntary manslaughter; M. A. Federinko, Indiana, larceny and forgery, and Antonia Palmese, Washington, statutory offense.

Refused: Joseph Finn, Blair, murder in the second degree; Peter and Joe Copson, Indiana,; Raymond Reynolds, Allegheny; Arnold Pinkerton, McKean; Andy Vatician, Butler.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

FATHA'S EXPERIMENT

By GUY SWARINGTON

"ERIC, I ——" Fatha Winslow hesitated, her dark blue eyes sober—"I can't decide whether I want to marry you or not. You have so much—an inherited business and position; plenty of friends. While Lloyd—"

"Seems to have what I want—your love!" Eric Foster's lean, reddish face was gloomy, though he spoke with the poise of his kind of southern gentleman. Generations of culture showed in the lines of his bony, muscular frame as he sat easily in his chair on the Winslow porch.

"No—I haven't said that." Fatha crossed her legs, her thoughtful gaze on the street slumbering in the dusty afternoon sunshine. "I do admire Lloyd for his gallant fight against odds."

The little town might have been asleep, save for themselves and some children on a distant lot. It was that hour of the afternoon when the life of such places pauses for a comfortable nod or gossip. Fatha's mother had gone to the Ladies' Aid. Fatha had stayed at home to conduct an experiment in the laboratory of her heart.

The girl was puzzled. She had the straightforward sense of fair play which told her she could not always keep two men dangling. Fatha did not object to marrying; even had alluring dreams of her own home and children. But the picture of the husband remained obscure. She fancied it would be one of these two friends, but which? Eric, big, blond, quiet, was pleasing enough. So also was the dark, dynamic personality of Lloyd Atkins.

At that moment Lloyd appeared, walking fast. He was late; but then he always walked fast. Fatha knew his coming at all was a compliment. It meant something that both these busy men had left their work to come calling on her. Lloyd Atkins toiled endlessly—had worked his way throgh school and college; was making himself a place in the business life of the town. Eric, for his part, was rebuilding the Foster timber and milling business, which his father had allowed to run down.

Lloyd turned into the walk that crossed the unfenced grassy yard, and mounted the steps. Seeing Eric rise, a little smile came into his dark eyes, even touching the firm line of his lips.

He looked at his watch, without undue significance. "I'm late. Sorry I was detained."

Lloyd sat down, smiling. If anything, his ease was a shade too pronounced. It hinted of the swagger of conscious effort. Eric remained standing, plainly a little puzzled and ill at ease.

Lloyd, who was never silent long, broke into the pause: "Eric, you might be interested to know what made me late. I was busy with some agents who had been buying stock in the Foster Mills for me."

Fatha glanced at Eric quickly, wondering what he thought. Was there malice in Lloyd's words? Was there any motive, beyond the desire to make conversation? She tried to shake off a vague uneasiness. Must not let this situation of her own making get beyond her control.

Eric looked rueful. "I've been buying back the stock dad sold as fast as I could. Sorry you bought it, Lloyd."

Fatha felt a twinge, a sensation hard to define. Did his mildness mean supine acquiescence? Wasn't he going to fight for his business—for her? Was he afraid?

"Why?" Lloyd was asking, a little sharply.

"I'd rather not be in business with a man who has beaten me in love," Eric said simply. "It may not be agreeable for either of us—"

"Eric!" Fatha felt strangely helpless. Control of the situation seemed to have slipped from her. She had not expected him to take so much for granted. Lloyd was staring delightedly. "But, Eric," she insisted, "I haven't said—"

Down the street a woman's scream was followed by a shot—strange sounds in that quiet village. An automobile was coming fast, and a man's voice yelled, "Mad dog!" The car drew near. Ahead of it trotted a dog.

The automobile passed him, its driver too excited to gauge distance. From its rear seat the town's chief of police fired at the dog again, raising a spurt of dust. The dog swerved towards the house.

Eric Foster stepped to the ground, strode forward and met the beast. Fatha gave one low cry, then waited, quiet and pale. The man turned, stooping, and grasped the dog with both hands around the neck from behind. Fatha could hear Lloyd breathing hard beside her.

The scene there in the yard had its little touch of tragedy. Eric lifted the dog, holding the kicking form at arm's length, while his powerful fingers shut off the animal's breath. Fatha watched, horrified yet fascinated, as the beast's struggles weakened until it grew limp and still. She hardly heard the car as it turned and came back.

"Poor fellow!" said Eric, dropping his burden. "He won't have to suffer any more."

"Of all the fool stunts!" said Lloyd Atkins, drawing out his handkerchief to wipe his face. "Showing off! Showed a lack of sense!"

"Yes, didn't it!" But Fatha's smile, though tremulous, was radiant. She stepped from the porch to Eric's side and touched his arm with an odd little air of pride. "I guess I'll have to take care of the idiot from now on!"

WAS RUN-DOWN; COULDN'T SLEEP

Pittsburgh Lady Also Had Stomach Trouble; Says Ten Herbs Did Wonders.

"Ten Herbs has done wonders for me," was the statement of Mrs. Walter Ludwig, 2817 Sherlock Street, North Side, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this famous new natural medicine to crowds of men and women of all ages and walks in life.

MRS. WALTER LUDWIG

"Before taking Ten Herbs I was badly rundown and could not sleep as I should," Mrs. Ludwig continued, "I had all the misery that usually accompanies a bad case of indigestion. Food did not digest properly. I always felt hungry, and everything I ate caused distress. I had terrible headaches, and my back ached all the time. Black spots appeared before my eyes. My side was so sore I could not go up or down stairs.

"Having read about Ten Herbs, I bought a bottle. It helped me so much I continued using your medicine for awhile. My stomach is in such good condition that I no longer have distress after eating. Pains have disappeared. I am free of headache, backache and that soreness in my side. I sleep well all through the night. Ten Herbs has benefited me so much I cannot speak too highly of your medicine."

Ten Herbs has been a blessing to thousands of men and women of this city and surrounding towns and countryside. The wonderful relief this compound has given young and old—sufferers with stomach, liver, kidney or bowel disorders—has caused it to be probably the most successful and widely discussed medicine that ever has been introduced in this section. Get a bottle of Ten Herbs today and see how much better it makes you feel.

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. He will be glad to tell you how to take it to get the best results.

Science proves what your taste has always told you!

IN an unrivalled environment of year 'round sunshine, invigorating air and sparkling mountain snow-waters is found the secret of the amazing wealth of flavor and health giving minerals grown-into California's luscious, juicy Sunkist Seedless Navel Oranges.

Science has proved through analysis that California Oranges are richer in the fruit-sugars and healthful fruit-acids (alkaline in reaction in the body) than oranges grown in other sections.

These fruit-sugars and acids give California Sunkist Oranges their added high-flavor and extra rich, full-bodied juice. Compare the deep, appetizing orange color of Sunkist Orange Juice with the paler juice of oranges grown under less favorable conditions. The contrast makes doubly plain to you what science has proved.

Firm, tender and juicy and high-flavored California Sunkist Seedless Navel Oranges are also universally preferred for desserts and salads. Easiest to peel—they slice thin and segment perfectly, without mussiness.

Sunkist Oranges are chosen from California's finest crops according to rigid standards. Your buying guide is the name "Sunkist" stamped on each tissue wrapper and on the skin—assurance of uniform quality.

Plentiful small sizes

Nature has grown a large crop of small-sized California Seedless Navel Oranges this season—as juicy, sweet and delicious as any of the larger ones you ever ate. These small oranges are unequaled for juice, containing all the qualities which have made California Sunkist Oranges world famous.

WIFE OF ACTOR HERE KILLED

Alexander Gray, of the cast of "The Desert Song," playing this week at the Alvin Theater, left the cast before last night's performance to claim the body of his wife, killed yesterday when an automobile she was driving crashed into a railroad signal lamp near Kenton, O.

Bernice Claire, who plays the role of Margo in the popular musical show, accompanied him to care for her brother, Earl Jahngen, who was driving with Mrs. Gray to Chicago. Jahngen, at first believed fatally injured, was reported much improved early today.

A third occupant of the car, Mrs. Russell Martin, of Akron, O., a "hitch-hiker," whom Mrs. Gray picked up on the road, was slightly injured.

According to Kenton police, Mrs. Gray, who was 25, drove to the top of a hill to find a railroad crossing half way down on the opposite side, and a fast train approaching. Slippery roads made it impossible to slow the car down. She swerved it from the road and crashed into a signal post.

MAN OF 79 GIVES LAVISH PRAISE TO KONJOLA'S POWERS

Modern Medicine Brings Quick Relief From Kidney and Bladder Troubles of Long Standing.

The health that this new medicine Konjola brings is permanent and sure. In cases that have defied all medicine and treatments, Konjola works with a sureness and quickness that surprise the sufferer. It has become the talk of the drug and medical trades wherever introduced. Rightly, it is called "the medicine with over a million friends." Introduced in Pittsburgh for the first time, it has already received the praise of hundreds of local residents. Vast numbers are calling on the Konjola Man at the McCulloch Drug Store, Penn Ave. and Sixth St., this city, to hear his personal explanation of the merits of this medicine. Here you will hear of its accomplishments, what it will do in cases that have defied all treatments and what it is doing every day for sufferers throughout this vicinity. What Konjola will do for you and what it has done for others are graphically described in a statement received from Mr. O. M. Ballard, 653 West Third street, Erie, Pa., who said:

MR. O. M. BALLARD

"My kidneys and bladder were so weak that I had to get up every night from six to ten times. The resultant loss of sleep weakened me generally, and soon my stomach failed to function as it should. My appetite disappeared, and what I forced myself to eat to keep alive was not digested. Pains, bloating and gas followed, and during such spells my backache increased in severity. I tried everything that my friends recommended without finding the slightest relief. When I was feeling at my worst I happened to see the many testimonials Erie people, many whom I know, were giving as to the wonders of Konjola and I made up my mind to see if it would help me. Truly, I had little idea that it would; I thought it was like all the other remedies I had tried without success. But there was a big surprise in store for me. Within a week my kidneys were practically normal, and I had to rise only once each night. My stomach has been totally made over, it seems, for I have a fine appetite and can eat anything without indigestion. Naturally with splendid rest at night and deriving benefit from my food, I am gaining in strength. I am proud of my strength and vigor at the age of 79, and I do not hesitate to give Konjola credit for my new health. I am glad to make this statement, believing that it will be the means of bringing sufferers to Konjola and renewed health."

Konjola asks just one thing—the privilege of making all who suffer well again. There is no magic, no mystery about Konjola. It is a Nature-remedy that goes directly to the ailing organs, purifying, cleansing, invigorating them. Soon their natural functions are restored, and health comes back. There is every reason in the world to believe that Konjola will help you as it is helping thousands who had given up hope.

Konjola is a compound made from juices of twenty-two different plants of Nature that are combined with still other proven medical ingredients, all scientifically tested and blended into a single preparation that acts on the stomach, kidneys and bowels. Konjola works with the sufferer's own food, assisting Nature to restore the inner organs to more healthy, normal action and to relieve the body of the agonizing aches and pains of rheumatism and neuritis. People throughout this entire section have reported such amazing relief from this remarkable remedy that it is believed no suffering person can afford not to try it.

The Konjola Man is at the McCulloch Drug Store, Penn ave. and Sixth street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, explaining the merits of this remedy with the astounding record. Free samples given.

WORDS, WORDS . . . . . . AND SOME DEEDS

Soon the air will be vibrating with such familiar euphemisms as these culled from advertisements of February Furniture Sales in other cities:

"GREATEST VALUES IN OUR HISTORY"
"ALL OUR FURNITURE ⅓ OFF"
"A SALE WITHOUT PRECEDENT"
"THE SALE YOU HAVE BEEN WAITING FOR"
"OUR ENTIRE STOCK AT 25% DISCOUNT"

That is tradition—and that is what many will expect and want to hear. But when the shouting and the tumult die, there is left the same melancholy procession of standardized furniture, the usual gesture toward "style," and promise of economy.

Kaufmann's has a year-round furniture business—far and away Pittsburgh's largest, but it was not built upon words. It takes a constant, year-round pursuit of the market to bring home the sort of values that will wake up this old town this February at Kaufmann's. Each business day of the year, this store has its scouts at the manufacturers' doors; each day our style and technical guides work directly with these manufacturers—planning and charting and estimating—often as far as a year ahead—that Kaufmann customers may find ever newer and smarter, ever finer and better furniture at lesser and lesser investment.

Quality! Smartness! Dependability! Value! And Variety at Every Price Range

—All of these components of a successful Furniture offering are here to bid you a hearty welcome—And tomorrow, as EVERY DAY in the year, is Furniture "Courtesy Day" at Kaufmann's.

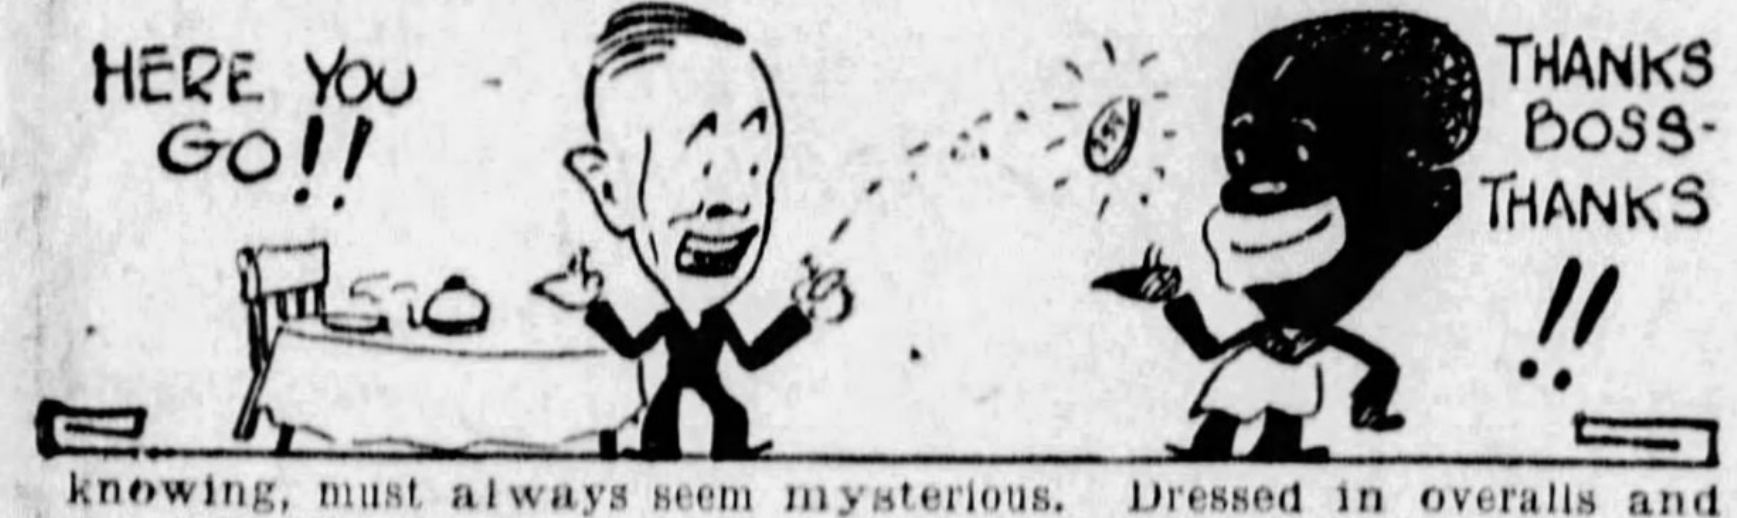
SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

IT IS an unofficial, but fairly large committee that meets the traveler as he steps off a train. Have you ever noticed the general surge that comes with the arrival of the westbound limited? At first a squadron of Red Caps, panting as the result of the chase, advances to the train. A pair of them selects the Pullman doors that are open. The Red Caps line up the bags as the porter passes them out. They then stand at attention ready to be pressed into service. The traveler is just about out of the car when a new delegation comes forward. These are men whose duties, to the unknowing, must always seem mysterious. Dressed in overalls and moving with the favorite crouch of Lon Chaney they seem to be looking for something under the cars. It appears their search is always fruitless, but disappointment never shows in their faces as they emerge.



HERE YOU GO!!
THANKS BOSS-THANKS !!

These same men then occupy themselves with examining small compartments, near the wheels. They lift a lid and shut it,

By this time you have reached the engine. The engineer and the firemen always seem to be curious about the passengers they have just brought in safely. A bandanna handkerchief is arranged loosely around the engineer's neck. A pair of goggles are on a blue-striped or black cap. Many grateful passengers would like someone to begin the custom of waving at the engineer because there is a bond, but the engineer watches and the travelers look up, but there is no outward sign of friendliness. A new group of Red Caps is met in the station, proper. Then come the taxicab greeters.

A train trip always emphasizes the various forms of service given. Of the many men engaged in work, where gratuities form an important part of their income, it is the guess here that colored waiters are by far the most appreciative class. In taking up the tip they don't have that air which says: "Of course, you are only doing your duty."

IN a Pittsburgh group of men in public and quasi-public positions Sam Jamison, former coroner of Allegheny County, was reminissing about early days at Harrisburg. Since as far back as 1890 Mr. Jamison has been visiting at Harrisburg during the sessions. He recalled when John Sweeney, the present magistrate, was at Harrisburg as an assemblyman. Mr. Sweeney, as you must know, from his days in Central Police Court, is not without wit and humor. Mr. Jamison says Mr. Sweeney had a little fun with a new member of the House. His desk was next to the new member's. Every morning Mr. Sweeney by some dexterity would place a roll of his own currency in his desk and then in the presence of the new member would open the desk, count the money, and put it into his pocket. After several weeks of this the new member began figuring he might be missing something. Each morning he had rather hopefully opened his own desk to find nothing but a pen-wiper. At last Mr. Sweeney's idea got over.

The new member asked him how it happened that the money was there every morning. "Just a way my friends have of helping out," said Mr. Sweeney. "But no one helps me out." "No, men from your county always get their little presents by keeping the transom of their hotel door open at night. Then the money is tossed through." That night, according to Mr. Jamison's climax of the story, the new assemblyman slept with door, window and transom open.

* * *

Assemblyman William Stadtlander then told of how he got a new member in bad. It appears that at the beginning of every session members make up a list of supplies they need—such as paper, pencils, pens, etc. A new member asked Mr. Stadtlander to make up his list for him. Mr. Stadtlander obliged, but he included in the list such things as: One radio, one Baby Grand piano, one automobile. The new member mechanically signed the requisition, without reading it, and did his ears burn when the man in charge of supplies came up to inquire just how in the you-know young members thought the state could furnish such things as pianos and autos to the legislators!

MOTHER WINS CUSTODY OF HER TWO CHILDREN

Custody of William Hall, 4, and his sister Alice, 3, was granted to the mother, Mrs. Vesta Hall, 417 Atwood street, by Judge Joseph M. Swearingen after a spirited habeas corpus hearing in Common Pleas Court yesterday. The father, Clarence B. Hall, a city employe, of 75 Greenbush street, Mt. Washington, brought the action.

Mrs. Hall testified that she took the children and went to her mother's home January 8 because of repeated beatings administered to her by her husband. The latter denied that he had ever struck her, but Mrs. Hall's mother testified she had seen her daughter with two black eyes at the same time administered by her husband. The wife said her husband became so abusive at times that she feared for her life. She was married at 15 and is now 24, while Hall is 34.

BLVD. UPKEEP STUMBLING BLOCK

A hitch may develop between the North Boroughs and the county over maintenance of the proposed Ohio River boulevard, it was indicated today.

County engineers are drafting agreement ordinances for presentation in the councils of Bellevue, Avalon, Ben Avon and Emsworth which provide that the boroughs shall bear the entire cost of maintenance. This, it is understood, does not meet with the approval of the borough authorities, who assert that the upkeep of the thoroughfare should be borne by the county.

A joint committee of officials of the boroughs has been named to confer with the county commissioners on the question.

"In Avalon we feel that a highway of through traffic, traveled by persons from all districts, should be maintained by the county," said Charles S. Newell, president of Avalon Council.

"As to lighting and policing, it probably would be well for the different boroughs to assume responsibility," asserted Mr. Newell, "but this does not hold good for maintenance. We were able to convince the county not long ago that California avenue in our borough was a general traffic artery, and the commissioners agreed to share the expense of repaving with the borough."

Representatives of other boroughs held that the expense of providing suitable connections with the boulevard and lighting would be burden enough without adding the cost of maintenance. Uniformity of maintenance could not be guaranteed, it was urged, as the different boroughs are not equally able financially to keep the highway in first-class shape.

Borough officials contemplate making a joint appeal to the county commissioners as soon as the agreement ordinances are introduced.

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.

It's hard to get money out of the Senate for anything, but for politics the Democrats bet Mr. Hoover twenty-four million dollars (of the people's money) that he couldn't enforce prohibition.

They are going to put the whole thing up to him by saying, "We give you plenty of money to do it."

That would be just like asking these Senators why they are not all great statesmen. We pay 'em enough money to be statesmen on. Watch Coolidge veto it.

Yours, WILL.

P. S. Some woman here in court yesterday said she had forgot whether she shot her husband or not. Suppose she intended to, but just got busy on something important and forgot it.

THERESE LAVIN

"Sweetest Baby in Penn."

For over 50 years, mothers, like this well-known Pennsylvania woman, have been telling each other about California Fig Syrup, and leading physicians have been endorsing it. Nothing else acts so gently and harmlessly to propel the souring waste from the delicate system of babies and children, which, when allowed to remain, keeps them cross, feverish, bilious, headachy, weak, with coated tongue, bad breath, broken-out skin, no appetite or energy. Its rich, fruity goodness helps to give tone and strength to their little stomach and bowels so they continue to act normally, of their own accord. It helps to build up and strengthen them—makes them active and happy.

"I have used California Fig Syrup with my little daughter since early babyhood," says Mrs. Joseph Lavin, 268 South 57th street, West Philadelphia. "Whenever she has a cold, is the least bit constipated or doesn't seem just right, I always give her a little, and it fixes her up quick. She's the picture of health, now, and friends say she's the sweetest baby in Pennsylvania. She has never had a serious illness, and I give California Fig Syrup full credit for it."

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

DRYS PUZZLED ON USE OF BIG FUND RAISE

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH.
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—What to do with the $24,000,000 prohibition appropriation, providing this sum eventually is authorized by Congress, is getting considerable attention from high treasury officials, it was learned today.

With the 21,000 pending dry cases in the federal courts made by the present enforcement machine of about 3,000 men, one official said that three times the appropriation should boost the untried cases to at least 60,000 in three years.

As to such funds as might be allocated by the President to the Coast Guard and customs there is no doubt how they would be employed. Officials said the customs border patrol would be expanded, port forces increased and that personnel and equipment of the Coast Guard would be built up to cope with the smuggling situation.

The few extra millions for prohibition enforcement proper, however, presents a puzzle. United States attorneys more than once have urged prohibition administrators not to bring in additional cases unless they involved major violations.

There is a growing belief that the new administration may take steps to dry up the District of Columbia, making the national capital a model from the enforcement standpoint.

Police Investigating Blast Preceding Fire

Police are investigating a mysterious explosion which caused the death today of Joseph Elianor, 30, 1320 South Negley avenue, in the South Side Hospital.

Elianor was burned about the face, hands and body. Damage to the house was estimated at $50.

Believing that a dog she saw in the street was one she had lost, Marie Ruppel, 13, of 300 Pace street, attempted to pet the animal late yesterday in Carver street, near Larimer avenue, and was badly clawed. The animal, leaping upon the child, tore her clothing and inflicted severe scratches on her hands.

Water Drinking Found to Slow Heart Action

AMES, Ia., Jan. 24—(AP.)—Tests conducted in the Veterinary Medicine Division of Iowa State College indicate that heart action is retarded by the drinking of water, according to Dr. C. H. Strange, dean of the division said today.

The tests were made on students and various other individuals with the aid of a phonendoscope, an instrument said to be more sensitive than the ordinary stethoscope. The time required for the surge of blood from the heart beat to the pulse throb has been ascertained by a set-up of delicate electrical instruments, the time being governed by the elasticity of the arteries.

Introduction of water in the body has a reflect action on the brain center and acts as a throttle on the action of the heart, doctors said.

PREPAREDNESS URGED IN S.A.R. SPEECH HERE

Declaring that it was "not peace at any price" in the days of the American Revolution and the World War, Ganson Depew, of Buffalo, nephew of the late Chauncey Depew, president general of the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution, attacked pacifists and ultra-communists who want "peace without defense," in his address before the annual dinner of the Pennsylvania Society, S. A. R., in the red room of the Keystone Athletic Club last night.

"It was not peace at any price that saved democracy during the World War," he said, "and while the Kellogg pact is a great international step forward, we should always be prepared to stave off the onslaught of warring nations. The Sons of the American Revolution should stand back of the cruiser bill now before Congress. War is not impossible at any time."

Harry F. Brewer, chairman of the committee on Americanization of aliens of the national society, recited that "Communists bought and paid for more airplanes for the Red Army last year than did the United States government for its Army, Navy and Marines—265 planes."

Col. Franklin Blackstone, senior vice president of the Pennsylvania society, was master of ceremonies, and John L. Walker, president of the society, was toastmaster. R. C. Schanck, director general of the national society, spoke on membership.

Dancing followed the dinner and speeches.

Building's Income To Train Leaders

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—A downtown building valued at more than $3,000,000 was presented to Northwestern University yesterday as an endowment, the income from which will be used to train business executives.

Frederick C. Austin, manufacturer and capitalist, was the donor of the West Jackson street building which bears his name. The annual income, it is expected, will reach $200,000.

A CHILD'S COUGH EASY TO STOP THE DOCTORS DECLARE

PARENTS SHOULD REMEMBER THIS

Any harmless cough remedy soon stops the coughs and colds of children because their little bodies throw off such troubles easily, provided they are not delicate and sickly.

But where am I to get something children will like to take is a big question. Cod Liver Oil is nasty and you must take it such a long time.

Here is the answer of doctors who know and love children: "Give the child 'Linonine,' a nice-tasting, creamy white, Flaxseed, Eucalyptus, etc., mixture, far better than Cod Liver Oil and quicker, too. The kiddies love it and it is as harmless and effective as can be.

Thousands of modern mothers keep a bottle always at hand for coughs, colds and to build up and strengthen the children this time of year. A cough is a nasty, dangerous thing for children. Well stocked druggists have Linonine, made by the nationally known Kerr Chemical Co., 50c or $1.00 sizes.

666 vs. INFLUENZA

To combat the flu, take 666 every three hours till it acts well on the bowels, then three times a day. As a preventive, take it two or three times a day. 666 was found to be one of the most effective remedies during the last flu epidemic.

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of this hamburg tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacupful at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and relieve grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

Mrs. W. N. Frew Among Pittsburghers Who Are Going West

NONE of us, I imagine, really enjoys wading through "sloshy" snow or slipping on patches of ice. But we can endure it with fortitude until we get letters from those favored-by-the-gods folks who can spend these winter months in summer-like climates, and with the friendliest intentions in the world rhapsodize about flowers and balmy breezes and surf-bathing. Somehow, thoughts about the Florida or Califorina sun make the north wind just a little more cold and piercing, don't they?

This is all just plain envy, though, and certainly no one can be blamed for spending snowless winters if he can. I told you a few days ago, I believe, about some of the local folks who are out in California. There are many others, of course, but one of the latest to migrate West is Mrs. William Nimick Frew, of Fifth avenue. Mrs. Frew left on Sunday night for California, and expects to return home, I understand, about March 1.

Speaking of Mrs. Frew, did you notice that two of her granddaughters are included in next winter's list of debutantes? One of them, Emily Frew, daughter of the William Frews, of Devon road, is studying in Paris just now, you know, and will make her bow on December 30. And her cousin, Virginia Frew Wright, daughter of the Thruston Wrights, of Shady avenue, is coming out ,too, although the date hasn't been set. Virginia is in Europe with her mother at present.

PERHAPS you would be interested, too, in knowing that some newcomers in Sewickley are occupying Mrs. Eleanor Scott Walker's house in Shields during her absence in California. They are Mr. and Mrs. S. Gail Landon, Jr., and they have just recently come here from Harrisburg, where Mrs. Landon is a member of the Junior League. Mrs. Walker and her children are going to be in California until June, I've been told, and the Landons will, naturally, remain in her house until then.

THIS week's calendar of social events can really not be dignified with the name, but it does include a couple of weddings, one of them the very small one set for today. This is the marriage ,of Luella Rinehart Marshall, daughter of the David Jones Marshalls, of Forbes street, and George Chalfant Kennedy, son of Mrs. Delmont Jones Kennedy, of the Schenley apartments, solemnized in the Marshall home by the Rev. Dr. John W. Hawley, pastor of the First Methodist Protestant Church.

MRS. GEORGE A. KELLY III

Mrs. George A. Kelly III, Dalzell place, attending the exhibition of Junior League craftsmanship being held this week in League headquarters, Woman's Exchange Building. She is holding a design called "heavy silk," made by Miss Margaret Cheney, San Francisco.

As I said, the guest list is a limited one, including only members of the two families, and there are no attendants. The young Kennedys are planning to sail tomorrow for Nassau, where they will spend their honeymoon, and they will be at home after March 1 in Waldheim road, Aspinwall.

A SMALL luncheon was given yesterday by Mrs. William Watson Smith in her home in Wilkins avenue for members of the Girl Scout Council of Allegheny County. Mrs. Smith's guest of honor was Mrs. Edward Vose Babcock, who is retiring as scout commissioner. Mrs. Babcock is being succeeded to the office of commissioner by Mrs. Charles L. Peirce, Jr., who has elected at the meeting held recently.

* * *

ANOTHER party of interest given yesterday afternoon was one of the final debutante affairs of the season. Mrs. Frederick B. Hufnagle, of Woodland road, Edgeworth, was hostess, entertaining at luncheon in the Duquesne Club for Jane Edson and Emily Stuart. All of this year's buds as well as the girls who came out last winter were guests, and after luncheon Mrs. Hufnagle took them to the Nixon to see "Porgy."

EUROPE seems to be attracting more than its usual quota of local folks. A group of girls, including Margaret McCrady, of Edgeworth; Juliet Hillman, Catherine Gordon and Mary Mellon McClung are leaving shortly for a trip abroad. They will sail February 1 on the Minnetonka for Cherbourg, and will spend three months traveling through France and Italy.

Also leaving soon for a trip abroad are Mrs. Charles J. Ramsburg and her two daughters, Margaret and Harriet. Mrs. Charles H. Patterson, of Backbone road, Sewickley Heights, gave a bridge-luncheon on Tuesday for Mrs. Ramsburg, I understand.

* * *

THE marriage of Miss Helen Irene Wimer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wimer, of South Linden avenue, and Thomas W. Kirk was solemnized yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the chapel of St. Bede's Catholic Church by the Rev. J. F. Enright. The bride wore ivory satin and tulle with a Colonial hat of the satin, and she carried white roses, orchids and lilies of the valley. Her sister, Miss Grace Cecelia Wimer, as maid of honor, appeared in turquoise blue net made with a tight bodice and full, ruffled skirt, and her hat was of blue tulle. The bridesmaids, Miss Lois Pauline Snyder and Mrs. Arthur L. McLaughlin, Jr., appeared in similarly made frocks of pink tulle with hats to match. They carried Dresden bouquets. James S. O'Keefe was best man and the ushers included James A. Kirk and Edward L. Keally. A breakfast at Webster Hall followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Kirk are taking an eastern trip and after February 15 will be at home in Penfield Court.

* * *

THE Nurses' Alumnae of the Ohio Valley Hospital, McKees Rocks, will hold a benefit card party next Wednesday night in the lodge room of the Sheraden Elks' Temple, Hillsboro avenue. Miss Mary J. Woods is chairman.

* * *

LEAVING Sewickley, too, are Mr. and Mrs. George Phelps Rose and their daughter, Lillian Henry Rose. They departed yesterday to spend the remainder of the season in Augusta, Ga., as they have done for several years.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. FRANK ELIHU WEDDELL, of Scottdale, announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Kathryn Virginia Weddell, to Dr. William Jay Fetter, of Pittsburgh.

* * *

A CARD party will be given in St. Bede's School Hall, Edgerton avenue, Monday. Mrs. Donald B. Bringham and Mrs. James P. Branagan are hostesses. Bride, "500" and euchre will be played.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. S. B. WEILER, of Denniston avenue, have made known the engagment of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Hexter Weiler, to Maxwell Apple, of Philadelphia.

MRS. CHARLES J. EGAN, her daughter, Miss Helen Egan, of South Negley avenue, are spending the winter with another daughter, Mrs. Frederick Richards, of Los Angeles.

There will be both old and new dances.

This Mrs. Coslowsky stated yesterday at the Congress quarterly meeting at which was elected the nominating committee which will chose the April ticket. The committee is Mrs. J. H. Lesley, chairman; Miss Alice Hall, Mrs. Erwin Sohn, Mrs. Robert T. Alexander, Mrs. W. C. Campbell, Mrs. George Price, Mrs. Robert K. Cochrane, Mrs. Joseph B. Drake, Mrs. Paul Diffenbacher and Mrs. H. D. Stark. At the morning session yesterday H. B. Mellor, of Mellon Institute, stressed the proper method of firing the home furnace in the interest of smoke abatement, Mrs. J. G. Chalfant, district chairman of club institutes for the State Federation, spoke on club ethics, and the coming club institute; Mrs. W. C. Campbell talked on the choice of a national flower (voting for which was done at the meeting); Mrs. Erwin Sohn, spoke on the value of radio to the small club and Mrs. R. W. Johnston reported the Cause and Cure of War Conference held recently in Washington. The Congress choral sang, directed by Earl B. Collins. After luncheon there were several soprano solos by Elsie Breese Mitchell, and an illustrated talk on "Utah-Arizona-Wonderland of Color," by Randall Jones. The slides which Mr. Jones showed were exquisite in their beauty, with coloring so little short of natural that one might well imagine them bits of the magnificent wonderland itself, a land which nature as architect, sculptor, painter and even cartoonist had created for America, out in the two big western states. Zion, Bryce and Grand Canyon National Parks were the material for Mr. Jones' cleverly presented and distinctly entertaining talk.

MAXWELL HOUSE COFFEE

BLENDED

IN the tropics of many lands hundreds of different kinds and grades of coffee beans are grown—as different from one another as are the people who inhabit different lands and climes.

Large smooth beans mild in flavor—scrubby little beans sharp with acid—medium-sized beans, rich and pungent—each has its special excellence, yet no one alone is quite satisfying to the cultivated palate.

So thought a coffee expert down in Dixie years ago. Bred in the South's tradition of good living, he had a talent for flavor. He knew all the choicest kinds of coffee and they all seemed to him tantalizingly just not quite perfect.

So he had the happy inspiration to create a new coffee flavor. Months and months he worked, selecting, rejecting, combining, re-combining, the finest types of coffee, until at last he achieved a blend of such rich and subtle harmony that it delighted even his critical taste.

Distinguished guests at the celebrated old Maxwell House in Nashville, where this coffee was first introduced, pronounced it the finest they had ever tasted. "Good to the last drop," one of them called it, draining his cup with keen relish. They wanted it to serve in their own homes; they spread its fame abroad, until Maxwell House Coffee has become the best known and the most popular coffee in the whole United States.

"The Old Colonel," as he is known to his friends, has reason to be proud of the achievement of his youth. Today, from coast to coast, Maxwell House is the fine coffee preferred by America's leading hostesses, served daily in millions of America's foremost homes. It is pleasing more critical coffee drinkers than any other coffee ever offered for sale.

You will want your own family to enjoy every day this particularly rich and mellow coffee. You will want it to serve to your guests. Your grocer has Maxwell House Coffee in the blue-wrapped tin sealed to preserve all its fine fragrance and flavor.

WOMEN M. P.'S CLASH ON AID TO MOTHERS

LONDON, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Three women members of the House of Commons engaged in a lively clash during consideration of the derating ball yesterday.

The Countess of Inveagh, Conservative, denied that the government was curtailing assistance to maternity and child welfare services.

Miss Ellen Wilkinson, Labor, thereupon said it ill became "a lady who is herself a millionairess and can secure for her children every possible care to oppose in effect the extension in every possible way of maternity and child welfare services."

Lady Astor took up the cudgel for her fellow Conservative by asking:

"Would it not be as reasonable to say that because you are not a mother you have no right to talk about children?"

The chairman endeavored to close the incident, but Miss Wilkinson declined to be stilled. Lady Astor's remark, she said, could be used against every man in the House.

NEWSBOYS WHO SELL THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH IN EAST PITTSBURGH

SUN-TELEGRAPH BOYS PROSPER

If any persons have been led by the talk of "protection for newsboys" to imagine that the youngsters who deliver and sell the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph are abused and downtrodden, a visit to the East Pittsburgh News Company, 810-812 Wilson way, East Pittsburgh, any afternoon or Sunday morning would quickly alter their ideas.

They would find there, awaiting their papers, as jolly and prosperous a crowd of newsies as may be found anywhere. And they are typical of all Sun-Telegraph newsboys.

WAGES SATISFACTORY

The Sun-Telegraph gives the youngsters all the protection that they require. They request nothing further than that people continue to take the Sun-Telegraph from them. Their wages are satisfactory, their working conditions good, they said.

Thirty boys are attached to the East Pittsburgh News Company, of which L. P. Trimbur is manager. These lads handle the Sun-Telegraph alone, of the Pittsburgh evening and Sunday papers.

$22 WEEKLY

One of them, Marty Antis, 16, of 537 Franklin street, makes $22 a week, selling papers on the street. He is a sophomore in the East Pittsburgh High School, and hands out Sun-Telegraphs to Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company employes as they leave the plant in the evening.

Edward Sweadner, 16, of 316½ Howard street, a junior in the East Pittsburgh High School, makes $4.50 a week. He works only five days. On another day he takes banjo lessons, paid for out of his earnings.

Frank Patton, 16, of 537 Sunnyside avenue, a sophomore in East Pittsburgh High, makes $9 a week, and puts $2 in the bank.

ASSIST MOTHERS

Stephen Regrut, 15, of 536 Franklin street, a freshman in East Pittsburgh High, makes $6 a week. Walter Burcoskey, 16, of 508 Center street, another freshman, also makes $6. Both these boys give a large part of their earnings to their mothers.

Alexander Markum, 13, of 516 Franklin street, an eighth grade pupil, makes $2 a week, and puts it all in the bank. William Narey, 14, of 428 Howard street, also makes $2 and also deposits it in a savings account.

Joseph Perriello, 14, of 1008 Maple way, Braddock, an eighth grade boy, makes $8 a week. He helps pay the household expenses in his home.

La Follette Statue For Hall of Fame

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—A nine-foot marble statue of the late Robert LaFollette to be placed in the Hall of Fame at Washington, has been brought to this country by Jo Davidson, American sculptor, who completed it in his Paris studio. Davidson was commissioned to execute the statue by the state of Wisconsin three years ago.

The "beauty diet" that made her ugly

SHE was one girl who was going to stay attractive—so she watched her "beauty diet." She shunned this and sought for that and compared each day's complexion in her mirror. But in the dishes she so carefully selected there was scarcely any roughage. Constipation gained a foothold Soon, her charm—the very youth she thought to protect—was paying the price!

Thousands of women and men are paying the price of soft, fiberless meals. Many are dieting—some for overweight, some for underweight, others for better complexions. And yet they defeat their own purposes because constipation continues to poison the system. No other evil is more widespread. It may start with aching heads and blemished cheeks. It often ends with serious trouble and disease.

And more's the pity when it can be so easily prevented by means of a simple cereal. So quickly relieved. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring sure relief . . . safe prevention!

ALL-BRAN is 100% effective

It is roughage that prevents constipation. ALL-BRAN is practically all roughage, or bulk. This bulk carries moisture throughout the digestive tract. Exercising it, sweeping out poisonous wastes. Part-bran products seldom contain enough bulk to be completely effective. Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN. It is 100% bran. It accomplishes results part-bran products cannot hope to equal.

Beware of drugs!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is infinitely better than habit-forming pills and laxatives, whose dose must be constantly increased. A naturally healthful cereal! To enjoy with milk or cream. Delicious with fruits or honey added.

Use it in cooking too. Recipes on package. Mix it with hot cereals. Sprinkle it into soups. Just eat two tablespoonfuls in some form daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Its regular use will protect your family from the dangers of constipation.

Insist on genuine Kellogg's—the original ALL-BRAN. Sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, restaurants, cafeterias. On diners. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Guaranteed!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Nancy Dean, golden-haired, dark-eyed, who has lived her 18 years with David and Margaret O'Day, foster parents, in Washington, learns she is the granddaughter of the wealthy and aristocratic Montgomery Deanes in Pittsburgh, who disinherited her father and do not even know of her existence. Through John Blair, an upstanding young man, she has learned to admire, she secures a letter to Howard Wescott, manager of the Wear Ever Mills in Pittsburgh. On the train she meets Ginger Varden, a style model who takes her to her boarding house and introduces her to her friends. One of these, Vic Flemming, makes love to her and asks her to marry him. She finally securs a job in the knitting mill where Wescott, attracted by her beauty, offers her a place in the office. She is naively delighted, but both Ginger and Vic characterize Wescott as a "big bum." That same evening while Vic, Jerry Durant, Ginger and Nancy are dining and dancing at the Golden Pheasant, Wescott comes in; Vic picks a quarrel and they have a rough and tumble fight and are arrested. The papers are full of the episode; Ginger hails it as good publicity and insists on getting Nancy a job at modeling with Ziegelbaum, her employer. Mrs. O'Day, in alarm at the paper's account of the fight, telephones to Nancy, who reassures her. When Wescott sees Nancy the next morning he acts as though nothing has happened, takes her to lunch to the country, shows jealousy of Vic Flemming and kisses Nancy. She laughs at him and he is greatly astonished. She feels drawn to Wescott and confides in him her story all except the name of her grandparents. He wonders who they can be, but she begs him not to try to discover.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XVI.

AS Howard Wescott's car swung off of Fifth avenue Nancy looked at her wrist watch. The watch, with its leather strap, was a Christmas present from Mrs. O'Day the year before. The hands pointed to 3. Three hours for lunch, the very first day she started to do office work, was pretty generous treatment, it occurred to her; and it probably would take 15 minutes more before they got through the traffic to the factory.

She was wondering what kind of an expression Harriet Crosby would wear when she entered with "the boss" at that hour. She wondered if Howard Wescott would be bold enough to drive right up to the door with her in his car, help her out, and walk into his own private office with her, past the hundred or more clerks, stenographers and bookkeepers in the outer office.

The thought amused her. The tender and sympathetic treatment Wescott had accorded her that day seemed to make her feel safe. For the first time she began to really, truly feel the "independence" she was trying to school herself to acquire.

"Let them think what they want to," she decided.

Then she felt a delicious happiness at the thought of what Howard had said to her in the cafe of The Chalet. He had said that her hair was glorious, that he knew there was something different about her. He had kissed her. She could still feel the pressure of his lips against her cheek. She had protested against it, but the memory of it filled her with a sort of glow.

Nancy didn't know whether or not she was in love. She had never truly been in love before so she didn't recognize the symptoms.

Howard Wescott, sitting beside her, handling his car so expertly, was her opposite, physically, in every respect. He was as dark as she was blonde. He was dashing, aggressive, fearless, while all her life Nancy had been compelled to restrain herself to deny expression to her emotions. She knew too well that when one has wealth one can do without criticism many things that are aggressive, dashing and fearless.

All these qualities had been suppressed in her. Now she had found a man who had never known any suppression, any fears. If he wanted a thing he took it, disregarding the consequences. It may have been that she was subconsciously aware of these things, and that her subconscious mind suddenly opened up a new world to her.

Neither had spoken for some time. Nancy's refusal to say anything but "no, no" to every guess as to her grandparents' home, had set him thinking, evidently. Nancy glanced over and saw a half smile on his lips.

"A penny for your thoughts," she said.

"I was thinking that I shall never be satisfied until I find out who you and your grandparents really are," he answered. "I think I'd like to place you back in your natural setting."

"Mr. Wescott, if I discover you are making any such effort I'll leave your office and the city immediately," she replied, "the day may come when I'll tell you who these people are, but I'm not ready now. I want you to promise you'll never mention the subject again. Please."

It was Nancy's turn to say, "I want," and she said it with such a tone of sincerity and finality that the quizzical smile died on Wescott's face. He looked down at her quickly. On her face was such a little scowl of decision that he said:

"Whew, but aren't you a fierce little devil when you want to be."

He changed the subject. They were getting down into the rooming house district just north of Craig street.

"By the way, where is it you live?" he asked, "I might as well drive you right home and I'll go back to the office. You can call it a day and tomorrow you'll be fresh as a daisy to learn all about your new job."

His words seemed too good to be true, but on second thought Nancy wondered what the sour Miss Crosby would say next morning. She asked that very question of Howard Wescott.

"What will Miss Crosby say?"

"Never you mind what Miss Crosby says. She's my secretary and it's a secretary's first duty to keep her mouth shut and mind her own business. Miss Crosby is an efficient machine. A very good secretary. That's all I ask of her."

How dense men are about some things, thought Nancy. Why, she hasn't been in the office an hour before she knew that under Harriet Crosby's stiff efficiency and her plain business clothing, almost too obviously, business, there was a mad longing to have a man like Howard Wescott pay attention to her. Nancy knew that Harriet was in love with Howard Wescott if ever a girl was in love with any man.

"All right then," she replied, "I'll leave Miss Crosby and any busybodies in the office to you. I know there's gossip in every office and that the eyes of every girl from the littlest messenger up, are on you all the time, though you may not be aware of it."

The words were hardly spoken when she regretted them. Yet Howard Wescott didn't pay particular attention to the flattery.

"You haven't told me where you live yet," he said.

As the car drove up to The Carmondy, Ginger Varden came down to get her mail. Her expression when she opened the door and saw Howard Wescott's roadster, and Nancy in it, beside him, was a picture Nancy never forgot. As Nancy glanced up she also saw the bulky form of Mrs. Carmondy behind the long, old-fashioned lace curtains that covered the parlor windows. Ginger had warned Nancy that the old lady was always interested in her roomers' beaus, having had four husbands herself.

"Oh Ginger, I'm so—"

The words died on her lips before the expression that was on Ginger's face.

"Ginger, what do you mean?"

"Let's not talk here, come on upstairs," said Ginger, and Nancy somewhat crestfallen, began to follow.

Once they were in the room Ginger turned. "That was Howard Wescott, wasn't it?"

"Yes, but what of it?"

"I thought you were workin' in his office, not riding around with him in the middle of the afternoon."

"I AM working in his office. You see it was this way—"

Nancy related the events of the day, how Westcott had invited her to lunch because he had something important to tell her, and how it grew so late that he decided it was useless for her to go back to the office. The story seemed to amuse Ginger greatly, though Nancy suspected there was no real mirth in her laugh.

"Now see here, Goldie Locks. I wasn't born yesterday. I've been knocking around and modelin' just long enough to read men, and I can give you a wager right now that Howard Wescott isn't takin' you for a ride in his big car, and to lunch at the Chalet the first day you're workin' for him for nothin'.

"That guy is handsome and rich. He's a regular movie actor. But I tell you a girl pays for everything she ever gets from his kind. I know the type. I've met 'em before."

Ginger lighted a cigaret and handed the package of cork-tipped imports to Nancy. Hardly before Nancy realized it she had lighted one of them and was puffing away, nervously. How easy it was to cultivate smoking. She watched the curling clouds blow first this way and that, wondering what Mud O'Day would say if she could see her.

"Oh a gentleman, all right, if fine manners and manicured fingernails and a house on Fifth avenue make a gentleman," Ginger replied, "but remember a gentleman is a man, too, and they're just about all alike, only when they're rich they're more so. If you get what I mean. Understand, I'm not objectin' to your playing around with Wescott if you want to. I'd do it myself, only I'm wiser. Can't you see, kid, that I'm only tryin' to wise you up. I don't want any broken butterfly on my hands, that's all. I'm just going to see you don't get that way if any warnin' I can give is goin' to do any good."

Ginger began to repent her sharp words and jerky reception of Nancy, and in a moment, impulsive and changeable as she was, she had her arms around her and was begging forgiveness.

"I don't mean anything, kiddo. But it was just a kind of shock even to hard-boiled me to see you driving up to The Carmondy with one of the richest and best-looking guys in town right in the middle of the afternoon. Why, I thought for a minute that you was going to bring him up here. And me in these rags."

"These rags" consisted of a pale blue georgette dressing gown, heavily trimmed with ecru lace. Nancy wasn't so much of a country girl that she didn't know how much a garment like that cost.

Then Ginger remembered something. Her face lit up and she clapped her hands together in a manner almost childish, which belied her sophistication and the "hard boiled" reputation she had just given herself.

"Say, kiddo, how would you like to go modelin'", she asked, her eyes reflecting more enthusiasm than Nancy had yet seen in her.

"Old Ziegelbaum is going to give some style shows in some of the upstate towns. Don't know what theater we'll be playing in your little old home town, Washington. An' Zieglebaum's asked me to hunt him up a couple of more models. Right away I thought of you and told him I had a peachy girl in mind. Of course I told him you had some experience——"

"Me?"

"Yes you. I'm going to give you a few lessons on how to trail the glad rags before the dear, dear dowagers, and you needn't let on to Ziegelbaum you're as green as you really are. Say, with your form and slim figure, and that yellow hair of yours, you'll be a wow! And it ain't every girl I'd be doin' this for. To tell you the truth I'd be so d——jealous of some girls with that hair of yours, an' your looks, that I wouldn't give 'em a drink if they was dyin' of thirst. But you're different.

"Somehow, kiddo, I can't feel jealous of you. You're so darn sweet, all I want to do is to help wise you up to things so you can take care of yourself."

Nancy looked at Ginger's overpainted mouth and her too frizzy hair, her trailing, flimsy dressing-gown. How many times she had seen just such a character in the movies, a gold digger, with a heart of gold, too, if anyone ever could get to the real heart of a gold digger.

The thought of being a model, wearing gorgeous wraps and expensive furs in her own home town, made Nancy feel dizzy. She could see herself as a model and imagine the gossip she would cause if suddenly, only a week or so after she had left her little cottage on Maple avenue, she should return as a model in the city's leading theater.

She could see how the neighbors around the O'Day cottage, Mrs. Hoolihan, the Simpkins sisters, spinsters, old Mike Doody, and the prim Prescotts would receive the news. They would have her branded in no time. She thought of them all, and of the girls and boys with whom she had gone to school. They were in college now. She thought of the snobbery of some of those same girls and boys, how they had dropped her when she went to work. It made her angry to think of them.

Nancy had felt so many new urges lately that she was not entirely surprised at the feeling of impishness that came over her as Ginger waited for an answer.

"It'll make you, kiddo, give you a start in the cold world," Ginger insisted.

"But what can I do about my job in Mr. Wescott's office?" Nancy asked. "Why, Ginger, I've just got the job."

"Say, girlie, you can fix that easy if you've progressed as fast with Wescott as I think you have. Just work him to let you off early on the nights of the style shows, say about three in the afternoon. I know Wescott's kind. You can get anything out of him, for his price. Only you get what you want and don't pay the price. I'll show you how to do that, too. Vic will drive us up to the towns where the shows are being held. They only last about an hour and a half, and we can get back in Pittsburgh by midnight most every night.

"Say, no one every goes to bed until after midnight anyway. It'll be all hotsy-totsy. A girl can do anything she wants to if she works it right. An' you got to work Wescott. Say, the way he was lookin' at you when you got out of his car, he'd eat out of your hand. Get me, kiddo?"

"Do it, do it!" whispered the imp in Nancy's ear. "You've got to seize every opportunity to get along. Mud and Darry are poor, have always been poor. Why don't you make some money and buy them a few comforts?"

"I'll do it," Nancy said to Ginger.

LOVE

At last, a man has told the truth about love. He has done it in a novel which is absolutely honest.

Honest about what attracts man to woman, what goes on in the man's mind while he loves, what when he is unfaithful to his love. Honest to an extent that no man ever before has been even in a talk with his closest friend.

Only a man who had the rugged sort of courage that could survive the suppression of a novel like "Sister Carrie" and forge on undaunted to the fame that came with "An American Tragedy" could have done it.

The novel is called "This Madness," and in it Theodore Dreiser reveals the impulses and the results of love with a candor that will surprise you, may shock you, but will so impress you that you'll never forget it.

"This Madness" begins (as a serial) in February Cosmopolitan which is now on sale.

PIRATES BATTLE CHAMPS TONIGHT

SPORT COMMENT

DREYFUSS' WORLD SERIES AIDE DEAD

FRANKIE FREDERICKSON'S insistence that he be allowed to appear at his usual post in the Pittsburgh hockey lineup against the New York Rangers tonight, despite a severely gashed face that would keep most players out of action for an extended period, shows that he possesses the gameness and never-give-up spirit of a real star in addition to all the sterling playing qualities that he has shown since he came to the Pirates from the Boston Bruins in exchange for Mickey MacKay and a huge roll of currency.

Frankie Frederickson.

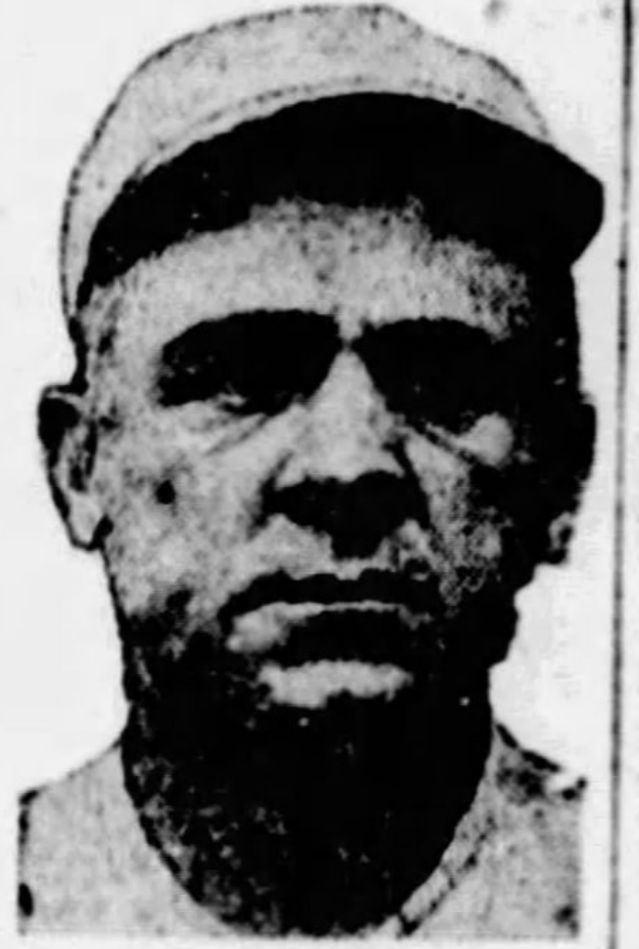
There is no question that the Bucs will be stronger with Frederickson back on the center job tonight than if Manager Odie Cleghorn were to send a reconstructed team on the ice. To see how valuable Frederickson has been to the Pirates you have only to look at the scoring record of the club since Frankie came here from Boston. Prior to that time, the Cleghorn skaters scored only six goals in their first 12 games, but in the 13 games that they have played since Frederickson reported they have driven the puck into the net a total of 22 times.

THAT spells almost four-to-one improvement. If the Bucs had scored nearly as many goals in their first 12 games as they registered in their next 13, they probably would be in front now. Incidentally, the National League scoring statistics sent out from league headquarters appear to be giving Frederickson the worst of it as far as his own individual record is concerned.

The league figures credit Frankie with three goals and one assist as a Bruin, and with the same record as a Pirate. That gives him a total of only eight points for the season, which does him an injustice, for as a matter of fact he has made 11 points—six goals and five assists.

FREDERICKSON'S published figures of three goals and one assist for Boston are correct, but as a Pirate he has been gypped out of three points. On December 22 he scored the winning goal against Toronto; on January 10 he made an assist to Darragh against Detroit; on January 12, he made an assist to Holway against Ottawa; on January 13, he scored Pittsburgh's only goal against Chicago; on January 19, he made an assist to Milks against Detroit, and on January 20 he scored one of Pittsburgh's two goals against the Rangers and made an assist on the other.

The corrected record, giving Frederickson the three extra points to which he is entitled, makes Frankie not only the leading scorer of the Pittsburgh club for the season, counting in his Boston figures, but gives him sixth place among the leading scorers of the entire American wing of the National League.



John McGraw.

FEW other major league baseball managers have done as much pruning as John McGraw during the last year. Since his squad reported for practice in the spring of 1928, the Giant skipper has dropped almost a score of old and young players, including Aldridge, O'Doul, Harper, Mann, Barnes, Taylor, Clarkson, Levy, Faulkner, Johnson, Mangum, Jahn, Spohrer, Klinger and Cantwell. "As a result of this house cleaning, McGraw will not have to do as much experimenting this spring as usual. He knows just about what all his men can do, and with the exception of second base, has a good idea as to how his team will be made up to start the season

IN THE natural course of changes in the affairs of the Amateur Athletic Union, Pittsburgh has lost the chairmanship of the National swimming committee of that organization. John T. Taylor, of this city, secretary and treasurer of the Allegheny Mountain Association of the A. A. U., withdraws as National swimming chairman in favor of Frank Blankley, of Chicago. The action of President Brundage in appointing a man from his own association and city is looked upon as only a natural step.

John Taylor retires with a great record as swimming chairman. He put in six years of hard work on the job, and the fruits of his labors and his able administration are to be seen in the improved conditions everywhere in the swimming branch of the A. A. U.'s activities. There are to be chairmanship changes on other National committees, but the new appointments have not yet been announced.

AT AN age when most managers of boxers are ready to curl up in an easy chair and call it quits, James (Red) Mason, who has handled such notables as Jack McClelland, Buck Crouse, Harry Greb, Eddie Kennedy, Young Ziringer, Johnny Ray and many others in his time, still finds himself young enough in spirit, if not in years—he is past the 60 mark—to take under his wing a youth just out of the amateur ranks and wax enthusiastic about the lad's future.

The latest addition to the Mason stable is Sammy Paris, another Jewish ring product of the Hill district, who won the junior bantamweight championship of the Allegheny Mountain Association of the A. A. U., recently and then turned professional, with Mason, admittedly one of the cleverest fight handlers in the country, to guide him.

Sammy Paris.

PARIS made his first appearance as a pro in the opening bout of Francis Flynn's inaugural show in the Moose Temple last Friday night, and, while he lost the decision to Georgie Tomosky, of Trafford City, he "stole" the show and likely will be back on the card in the same ring next week. Sammy mixed merrily with his more experienced opponent and was holding his own until he ran into a couple of hard right-handers in the last round and was forced to hold on. For a newcomer, he showed fine boxing form, good thinking and an aggressive spirit that won over the fans, who applauded him lustily at the finish. Throughout the bout, no one was more enthusiastic about the lad than Mason, who attended Sammy with all the care he could give a champion.

INCIDENTALLY, Mason yesterday, in talking about the recent passing of Tex Rickard, recalled a scene of only a few years ago to illustrate the uncertainty of life. "When I signed for Harry Greb to defend his middleweight championship against Tiger Flowers in their first bout in Madison Square Garden," he said, "the other men in the room were Rickard, Greb, Flowers and Walk Miller, Flowers' manager.

"Since then all have died with the exception of myself. Greb and Flowers both died while undergoing operations, Miller either committed suicide or was murdered, and Rickard was a victim of appendicitis." Mason was the oldest man present at the signing of articles, but survives all the others.

HARRY J. KILLILEA, owner of the Milwaukee baseball club, of the American Association, who died yesterday in that city, was the man who helped President Barney Dreyfuss, of the Pittsburgh club, introduce what has become the greatest event in sportdom—the world series.

Back in 1903, Killilea was president of the Boston American League club, having succeeded Charles W. Somers after the season of 1902. President Dreyfuss conceived the idea of reviving the

RUBE ANDERSON GOES WELL IN FIRST START

By JESS CARVER.

Pitt and Tech packed 'em in like sardines again last night as they battled in the second game of their annual city series. The only difference between last night's crowd and a tin of fishes was that the fishes get to lie down. Pitt won the ball game by a 35-28 score, saving all that 5-to-1 money which was NOT bet on the games by the smart boys.

One of the outstanding results of the contest, aside from the score, was the heart-warming performance turned in by big Rube Anderson, of Coraopolis. Rube was in there at center in the place of Lester Cohen, who has been under the weather and needed the rest. Andy played a very creditable floor game and dropped in two hoops.

The Panthers didn't have any great trouble in winning the contest, despite the relative closeness of the score. The Pitt hirelings displayed a vast improvement over what they laughingly tried to kid us was good basketball against West Virginia. The teams didn't shine, but having shuddered during the West Virginia contest, one felt quite warm toward the lads as they accounted for John Irwin's valiant Skibos last evening.

HYATT CAGES FIVE

Charley Hyatt, with four hoops in the first half and Eddie Baker and Capt. Wunderlich with two each, insured a 21-8 lead at half time. In the second period, the Skibos began banging away from most all angles, and Crum, White and Nease kept the Tartans in the ball game. Crum dropped in three, all from well out at sea. The Irwinites outscored Pitt 20 to 14 in the second half.

Oh yes, Capt. Wunderlich played through the entire game without drawing a personal foul. No one was booted out of the action, but Anderson and White each had three on 'em.

The lineup:

Pitt—35.		Carnegie—28.
Arture	F	White (C.)
Hyatt	F	Crum
Anderson	C	Merton
Wunderlich (C.)	G	Nease
Baker	G	High

Score by periods:

Pitt	21	14—35
Tech	8	20—28

Substitutions—Pitt: Zehfuss, L. Cohen, M. Cohen, Aiello. Tech: Brown, Fox, Weiss, Tras.

Scoring—Field goals: Pitt, Hyatt 5, Anderson 2, Wunderlich 2, Baker 3, Zehfuss, L. Cohn. Tech, White 2, Crum 3, Merton, Nease 3, High. Fouls—Pitt, Hyatt, 3 out of 4; Anderson, 1 out of 1; Baker, 2 out of 4; Zehfuss, 1 out of 2. Tech, White, 3 out of 3; Crum, 0 out of 1; Merton, 2 out of 4; Nease, 2 out of 3; High, 1 out of 1. Team fouls—Pitt, 7 out of 12. Tech, 8 out of 12.

Leading scorer—Hyatt, Pitt, 13 points.
Referee—Beggs Snyder.

LAY OFF DI MEOLO!

LUBY DI MEOLO couldn't have secured for himself more publicity if he had pulled a Reigels than he has since being elected football captain at Pitt. Enough copy has been written on that election to reach from here to Los Angeles with a detour by way of Japan. Because the election came as a surprise the boys have been accused of everything from ward heeling up.

There was nothing funny or queer about that election. Di Meolo was elected because eight of the 18 lettermen preferred him to two other members of the squad. The vote was 8 to 7 to 3. Afterwards, the election WAS MADE UNANIMOUS. Get a load of that!

Di Meolo is liked by every member of the squad. There is nothing petty about Pitt footballers, and while there may have been one or two other choices for the job, now that Luby has been chosen he is certain to receive the whole-hearted support of the boys

There have even been reports that Dr. Sutherland was not satisfied with the outcome of the vote. If this is true, then the thing for Dr. Jock to do is to appoint his captains in the future.

Di Meolo is a veteran guard and a good one, and deserves the honor as much as any other man on the team.

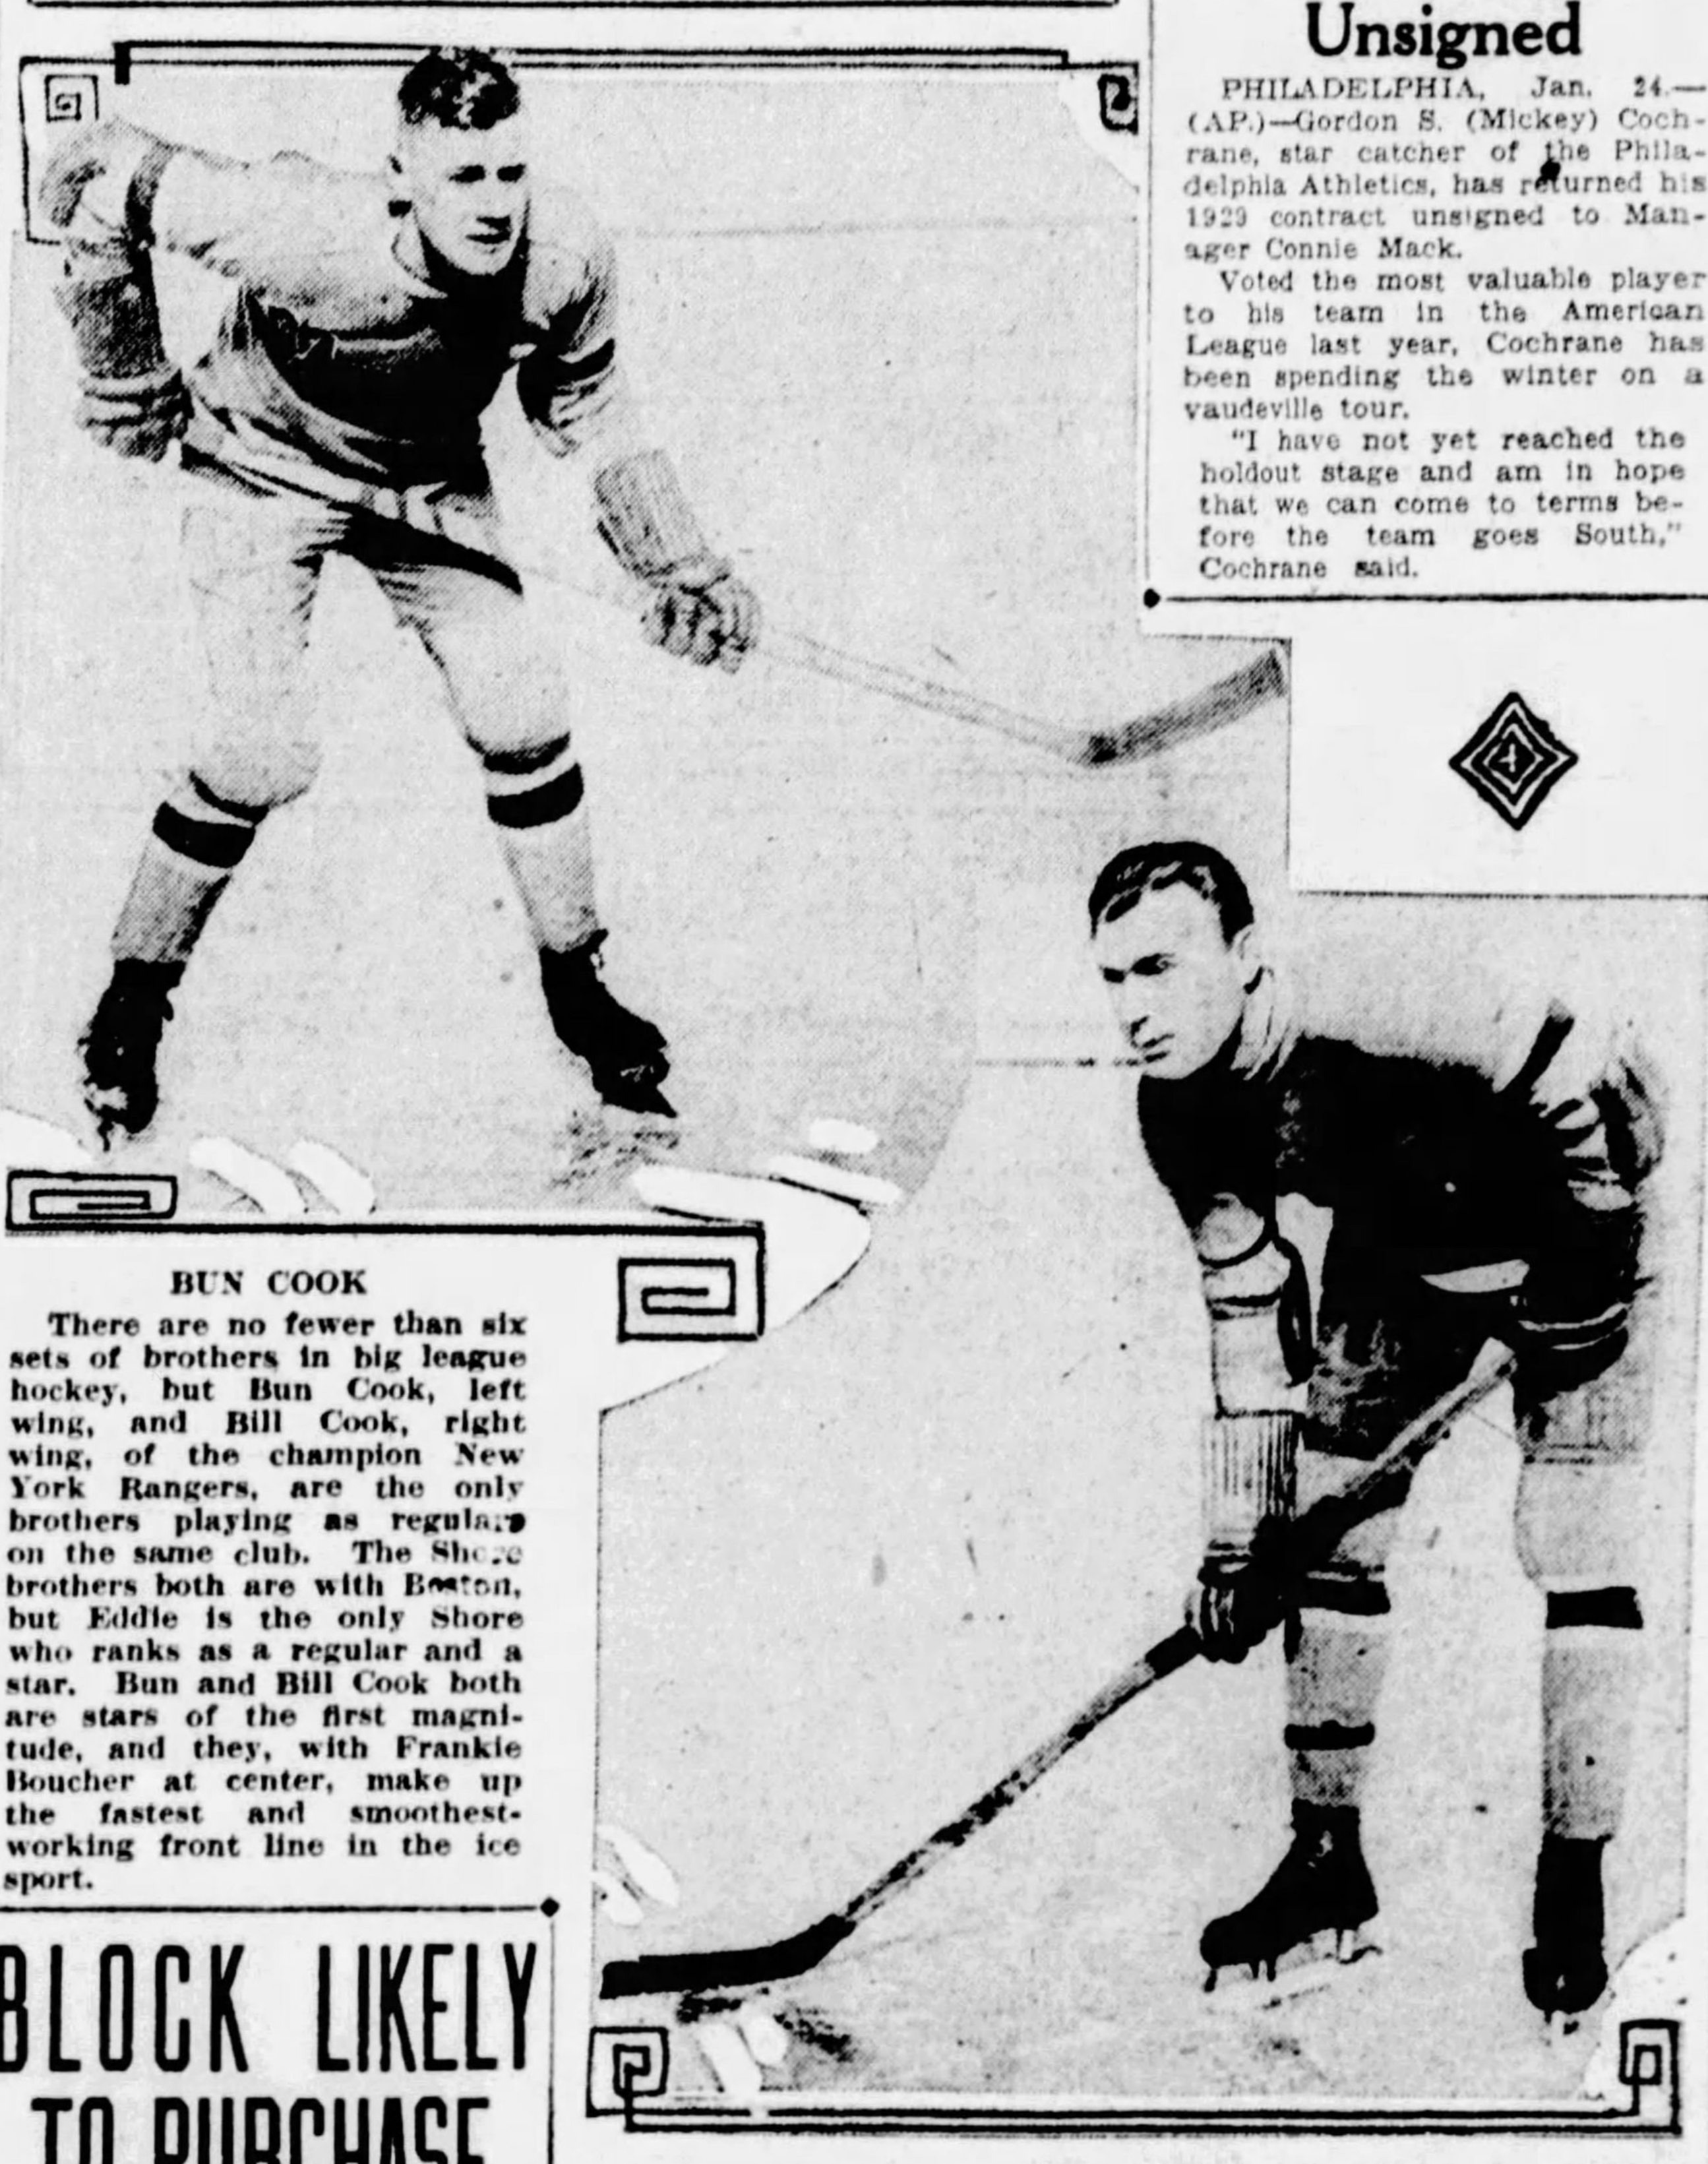
Dempsey and Jerry The Greek Have First Spat

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan 24.—(INS)—For the first time since Jack Dempsey rode out West to become heavyweight champion of the world, there is a rift between him and his faithful and constant companion, Jerry the Greek.

In victory and defeat Jerry Luvadis has been at the side of the fighter-promoter. Luvadis learned that oil had been struck on a tract of land he owns outside of Los Angeles. He wanted to go there immediately.

But Dempsey ordered Luvadis to remain here and help in the preparation for the Sharkey-Stribling bout on February 27.

BROTHER RANGERS



BUN COOK

There are no fewer than six sets of brothers in big league hockey, but Bun Cook, left wing, and Bill Cook, right wing, of the champion New York Rangers, are the only brothers playing as regulars on the same club. The Shore brothers both are with Boston, but Eddie is the only Shore who ranks as a regular and a star. Bun and Bill Cook both are stars of the first magnitude, and they, with Frankie Boucher at center, make up the fastest and smoothest-working front line in the ice sport.

BILL COOK

Bill Cook has been playing hockey with brother Bun since early childhood, and what they don't know about handling a puck is not worth knowing. Their superb teamwork was a big factor in the Rangers' drive to a world championship last season and to the pace-setting berth in the present campaign. They figure to give the Pirates plenty of trouble when they lead their brother Rangers into action against the locals in Duquesne Garden tonight.

BLOCK LIKELY TO PURCHASE PHILLIES

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 24.—Paul Block, owner of the Newark club of the International League, and wealthy publisher of a chain of newspapers, is endeavoring to purchase the controlling interest in the Phillies, according to authentic reports in circulation here.

Block, through Jack Potter, an associate, has placed before William F. Baker, president of the Phillies, an offer, it is said, which will be hard for the stockholders of the club to turn down. Potter, a former Philadelphian, has been in this city for the past few days conferring with the 12 stockholders, all of whom reside in Philadelphia. Jerry Nugent, secretary of the Phillies, when questioned on the report, quite naturally denied he knew anything about it.

"As far as I know nothing has been done," he declared at the club's headquarters this morning. Baker was reported to be out of town on business.

It is believed in baseball circles here that Block stands an excellent chance of purchasing the Phillies. President Baker has been ordered by his physician to give up baseball, because of illness. The doctor has ordered Baker, for the good of his health, to get out of baseball for good within a year's time. The Phillies' head admits this fact himself.

The controlling interest in the Philadelphia club is owned by a group of prominent local sportsmen. Baker is said to possess 25 per cent of the stock. His salary as president of the club is $25,000 per year.

Keystone A. C. Cards Five Meets

Three boxing shows and two swimming meets have been definitely planned as athletic features at the new Keystone Athletic Club during the next few weeks.

They were planned and announced by the athletic committee headed by Clarence Overend, director of athletics at Carnegie Tech.

Harry Hainsworth, athletic director, announced that a New York professional squash racquets feature has been secured and will be definitely announced within a week.

GOLDENSONS MAY TAKE COUNTY LEAD TONIGHT

By JULIUS LEVIN.

THE Goldensons, of the South Side, will have a chance to take undisputed possession of first place in the second half of the Allegheny County League race tonight when they oppose Charley Price's Reliance Life passers at the Market House. At present the Goldensons are deadlocked with the Lafayettes for the top position, and as the champions are idle tonight a victory for the South Siders will give them the lead.

The Goldensons made an impressive showing in their one-sided victory over the Miele-Franchinas last Monday night and if they display the same class tonight they should win the decision with points to spare. The Goldensons came out of the Rosenblum battle last night in fairly good shape and should take the floor tonight with every regular in the lineup.

In the other County League game carded tonight the Enoch Rauhs will entertain the Duquesne Light passers at Columbus Temple. Although the Lighters failed to win consistently during the first half of the schedule, Kemp McNutt's passers were good enough to defeat the Rauhs in each of their two engagements. They will be out to make it three in a row tonight.

DRIBBLES

The first half of the Pittsburgh and Ohio Valley League schedule will be brought to a close tonight when the M. J. Conleys invade McKees Rocks to meet the Greenfield passers.

The Cleveland Rosenblum-Celtics will resume their exhibition tour in Uniontown tonight, opposing the Romola, formerly known as the Five Horsemen.

Two old basketball rivals will clash tonight in the feature attraction of the West Penn League when the South Side Falcons entertain the Penn Five of Sharpsburg. The Falcons hope to check the Penn Five, which has defeated them twice this season. Saturday the Falcons meet North Side Community House on the Falcon floor.

KILLILEA, ONE OF A. L.'S FOUNDERS, DIES

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Henry J. Killilea, 62, one of the members of the little group that founded the American Baseball League in 1899, is dead.

The local sportsman, who also was owner of the Milwaukee Club of the American Association, died at his home here of heart disease after a brief illness.

HEADED RED SOX

Killilea became president of the Boston Red Sox in 1903, when that club was tottering on financial difficulties, and won the pennant. For nearly a quarter of a century thereafter he took no active part in baseball. In 1928 he purchased the Milwaukee Brewers.

Much of the baseball magnate's early fame arose during his college days at the University of Michigan. His ability on the diamond won the approval of the Detroit Tigers, but he refused an offer to turn professional. He enjoyed a brilliant amateur standing as a football player.

HELPED ATHLETES

Killilea never lost interest in his alma mater or its athletes. He financially helped Willie Heston, Sr., one of the greatest of Michigan athletes, during his college days and also extended aid to Archie Hahn, Michigan sprinter.

It was at Michigan, too, that Killilea met Miss Louise Meindermann, a co-ed, and his future wife.

Before taking up law at the University of Michigan, Killilea was graduated from the Oshkosh (Wisconsin) State Teachers' College and was a teacher at Oakwood, Wis. He was born at Poygan, Wis., on a farm in 1867, January 1, 1907, Killilea became solicitor general in Wisconsin for the Milwaukee Railroad, in which capacity he served until his death.

He is survived by two children, Harry and Florence.

Local Cueist Loses To Cowboy Hunter

Charley (Cowboy) Hunter, fancy and trick shot artist who defeated Irving Cronin, 75 to 32, in an exhibition match at the Olympic parlors, 314 Fifth avenue, last night, will meet D. J. Justice, another local star, in a second match at the Olympic rooms at 8:30 this evening. Hunter's exhibition of "Chinese call shot" featured his entertaining fancy and trick shot program. The Cowboy is to conclude his engagement at the Olympic tonight.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Walter Holmer, captain of Northwestern University's 1929 football team, and all-Western Conference fullback, is in a serious condition in a local hospital, following an operation for hernia.

Cochrane Returns Mack Contract Unsigned

Voted the most valuable player to his team in the American League last year, Cochrane has been spending the winter on a vaudeville tour.

"I have not yet reached the holdout stage and am in hope that we can come to terms before the team goes South," Cochrane said.

RANGER ICEMEN OUT TO HALT BUC SPURT

GAMES TONIGHT

Toronto at Canadiens.

By CARL W. SHATTO

The world champion New York Rangers, who have earned seven victories and a tie in their last nine starts, will attempt to halt the Pirates' dash toward a money and play-off berth at Duquesne Garden tonight. Both clubs have been traveling at a fast pace recently, and the battle gives promise of being a thriller.

Pittsburgh's ice stock was given a big boost today when Manager Odie Cleghorn announced that Frankie Frederickson, star center, definitely would start. The big Icelander suffered a bad cut in his cheek in the joust with the Americans in New York Sunday, and until today indications were that Frederickson would not be able to participate in the fray with the champions. This morning, however, the cut was found to be healing nicely and the swelling was greatly reduced. Frederickson expressed a desire to get into the important fight, and Manager Cleghorn granted his request.

FAVOR FAST, OPEN PLAY

In recent games the Pirates have flashed a more powerful scoring punch than have the Rangers, and Frederickson has been largely responsible for the potency of the Bucco kick. He figured in three scores in the last two games, and he is the main cog in the combination plays of the front line.

In their last three games Benny Leonard's skaters piled up six goals to one for the opposition. The Rangers' superb defense enabled them to convert two goals into two wins and a tie in their last three starts, they holding the opposition scoreless. This record would indicate that the battle may be a battle of strong defenses and a scoreless affair, but this is not likely, for both clubs favor the open style of play. They favor three-men attacks, and the starting front lines are two of the fastest, smoothest combinations in the league.

INVADERS POWERFUL

The invaders are just about as strong now as they were when they won the world title last season, and their position at the National League crest indicates that they are not fluke champs. Brothers Bill and Bun Cook at the wings, Frankie Boucher at center and Taffy Abel at defense are holdovers. Leo Bourgault, subbing for the injured Ching Johnson, cannot measure up to the Johnson defense standard, but Roach, their new goalie, is enough better than the departed Chabot to make up this difference. The Rangers not only lead the league, but they hold the season record for high scoring. They set the record recently when they piled up the amazing total of nine goals on the Ottawa Senators.

The Pirates annexed two ties in three previous battles with the Rangers, and their every meeting has produced plenty of fast, thrilling action. The champions ever have been popular here, and tonight's "natural" is likely to produce a new attendance record at the Craig street arena. The probable lineup:

Pirates.		Rangers.
Miller	G	Roach
McKinnon	R.D.	Abel
Smith	L.D.	Bourgault
Frederickson	C	Boucher
Darragh	R.W.	Bill Cook
Milks	L.W.	Bun Cook

PIRATES NOT TO PLAY IN LOS ANGELES

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Western Pennsylvania folks who migrated to Southern California to make their permanent homes will be disappointed when their favorite big league ball nine passes through Los Angeles without a stopover privilege.

Last year the Pirates and Cubs played four games at Wrigley Field. Among the many thousands who attended these preliminary skirmishes were hundreds of people from the Pittsburgh section.

The Buccos are big favorites in Southern California, but there was some sort of a hitch in this year's plans, so far as the Western metropolis is concerned. The big crowds attracted by the Bucs and Bruins are said to have had an adverse reaction on some of the Coast League magnates. More than one mogul of that territory wanted these big league scraps stopped.

In any event, the Pirates are out of the Los Angeles pictures this year, but there will be major league action on Wrigley Field, with the Cubs and Tigers edifying the fans. The scheduled games are sure to be interesting, as there is always a strong flavor of excitement when representatives of the two major circuits clash.

The Pirates have a heavy card of dates for San Francisco, but after they finish with the Seals and Missions they will hustle to Phoenix to take on the Tigers, who will train in that Arizona city.

ALLEYS OPEN TONIGHT

Eleven new alleys will be available to local bowling enthusiasts tonight when Robert Hendel opens his Enright Bowling Academy at 5802 Penn avenue, East Liberty. Hendel has dedicated his new recreation room to Thomas F. Enright, a Pittsburgh boy, who was the first American soldier killed in the World War. Harry F. Seidel, former owner of the Dispatch alleys, is to serve as manager.

Former welterweight boxing champion, now a light-heavyweight contender, who will go South with Tris Speaker's Newark Bears of the International League while his jaw, broken by a punch from Jimmy Braddock's fist, is mending. He may make a serious bid for a position in either the outfield or infield with the Bears. Pete played baseball before becoming a ring star and is adept at the pastime. He is an especially good batter. Photos show him in three phases of his career; as a fighter, coal miner and baseball player.

ROSENBLUMS BEAT LOCALS

The Goldenson Club of the South Side and Allegheny County League didn't have much to say about the outcome of last night's embroglio with the Cleveland Rosenblums of the American League in the Market House. The Forest City quint ran rough-shod over the locals to the tune of a 45-to-28 count.

One of the largest crowds of the season packed the side lines to see the three former New York Celtic stars and their mates in action. And from a local standpoint, the game wasn't such a "wow"—for the Goldensons were quite outclassed.

Barry	F	C. Klinzing
Schrey	F	O. Klinzing
Lopchick	C	Ketchell
Husta	G	McGuirk
Dehnert	G	Siegel

Field goals—Barry 2, Schrey 3, Lopchick 4, Husta 6, Dehnert 2, Deighman 2, C. Klinzing 5, McVicker 2, McGuirk. Fouls—Rosies, 7 out of 10; Goldensons, 6 out of 12. Substitutions—McVicker for Siegel, Deighan for Lopchick, Schiffer for Schrey, Kerr for Dehnert. Referee—Leo Carroll. Time of quarters—10 minutes.

PROFIO AND RUDY CLASH IN M'KEESPORT RING

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

TWO short-armed, willing mixers will clash tonight in the 10-round main bout of an all-welterweight boxing show in the Palisades roller rink, McKeesport. One excels as a puncher and the other as a boxer. They are, in the order of their appearance, Dominick Profio, of Cecil, knockout sensation, only a short time out of the amateur ranks, and Young Rudy, of Charleroi, one of the young veterans of James (Red) Mason's stable.

The fur should fly in this battle and there is a chance for a knockout either way. Profio may batter Rudy to the floor with his solid wallops, or he may tire under his own pace and become a mark for Rudy to finish.

Two cancellations have caused a shakeup in the preliminary card which doesn't in the least weaken the show. Phil Scello, of McKeesport, who was to box Jack Unglo, of Etna, in the eight-round semi-final, has a badly wrenched arm and can not go on, and Red Ryan, of Washington, Pa., has reported sick and unable to fill his six-round engagement with Allen Beatty, of McKeesport, in the second number. As a result, Promoter Jim McGirr has moved up Beatty into the semi-final spot, where he will meet Young Guido, of Sharon while Unglo has been dropped down to the second bout, in which he will box Teddy Welch, of McKeesport. Jimmy Marlowe, of Aliquippa, boxes Harry Spencer, of Washington, Pa., in the opening number.

Correction—Albert Di Meolo, the Pitt guard, who has been elected captain of the eleven for next fall, tells us we were off in our pronunciation of his name the other day. It's pronounced as if it were spelled De Me-o-lo, not Dim-e-o-lo, as we had it. Incidentally, there's a space between the Di and the Meolo and the M is a capital letter. So it will stand until someone comes along and tells us that Di Meolo himself doesn't know how Di Meolo should be spelled or pronounced.

DON'T forget that the baseball writers' all-sports dinner will be held at the William Penn Hotel on the night of February 14, in honor of John H. Gruber, dean of the local scribes. Reservations may be made by addressing John L. Hernon, P. O. Box 218, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Jack Sharkey and Paavo Nurmi never would make a good team. They say that, on the occasion of Paavo's first visit to this country, his trainer asked him how he felt as his train was pulling out of New York for Chicago, where he was to run the next night. Arriving in Chicago in the morning, Paavo leaned across the aisle and replied: "Good."

IKE M'FOWLER boxes Murray Gitlitz in Johnstown tonight. It's a return bout, Gitlitz having won the first. Linn Jordan and Joe Midway are in the semi-final and Johnny Haggerty, of Lawrenceville, meets Johnny Chido on the same card. Jackie Rodgers, local Negro bantam, boxes Howard Graw, of Toledo, in Sandusky, O., and Harry Ferry formerly of McKeesport, battles Stanley Reid in New York. Midget Wolgast boxes Phil Tobias in Philadelphia.

It will be New Castle against the world in the bouts at the Jolly Bowl, New Castle, next Monday night. George Perotta, of that burg, meets Floyd Hybert, of Ashtabula, O., in the main bout, and, in the others, Babe Picato boxes Sammy Harris, of Akron; Romeo Pacelli meets Mickey Dugan, of Cleveland; Roy Minteer battles Joe Stemple, of Akron, and Elmo, the Mighty, takes on Nick Polis, of Woodlawn.

N. B. A. ORDERS CHAMPIONS TO DEFEND TITLES

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—The National Boxing Commission controlling the sports in 27 states, has ordered four champions to engage in a title contest against a logical contender within 60 days or surrender their titles.

Tommy Loughran, light-heavyweight champion; Mickey Walker, ruler of the middleweights; Joe Dundee, welterweight titleholder, and Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, were notified they must engage in a title bout before March 21 or cease to be recognized by the N. B. A. as legitimate champion of the class. None of the quartet has defended his title within the last six months' period, the time allowed a champion between title bouts under N. B. A. rules.

TAKES MAIL VOTE

The decision was reached after a majority of the commissions holding membership in the N. B. A. had taken a mail vote on the issue.

President Prehn, in his letter to each titleholder said that if they failed to obey the demand there will be no alternative left but to order their suspension, which will result in the N. B. A. ceasing to recognize them as champions.

The State Athletic Commissions of New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and California do not hold membership in the N. B. A., but the latter three have a working agreement with the Illinois Commission. If Loughran, Walker, Dundee and Mandell are suspended in Illinois, their suspensions no doubt will be recognized by the Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and California Commissions.

TOMMY IN HEAVY CLASS

Loughran, finding no competition in the light-heavyweight division has cast his lot with the heavyweights, aspiring to winning the title. Walker has been active in matches over the middleweight limit defending his title last time against Ace Hudkins in Chicago last June. Dundee met with disaster in Chicago when he was knocked out in two rounds by young Jack Thompson in a match over the weight line.

School Checker Champ Called Professional

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—Checkers, a sport, or rather a game that has gone along for these many years without a major scandal, is the cause of turmoil in the Chicago High School Association, that threatens to write a new chapter in the aged controversy between amateurism and professionalism.

The new purity war in schoolboy athletics burst into the limelight when a member of the athletic staff of Crane sent a check for $5 to E. C. Delaporte, supervisor of athletics of the Chicago public schools, the regular fee required in all eligibility protests. Crane protests the right of Speed Holzer of Austin High school, to represent his school in the final match of the North section of the city high school checker tournament. Crane and Austin will meet in this match and the winner will play the champion of the South section for the city high school checker championship.

It is alleged that Holzer slips away from home one night each week to play at the South Side Checker Club and that he is a competitor in the monthly tournament at that club, for which the first prize is $6. Holzer has not won the money yet, but is said to be such a skillful checker player that he has a fighting chance.

world series of American Association days and having the two pennant winners of 1903 meet in a world series. He found Killilea willing, and the two got together and arranged the first of the big modern interleague post-season classics. In 1904 the Giants declined to meet the Red Sox in a similar series, but in 1905 the annual series between the two champion clubs was made compulsory under the rules.

ANY pitcher desiring to be found working in the major leagues when he is approaching the age of 50 should step out and bowl one round of tenpins each week during the off-season. Possibly a few other things would be required, but they are not mentioned by Jack Quinn, venerable hurler of the Athletics, who still is starring in the big show though not far from the half century mark. Quinn says that, apart from the Hot Springs baths, it is a snappy round of bowling weekly that keeps him in trim from season to season. Quinn has been carrying out his usual winter program at Ray Schalk's alleys in Chicago. He took his final workout as a timber toppler yesterday, and tomorrow will leave for Hot Springs, Ark., to devote three weeks to hiking and taking the Vapor Valley baths.

RICKARD and the RING

By JACK DEMPSEY,

World's Greatest Ring Idol

The Man Who Wouldn't Play

After that Chicago fight, in 1927, I noticed that Tex had grown a little thin and nervous and mighty tired under the strain of promoting the show, and, when I was saying goodbye to him before leaving for the coast, I asked:

Tex looked at me as if he was puzzled.

"Sure—that's it," I said. "You know—go hunting or fishing or take a long ocean tour or go in for golf with a whoop like other fellows; get a whoop out of life—and fun—now that you've got all the money you need."

"Ain't ever played in my life—kind of think I wouldn't know how," he answered. "Since I was a kid I never had time for it—or the money. Had to go out hustling for a living when I was a little shaver and there wasn't any time for fooling around."

"Well, now you've got time—and the money," I reminded him. "Get some fun out of life."

GAMBLING HIS SPORT

"Oh, I've had fun—lots of it—" he put in. "But not like other people. My fun's been in gambling. First it was as boss of the game in a gambling house. Kind of risky, if you're running a square game and you haven't a very big bankroll and somebody gets in a lucky streak. But my credit always was good with the other boys. I always could borrow enough to pay up and start all over again.

"That was my fun, day after day, night after night, watching how this here luck business was working; whether it was coming my way or going the other. Sure, it was kind of tough on the nerves, but it was fun.

"And after that when I got into this fight game and found it was a bigger gamble—well, that was lots more fun for me than soaking a golf ball or jerking a fish out of water or shooting some little animal. Yes, sir, plenty more fun.

"I'd make a match and guarantee the fighters so much money. Right away the writing boys would say I had gone crazy. The people would think so, too. Then I'd get my fun seeing the money coming in with ticket orders; seeing, day after day, more and more cash in the till until pretty soon I'd have enough to make sure I'd break even and then I'd get more fun with all the new orders that meant profit for me.

"Now that's funny—for me. That's my way of playing. Never could find a better one, and if I did, I guess I wouldn't like it much. I've gambled all my life—and gambling is play as well as work for me. And this here thing of putting on a big fight and gambling on the result of the gate—that's the greatest fun in life."

CHANGES VIEWPOINT

Of course, Tex didn't say all that in one speech. Unless he was relating an anecdote, he handed out his sentences and his paragraphs one at a time. But he always connected them up as he went along and made his story complete.

"Well, you ought to try playing as other people play—it would be good for you," I said, when he finished.

"Not me. I can't get any fun out of that way of playing," he shot back.

But within a few months his viewpoint was changed—in an accidental way. He went to Miami to sign up Gene Tunney for the Tom Heeney fight last summer. He got to looking around; saw people with fine homes, fine yachts, having a lot of fun playing golf, swimming, fishing, boating and loafing around in the sunshine.

And then this man who never had played, suddenly found himself wanting to play and get some real fun out of life. Tex, who never had owned a real home in his life, bought a magnificent one in Miami and suddenly took a great interest in planting things and beautifying his place.

He went in strong for golf. He bought himself a yacht and cruised the waters of the Atlantic. The life of a "country gentleman" suddenly became his real desire. Sure, he drifted back to New York in 1928, but the town, with the roar and the whirr and the rush, and the tumult that he once loved, just didn't seem quite the same to him anymore.

The old love for gambling—his play and his work through so many years—suddenly died within him.

TURNS TOO LATE

Last fall, when I was with him in New York, he swept his hand out at the city and said:

"I'm thinking you were right in telling me to get a little fun like other people get it. I just can't get a 'kick' out of this town any more. It's too noisy and people don't play enough. I'll certainly be glad when winter gets here and I can go South to Miami. I'm wondering how those flowers are doing I planted down there—and those four palm trees in the yard."

And then, as an afterthought, he added:

"Getting kind of tired of this fight thing, Jack, and I'm all hopped up about playing around now and getting the REAL FUN out of life."

The tragic death of Tex is made more so when I recall that his life came to its end just as he had made his plans to play around and enjoy it.

Dempsey Sought As Promoter Of New Arena

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—(INS.)—Edwin Cole, New York broker, and William H. Bartlett, banker of Atlantic City, N. J., were to leave here today for Miami Beach, Fla., where they will attempt to sign Jack Dempsey as co-promoter of a new sports arena here to be known as the Metropolitan Coliseum. Cole announced yesterday that he and a group of bankers had taken over the financing of the projected sports palace, to be erected at Fifty-fourth street and Eleventh avenue here, from Humbert J. Fugazy, the Brooklyn promoter, who conceived the idea but had been unable to raise enough money to start construction work.

Cole and Bartlett will make Dempsey an offer to join forces with Fugazy as a promoter of the new enterprise in opposition to Madison Square Garden. They say that if the former champion declines, they will offer him $500,000 to fight George Godfrey, giant Negro heavyweight, or Paulino Uzcudun, the Spaniard, at the Atlantic City convention hall this spring. They are said to have secured the services of both Godfrey and Paulino.

LAMPRECHT SHOOTS PAR

BILOXI, Miss., Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Shooting a par 72 over the 18-hole Edgewater golf course, G. Fred Lamprecht, of New Orleans, former national intercollegiate champion, provided the gallery with its thrill in the first round of match play in the Pan-American amateur golf tournament.

The youthful Lamprecht went out in 32, three under par, but required a 40 to come home. Par on the course has been equalled only twice before. Lamprecht defeated his opponent, James Korndofer, of New Orleans, 9 and 7.

Ross McDade, of Shreveport, La., continued his winning streak by defeating Bob Gormley of Biloxi, 1 up in 19 holes and Don Armstrong, defending champ won from Ed Enochs, of Fernwood, Miss., 1 up.

Other results in the championship flight: Arthur B. Sweet, Chicago, defeated H. B. Cook, Toledo, 4 and 3; Edwin McClure, Shreveport, bowled over F. M. Warner, Evanston, Ill., 6 and 5; Gus Novotny, LaGrange, Ill., beat R. C. Crawford, Mobile, 6 and 5; Russell Martin, Chicago, won from Lee Thiltges, his fellow townsman 3 and 2, and Joe Bybee, Jackson, Miss., defeated N. W. McClure, Shreveport, 6 and 5.

Second-round matches will be played today.

Reigh Count Out Of Lincolnshire

LONDON, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Reigh Count, nominated by Mrs. John Hertz, of Chicago, for the Lincolnshire handicap, has been withdrawn from the race. The horse's name appeared in the list of non-acceptances. There was no explanation, but presumably the withdrawal resulted from the fact that the handicapper had assigned him too heavy a weight.

Morning newspapers say that Reigh Count also has been withdrawn from the Liverpool Spring Cup, but that he never was expected to go beyond the entrance stages of these early races. The colt hardly has been outside the stable since his arrival at Newmarket.

TWO NATIONAL SOCCER TILTS SATURDAY

By TOM BIRKS

With Heidelberg scheduled to meet the Union Switch and Signal eleven in the third round of the national amateur cup at Swissvale and the Pittsburgh Celtics scheduled to tangle with the Corinthians at Leslie Park in the same tourney, local soccer fans will have plenty to become enthused over on Saturday.

These two games stack up as being just as interesting as any this season, and with all four clubs classed as being strengthened for the battle, soccer worth while is in the offing.

CELTICS STRONG

Pittsburgh fans will naturally take in the Celtics battle with the Corinthians. McKay is taking his club to Lawrenceville fresh from its victory over the National Tube team, and seeing that Tom Edwards has strengthened with Jones at center-forward and Jimmy Dunlop at inside left, the Celtics are going to be a tough nut to crack.

Fans in the tri-boro district will wend their way to Swissvale to see the former national champions meet the Switch. Jack Campbell and all the Swissvale officials feel that the Green and Gold will have a tough game. Swissvale has been holding many practice sessions for two weeks and is raring to go.

The West Penn Football Association, at its monthly meeting, took quite a hand in the representation of soccer at the big sports banquet planned for St. Valentine night. Soccer intends to show that soccer is in the category of major sports and its representation at the dinner in honor of John Gruber will equal any other sport.

COMMITTEE NAMED

A large committee representing the sport was named from Western Pennsylvania to assist the general committee. The names are as follows: H. Fairfield, W. J. Kerr, Tom Birks, Jack Lowther, H. Peel, Jim Agnew, Steve Horlick, Tom Edwards, Pat Donohoe, Michael Quinn, Jim Stark, J. Luxbacher, Pete Gaitens, Jack Barrett, G. Hill, Jack Campbell, Joe Round, Dr. Wunderlick, Karl Meisenberg, Pat O'Conner, Robert Brown, Tom Harker, John Watson, Tom Dolan, Tom Robinson and E. J. Balsarini.

The committee is not closed and any other soccerites wishing to be placed on this general committee should get in touch with any of the three newspaper writers. At this banquet every sport will be represented. It will be held in the ball room of the William Penn Hotel, February 14. Famous speakers in the world of sport will be on hand. The tables will be for 10 people and soccer followers can be seated together.

Now, boys, let's make this a big thing for soccer, and let us hear from you. Soccer is coming along in leaps and bounds in Western Pennsylvania, and seeing that this is the first all-sports banquet ever held in Pittsburgh, soccer should take its rightful place at the affair.

Local Casting Club To Banquet Tonight

Members of the Pittsburgh Casting Club of the Izaak Walton League will hold their first annual banquet at Webster Hall at 6:30 this evening. Election of officers and bait casting events, in the Webster Hall swimming pool, are to be features. The casting events are open to the public.

Rube Goldberg Loses in Tourney

PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 24.—A suddenly-conceived humorous idea for one of his cartoons proved costly to Rube Goldberg, regular contributor to the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in the second round of match play in the championship tournament of the Artists and Writers Golf Association, here yesterday. Playing against W. C. Beall, of New York, Goldberg was putting on the twenty-seventh green, being one foot from the cup for a half, when he got the idea and laughing out loud he missed the putt. The defeat was not so funny to the cartoonist.

In the championship division, Rex Beach, medalist, defeated Takuma Kajawara by 6 and 5, while the defending titleholder, Grantland Rice, eliminated F. Newlin Price by the same margin.

CUMBERLAND DROPS PILOT

CUMBERLAND, Md., Jan. 24.—Further indication that James F. McGuire intends to let the Cumberland franchise in the Middle Atlantic League go by default this season is in McGuire, president of the Mid-City Baseball Association, declaring John J. Byrnes, manager and first baseman last season, a free agent. McGuire had agreed with Byrnes several years ago that in the event he would be forced to hand over the Cumberland franchise and players, Byrnes would be given his release.

SALE OF ORIOLES SET; MAISEL TO BE PILOT

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 24.—(INS.)—The deal for the purchase of the Baltimore Baseball Club has been arranged and Fritz Maisel will be manager of the Birds under the new ownership, was the announcement made today by Carlos Ferrer, promoter, who has interested local capitalists into investing close to $1,000,000 in the purchase of the Baltimore club and the proposed erection of a sports center for ice hockey, fights and other activities. [illegible] general of the state of Maryland, will head the new holding corporation.

"All terms have been agreed upon," declared Ferrer this morning, "and only the actual signatures remain before the new syndicate takes title and starts the wheels moving toward the biggest sports venture Baltimore has ever enjoyed."

The Orioles will function this season as a member of the International League in the old park, but Ferrer predicts that within three years the club will be represented in one of the major leagues.

Ambitious plans will be quickly consummated, according to Ferrer. He is confident Baltimore, with more than 800,000 population, will put over the venture with a bang.

DEMPSEY WARNS STRIBLING AGAINST FLYING

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 24.—(AP.)—A second warning to keep on the ground instead of flying was telegraphed to Young Stribling by Jack Dempsey, promoter of the February 27 Sharkey-Stribling battle here.

Dempsey also wired Stribling and Sharkey to appear here for training immediately after tomorrow night, when both have fights.

"I told Stribling it is imperative that he keep out of a plane until after the fight here," Dempsey said. "I don't want him to take any unnecessary chances, and as I see it one of the surest ways to take a chance is to go for an airplane ride just before a fight like this."

Dempsey said he had included in his telegram instructions to Stribling to leave for Miami Beach after he fights Jack Smith tomorrow night, and that he had sent similar orders to Sharkey, who battles K. O. Christner.

Work on the arena in Flamingo Park will be started today, Dempsey said, with plans for a 40,000 seating capacity. He has been assured by Lionel Leavy, Madison Square Garden seating expert, that the 60-acre tract can be made the foundation for an arena to seat 60,000 cash customers.

WHO MAKES YOUR FIRE INSURANCE RATE?

Trained experts compute it; but property owners—individually and collectively—create the conditions which determine the cost of their fire insurance.

Several major factors enter into the determination of fire insurance rates, such as structure, occupancy, the quality of private and public fire protection, exposure from other property, general loss experience.

The agent who writes your insurance—or your broker—or you, yourself—can obtain an itemized explanation of how your insurance rate is computed. There is nothing secret about it.

The Stock Fire Insurance Companies solicit your interest, and offer free of charge the advice of rate-making bureaus to assist in eliminating hazards or correcting defects which may result in lowering your rate.

Do not attempt unsound fire prevention measures, but seek the advice of the accredited experts of rating bureaus who are anxious to tell you the proper way to make improvements.

Insurance companies generally prefer risks eligible to a low rate to those which carry higher ones. A low rate indicates better conditions, better maintenance and less chance of fire.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters does not make rates and has nothing to do with rate making. As a bureau of standards it does supply rate makers with units for measuring the comparative strength and usefulness of materials and devices.

In Pennsylvania fire insurance rates are computed by the Underwriters' Association of the Middle Department, Philadelphia Board of Fire Underwriters (Philadelphia only), Philadelphia Suburban Underwriters' Association, and the Board of Fire Underwriters of Allegheny County (Pittsburgh and vicinity).

By B. C. FORBES

LAST night the national thrift week people induced me to talk over the radio. It was National Safe Investment Day. Probably never was there greater need than there is today for warning people against blindly "investing" their savings. Certain it is that of late far more people than ever before in the history of the nation have been buying stocks without taking proper pains to get trustworthy advice or to seek adequate information.

SOME of the elementary ideas I scattered over the air, to fall, I rather imagine, on stony ground, in view of the present mania for speculation, follow:

Much discussion has raged since a recent interview with Henry Ford in which he was quoted as declaring that nobody need bother about saving money until after reaching the age of 40.

Probably Mr. Ford was misquoted, because it is inconceivable that any sensible man could make such a statement. If no saving had been done by anyone before the age of 40, America would today be a less desirable land to live in. No nation can obtain the capital necessary to develop its resources until its people—many of its people—save money and invest it wisely.

I cannot imagine Mr. Ford or any other large employer willingly employing as workers only men who had no bank account whatsoever at 40. How in the name of common sense could 999 out of every 1,000 people in this country save enough for their old age if they did not start saving until they had reached the fortieth milestone? The lamentable truth is that it is becoming harder and harder every year for men and women of 40 to find employers willing to engage them at any wage.

THE best investment of all, as Mr. Ford pointed out, is early investment in self-improvement. Every youth and young man who can possibly do so should invest generously in school and college education, in vocational education, in the right kind of books and periodicals, in intelligent travel, in making helpful contacts and associations.

Wise investment in self during the first half of one's life usually makes it possible later to acquire other investments, investments which drive away the specters which haunt the old age of millions—specters of unemployment, of homelessness, of debts, of privations.

HAVING attained the point where investments can be made, how should one act about making them? The late J. P. Morgan declared that the best way to make money was to invest in whatever you knew most about.

Unfortunately, hundreds of thousands, even millions, of financially unsophisticated Americans "invest" so ignorantly that they lose, all told, according to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, something like a thousand million dollars a year. Nearly all of this loss could be and should be avoided.

How?

DON'T be gullible. Be from Missouri.

Always ask before acting. Always investigate before investing.

Don't let strangers, about whom you know nothing, talk you into parting with your savings for some stock or bond of which you never heard before.

Consult the bank where you carry your savings, or consult any other local banker. Either do your investing through your local bank or through some investment firm he recommends, or get into touch only with some brokerage firm which you know has earned a very high reputation.

Stick to securities you see quoted daily on the financial pages of the newspapers. Let others risk their money in new ventures.

DON'T assume every bond is safe and that every stock is unsafe. If you can get trustworthy banking advice, it may be wise to put at least half of your savings into common stocks of well-known corporations that have behind them good dividend records.

Try to find out something about the men responsible for the management of any company you propose to turn over your savings to. If your banker isn't able to tell you, write to some high-class newspaper or periodical which answers letters from investors.

Resist the temptation, which too many are not at present resisting, to gamble blindly in stocks. In making investments, it is better to play safe than to feel sorry.

Keep on saving and investing, and your savings and investments will in time keep you.

STOCKS FLINCH AS LOAN GAIN LOOMS

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—The stock market flinched today in the face of the Federal Reserve brokerage loan report to be issued after the close of the session. A long list of important issues sold off 2 to 7 points, although vigorous pool activity in a handful of specialties steadied the list in the early afternoon.

Trading has been heavy this week, but the general list has made but moderate headway, and the predictions of the gain in brokerage loans vary, running from $50,000,000 as high as $200,000,000. In any case, a new high record total is expected, as last week's total of $5,384,000,000 was approximately $10,000,000 from the high record of December 5.

While traders were inclined to disregard the further flow of credit into the market earlier in the week, with gold again coming from England and call money somewhat easier, a firmer tone in money today and expressions of opinion by bankers that the call loan rate will again rise sharply over the month end, again focused attention on the loan total.

Call money held at 6 per cent, but the tone was firmer, and 60-90-day time was firmer at 7¾ per cent. The fact that the Bank of England made no change in its rediscount rate and showed an improved reserve ratio was regarded as further deferring an icrease in the New York rediscount rate.

There was little in the day's news to influence sentiment. Announcement of the formation of a $100,000,000 company by the Van Sweringen interests to hold railway securities was not reflected in the rail stocks.

National Cash Register was a strong feature, soaring 9 points to a new record price at 134 in heavy buying. Nash Motors, Gillette Safety Razor, and International Harvester mounted about 5 points each.

Early in the session, Mathieson Alkali jumped 14 points, and Canadian Pacific 5 points. General Electric gained 4 points then fell back more than 8.

Further selling of U. S. Steel, which lost about 2 points, was an unsettling factor. Metals generally were liquidated. Kennecott, St. Joseph Lead, and International Nickel lost from 3 to 5 points. Wright Aero dropped 7, International Telephone 6, and Du Pont (new), Montgomery Ward, Radio, National Biscuit, Air Reduction, Allis Chalmers and Bordens were among issues losing from 3 to 4 points.

The list wavered a good deal in the final hour, despite vigorous bidding by the bull contingent for selected issues. National Cash Register rose as high as 139, a gain of 14 points. This stock so'd as low as 47¼ last year. Lambert and American Steel Foundries also moved up smartly, but many of the recognized leaders, including U. S. Steel, encountered selling on the rallies. The closing was irregular. Sales approximated 4,300,000 shares.

To investors for whom the risk of purchases of junior securities in the present market is either undesired or unjustified, we recommend the more conservative course of placing funds in the senior stock of a strong and growing Public Utility, paying cumulative dividends to yield 7.10% and having a participating feature.

Harbison, Bolt Firm News and Views

LOCAL ISSUES NARROW AS VOLUME DROPS OFF

Trading was in small volume on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today, but prices held steady and most issues continued to range around the best levels of the current movement.

Stocks here did not reflect the rather heavy tone displayed by the New York market in the early dealings. Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt, recent leader of the local industrial section, was in good demand again at quotations between 81 and 82, with buyers apparently willing to take all offerings around that level. Bulls on the stock contend that the company has made new connections which will keep the western plant working at capacity the greater part of the year, an objective the management has been shooting at for some time. The presence of William G. Costin, chairman of Screw and Bolt, on the board of the newly-organized Petroleum Corporation, opens up new sources of business of a desirable character, according to views in the Street.

Harbison Walker, which has been showing marked strength recently, lifted its best price for the current trading movement a fraction above the best level attained so far. The stock became active a few days ago and executed a sudden spurt from 52 to around 56, but there has been no change from the 38-39 level to which it dropped following the omission of the 20-cent extra dividend the company has been paying with the quarterly disbursements lately.

There was no change in the local fuel group. Lone Star was quiet but firm above 70 and the Arkansas Gas issues held to the range they have covered for the past week. Witherow Steel was slightly higher on the report that the company will sell additional stock at $25 a share on the basis of one additional share for every three held. The new stock was offered on a "when issued" basis at 39¾.

The new Witherow Steel came into the local curb market around 40 on a "when issued" basis, but demand for the stock was light and it sagged back to around 38½.

STEEL MAKERS ACQUIRE OIL HOLDINGS

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

RELATIONSHIPS with the oil industry which may prove valuable as business getters, have been established by two of Pittsburgh's leading companies. Both the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation and the Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt Corporation will have representation on the board of directors of the newly formed Petroleum Corporation of America.

Thomas M. Girdler, president of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, and William G. Costin, chairman of Pittsburgh Screw & Bolt, will be associated with leading figures of the financial world on the board of the new company. Among the 40 directors will be Elisha Walker, Jules S. Bache, Arthur W. Cutten, Louis W. Hill, P. A. S. Franklin and Charles Hayden.

THE new holding company will own 300,000 shares of the stock of the Prairie Oil & Gas Company and 550,000 shares of Prairie Pipe Line Company. Additional investments will be made later and there is a possibility that the company may engage actively in the oil business on its own account.

Neither of the blocks of stock acquired by the Petroleum Corporation amount to controlling interests, but the holdings are sufficiently large and the management so influential that it will undoubtedly have considerable voice in the operations of the two companies.

THE Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation is a large producer of seamless steel tubing. It finds one of the biggest markets for this product with the oil industry. The company also controls the Frick-Reid Supply Corporation. This corporation is engaged in the distribution of equipment for drilling and operating oil and gas wells.

Last June the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation acquired control of the Frick-Reid Supply Company and the Frick & Lindsay Company and merged the two organizations. The acquisition was distinctly advantageous since both companies are large distributors of pipe.

The connection just established with the Petroleum Corporation will, indirectly at least, strengthen Jones & Laughlin's position in the pipe and oil equipment fields.

The Pittsburgh district will also be represented on the board of the Petroleum Company of America by T. W. Phillips, Jr., president of the T. W. Phillips Gas and Oil Company of Butler. Mr. Phillips is a director of the Shell Union Oil Corporation.

Mr. Costin, in addition to being chairman of the Board of Pittsburgh Screw & Bolt, is president of the Colona Manufacturing Company. Plans are now under way to merge these two organizations.

GREATER building activity in the Pittsburgh district in 1929 than was shown in 1928, has been predicted by Thomas S. Holden, vice president of the F. W. Dodge Corporation. Although building activity in the United States as a whole will probably show some decline this year, the trend here and in a few other localities is likely to be upward.

Mr. Holden stated that in 1921 the country was behind in its building. From 1921 to 1925 activity was on a great scale. Since then the industry has been undergoing a period of readjustment. Building was good in 1926 and 1928, but rather slow in 1927. This period has not yet come to a close. Mr. Holden does not expect any serious slump but only a moderate recession from last year.

ENGINEERING construction such as the building of new power plants, the electrification of railroads and similar types of work will probably continue to grow during 1929. Mr. Holden pointed to the fact that since 1925 there has been less speculative building and more investment building. Fewer residential and commercial structures have been put up with the expectation of a quick turnover. Most of the recent building has been done after careful consideration and with the idea of keeping the capital permanently employed. This has resulted in better quality being put into most of the work done lately.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The cotton market opened steady today at an advance of 9 points to a decline of 4 points. There was some covering by January shorts. The recovery from yesterday's early decline also brought in some overnight buying orders, particularly in the old crop months.

The advance met considerable realizing. There also seemed to be some southern selling and after the initial demand had been supplied, prices turned easier. By the end of the first half hour, March was selling around 20.06c and July 19.70c, or 2 to 5 points net lower.

Private cables said continental and Bombay buying have absorbed realizing in the Liverpool market and reported further cloth buying for China and Manchester.

Trading was quiet later in the morning. Prices sagged off a few points under further realizing or liquidation, which seemed to come partly from Southern sources. At midday, March was selling around 20.04c and July at 19.67c, or about 4 to 8 points net lower.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Market Under Pressure.

The stock market was under fairly heavy pressure today and lost ground under the selling, the result probably of the excited markets the past few sessions when Steel common, the copper stocks and a list of selected specialties rushed up to new high record prices. It had been suggested that cautious traders were unloading stocks under cover of the strength in Steel and the specialties and this morning's increased offerings were thought to have come from public sources attracted to the buying side by the enthusiastic upturns earlier in the week. Bearish sentiment was increased by a reduction in mid-continent crude oil prices and a resultant break in the oil stocks which carried that group down to the lowest in months. All oils participated in the decline, but some of the Standards and better grade independents encountered strong resistance at levels a point or two under last night's closings. Traders in the oil stocks have been the worst hit of the entire Coolidge bull market. Time after time the oils have given indications of wanting to go higher only to drop back after a little spurt on which they were called upon to absorb heavy selling, the sources of which were more or less in doubt. The present cut in crude prices and the weakness in the oil shares coming on top of numerous suggestions that the oil industry was looking upward and that last year's restriction policies had enlarged profits, was a keen disappointment. However, it was recalled that the Lamp, company organ of Standard Oil of New Jersey, had pointed out some time ago that production was again getting too far ahead of consumption and that unless drastic measures were taken another period of depression might strike the industry. Formation of oil investment trusts recently, with well informed financial interests on the boards had led the Street to believe that something better was in store for the oil shares, but today's developments made it appear that the oil lambs had themselves crossed up again.

Mid-Continent Crude Reduced.

Carter Oil Company, subsidiary of Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, has reduced Mid-Continent crude oil, making low gravity of 32 degrees $1.08 per barrel, with a reduction of 3 cents a barrel for each higher degree, making the top price $1.44 a barrel for 44 gravity and above. This represents reductions of 8 cents on the lowest gravity and 32 cents on the highest.

Stocks of Crude Larger.

Pipe line and tank farm gross domestic crude oil stocks, east of the Rocky Mountains, increased 1,350,000 barrels during December, according to the American Petroleum Institute. Stocks of crude and refined oils at refineries, covering approximately 89 per cent of operating capacity east of California, increased 1,157,000 barrels net in December. Gasoline storage increased 3,038,000 barrels and foreign crude oil increased 960,000 barrels, while gas and fuel oil stocks decreased 2,605,000 barrels and domestic crude oil stocks decreased 1,548,000 barrels.

The Money Market.

Call loans were renewed again today at 6 per cent. Money is likely to be somewhat firmer for the balance of the week. While there has been no important withdrawal of funds, demand has been insistent, coincident with increasing stock market activity. Continuation of demand, together with normal flow of money out of the banks for week-end payments, may result in stiffer rates the rest of the week. Month-end influences, which normally tend to firm rates, will not exert an influence until next week, however.

Cautious Trading Attitude.

A tendency toward greater caution is noted in many quarters. It is contended that great discrimination should be exercised by those inclined to make new long commitments, and there is a feeling among conservatives that the standard dividend payers should be given preference, particularly those which have prospects of increased earnings in the future. It is pointed out that the market has been a selective affair recently. While certain stocks have been unusually strong and have kept up the outside bullish enthusiasm, others have been meeting increased profit taking and have been reactionary.

Van Sweringens Form Holding Company.

Plans are being made by O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen, of Cleveland, to form a new holding company with assets in excess of $100,000,000 to take over certain of their railroad interests. It is understood that in connection with the formation of a new company there will be public offering of certain senior and junior securities which will probably consist of bonds, preferred and common stocks. It is known that personally, or through the Vaness Company, the Van Sweringens hold stocks of various companies, including Erie, Nickel Plate, Chesapeake Corporation, Pere Marquette, Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh and possibly the Chesapeake and Ohio. They control all of these properties. Presumably, a part of their stock holdings, held personally or through the Vaness Company, will be taken over by the new holding company, which is said to be in process of formation.

Mellons in Westinghouse.

Secretary of the Treasury A. W. Mellon states that he knows nothing of the reports that control of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company has been purchased by the Mellon interests. The denial followed the circulation of reports in Wall Street. On January 17 the Sun-Telegraph intimated that the election of A. W. Robertson as chairman of the Westinghouse board and of H. B. Rust as a director meant that the Mellon interest in the company had been increased. Apparently the reports that control had entirely changed hands rose from a too liberal interpretation of the additional Mellon representation on the board.

Mr. Robinson succeeded P. D. Cravath, acting chairman of the board, who is a New York attorney. Mr. Rust is president of the Koppers Company, one of the largest of the Mellon organizations. This company owns most of the stock of utility companies, which are under Mellon control. W. L. Mellon, president of the Gulf Oil Corporation, is also a director of Westinghouse.

A. W. Robertson may keep his office permanently here after he resumes his new duties with Westinghouse. Mr. Robertson has been ill with laryngitis and could not be reached to confirm the report.

It can reach within the next three or four years a production of about 5,500,000 vehicles annually."

All branches—ordinary, industrial and group insurance showed increases over 1927. It was the seventh consecutive year to show increases over the preceding year. Record Canada Grain Yield.

Canada's yield of wheat for the year 1928 amounted to 533,571,700 bushels, the crop report issued by the Bureau of Statistics revealed today. This is the highest total on record and the first time Canada has harvested a crop of more than half a billion bushels. The September report had estimated the wheat crop at 550,000,000 bushels, but experts criticized that figure as being too high in view of damage by frost and hail. The November estimate reduced the total to 500,613,000 bushels. Since November, reports from the prairie provinces indicated that any loss was largely in quality of the wheat rather than in quantity.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company has also acquired the Ditzler Lacquer Company at Detroit where spray material will be made for the Michigan automobile plants. Rubber Market Booms.

Crude rubber prices crossed the 22 cents a pound level when a new wave of buying swept the New York Rubber Exchange yesterday. Buying encouraged by advances in the London market and by domestic factory inquiry lifted prices generally about a cent a pound. Total sales were 4,075 long tons. The wave of buying was the second to sweep the market in recent weeks and according to crude rubber dealers appears to be inspired by the belief that American consumption this year will exceed 720,000 tons as compared with estimated production of 700,000. Much of the buying is ascribed to speculators, rather than interests closely connected with the trade, and to dealers in London and the continent, as well as in the Far East.

The market made further highs today. The 23-cent level was reached in all positions from September forward. Net gains of from 60 to 80 points were registered on heavy buying by commission houses and short covering.

A block of 100 shares of Colona Manufacturing Company sold on the local curb today at $41 a share. This is the company the local trading fraternity hears is going to take over the Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt. With Screw and Bolt selling around $82 and Colona changing hands at $41, the open market prices convey an impression of a two-for-one exchange. However, gossip in the street today was to the effect that Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt would give two of its shares for each five of Colona.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The raw sugar market was steady and unchanged early today with a sale of 22,000 bags of Cuban for February shipment at 3.83c duty paid to an operator.

Price changes in raw sugar futures were narrow with the exception of the present January position, trading in which ceases today. The opening was 5 points higher on January on covering by shorts. The later months were 1 to 2 points higher on buying by houses with trade and Cuban connections, some of which was believed to be the taking in of hedges against sales in the spot market. Later the January position eased off to the previous close under liquidation. The later months held steady in sympathy with the steadiness of the spot market. Prices at midday were unchanged to 2 points higher.

In refined, business was light as the trade apparently was covered on nearby requirements. Prices were unchanged at 5.10c for fine granulated.

The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability is 50.34 per cent. Last week it was 45 per cent.

The Reflection of Progress

MIRRORED in the industry of Pittsburgh is the story of service that brought its growth. This was no overnight development, no sudden springing into a place of manufacturing leadership; but instead, a gradual march to industrial heights, urged on by a desire to render a service in supplying the needs of commerce . . . let prosperity follow.

In the organization of J. H. Holmes and Company there is a reflection of this progress. A hundred and six years have passed since Nathaniel Holmes established his first banking office; and the investment department of his business — now J. H. Holmes and Company — grew with industrial Pittsburgh, ever ready to fulfill the financial banking service required by the men and the corporations whose vision of progress demands the same spirit of service that they, in turn, render to the industrial world.

VICTOR LAWSON Chicago Newspaper Publisher
W. M. WOOD Head of the American Woolen Company

THE chances are that you have heard of most of these well-known Americans. But have you heard how they left their money? . . . Without exception, they left it in charge of a trust company or bank named in their will as executor or trustee of their estates.

What does this mean to you? Simply this—that this method is the accepted modern way of settling estates. . . A way by which you make certain that the provisions of your will shall be exactly and promptly carried out.

When so many men of many minds agree on this point, doesn't it seem that it is a good plan for you to follow? You don't need to be a person of national reputation or a man of great wealth. Numerous men and women of moderate means have appointed us to act as executor and trustee under their wills.

We shall be glad to explain to you all the benefits of this arrangement any time that you like.

No Four-Cent Gas Tax Should Be Tolerated

Gov. Fisher's suggestion that an additional emergency tax of one cent be placed on gasoline is said to be certain to run against strong opposition in the Legislature. Opposition by the public will be even more determined.

The two-cent tax, imposed some years ago, was not looked upon with favor, by any means, and when an additional emergency tax of one cent was put in force for two years, now expiring, it was felt that the policy of ''all the traffic will bear'' was being applied. Now comes the word that the ''emergency'' tax, which the people were asked to endure for only two years, will be renewed for an additional two years.

Then to top the imposition comes Gov. Fisher's intimation that there should be still another cent added. This in order that revenue may be provided so that cities and boroughs could have their demands granted for a return by the state to municipalities of a portion of motor license fees. That is a demand in the name of justice, since motor vehicles have made street maintenance a problem that is ever increasing in seriousness. But we don't want higher gas tax to bring it about.

In the recent campaign we were told that certain proposed bond issue improvements, opposed by political interests, could be provided through current revenues. Now the politicians tell us that more revenue is needed. So they pick on the gasoline buyer. Probably because he is not deemed important, for instance, as Joseph R. Grundy, politician and head of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, who has been successful in preventing capital stock of corporations from being taxed. We are not advocating a stock tax—merely making a comparison.

Let there be an end to this ''emergency'' gas taxation. The automobile owner was paying plenty when he paid two cents, and an important Pennsylvania industry was being given a sufficient handicap when that amount was added to the cost of getting its product to the public. If the politicians are permitted to make it four cents, they will be asking for five at the next General Assembly!

Let's Keep to the Right As to School of Walking

A correspondent suggests that the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph begin a ''column'' school to educate folks in the correct way of walking—that is to keep to the right. To teach them left and right—or right and left.

If they didn't know the difference—which they do—it would be just like interfering in a fight between man and wife. Both would turn and give you a sock on the nose.

Our correspondent believes the people should be taught how to walk. ''One awkward person,'' he states, ''blocks the way of hundreds.''

Ah, dear chap, it is easily to be seen that you generally are in a hurry. Reform before it is too late. Don't dally, of course, but don't be in such a rush that a momentary halt in your progress through bumping into some ''awkward person,'' who suddenly steps into the place you intended to step into, will appear so important as to demand a school for walkers. Don't be too tense. 'Tis bad for the health.

Our careless walker is just all of us, and all of us do not care to change our habits. They might not be any better if we did. We think two files of soldier-like persons, one walking precisely on the inside of the sidewalk, and the other walking dignifiedly and orderly in the opposite direction on the outside would become very monotonous.

We feel that some day, when we were walking in a most exemplary way in our alloted place on the inside, next to a shop window, we would really be glad if some woman on the outside, also walking according to the rules of the walking school, would forget all about the nice diploma we gave her, and just dart over to that window regardless. It would give us our chance of mentally swearing at her and wondering why women don't learn to walk right.

Forgetting all about her right to have a look at that hat in the window. Or perhaps the fact that five minutes may have elapsed since she powdered her nose and she wanted to use the window for a mirror.

No, dear correspondent, we don't think we'll start a walking school. It isn't necessary. And we'd soon be told to mind our own business. Until one gets into the Army, a person has the right to walk as he pleases, so long as he conforms to reasonable traffic regulations.

What About Chicago and New York?

THE BERLIN BULLET-PROOF VEST.

This vest, adopted by the police force of Berlin, is worn by all policemen working in hard neighborhoods and in danger of being shot.

If they do all that they are supposed to do, the bullet-proof vest should be worn IN EVERY NEIGHBORHOOD IN NEW YORK, CHICAGO AND SOME OTHER CITIES.

In these days ANYBODY is apt to be shot ANYWHERE.

The hand that you see on the left holding the automatic pistol has been firing bullets at the waistcoat without hurting the man who seems to have confidence in his invention.

Quite seriously we suggest that if any such protection exists, police in our big cities should have the benefit of it.

The whole body, unfortunately, cannot be protected. But at least the waistcoat will protect that part of the body in which bullet wounds most often cause death.

Tales That Are Told

A Chinese Puzzle

FOUR tradesmen clubbed together to buy cotton. To protect it from rats they procured a cat, and agreed that each of them owned one of the animal's legs.

Soon afterwards the cat hurt one of its paws, and the owner of that particular leg bound it up with rag soaked in oil. But the cat went too near the fire, the bandage ignited, and the terrified animal rushed amongst the bales of cotton, which flared up and were destroyed.

The three owners of the uninjured legs sued their partner for loss and damages. The judge ruled thus:

"Since the cat was unable to use the injured leg, the cotton was set on fire by the action of the three uninjured legs on which the cat ran among the bales of cotton. Consequently these three legs were guilty, and their owners must pay damages and costs."

Fast and Furious

Funnily enough, he did not seem very excited about it, and managed to restrain his enthusiasm in a very marked manner. However, he went out to a party and returned in tremendous spirits, exclaiming:

"I've got a dandy watch!"

"I'm so glad you like it," said his mother, duly pleased at his joy which up to now he had concealed.

"Yes, he continued, "it's half an hour ahead of Lew's watch and it's a whole hour ahead of the church clock."

The Soft Answer

THE mistress was interviewing a prospective maid.

"You seem a capable girl, and I am willing to pay you the wages you ask and let you have an hour or two off every day," she said. "The work is not hard, and what I chiefly want is a maid I can thoroughly trust. Now what about references?"

"Oh, that's all right, ma'am," said the girl. "As a matter of fact, I've taken a fancy to you, so I won't trouble you for a reference."

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

WOMEN that want to show off are pretty near as bad as men that want to show off. Only the women get caught at it, and the men think they get by with it most of the time. There was a lot of women at a bridge party, and Mrs. Brown was trying to show off to her neighbor, Mrs. Jones. This here Mrs. Jones didn't belong to the club and hadn't been to one of their tea fights before.

So Mrs. Jones was supposed to be impressed when Mrs. Brown says to the hostess, "Oh, how do you do, Mrs. Sleezik! I hope you're well. Say, how is the dear countess?"

But Mrs. Sleezik let her have a fast one.

"What countess?" she says.

Mrs. Brown muffed it.

"Oh, any countess at all!" she says.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

CAN you shut out suffering?

Can you protect yourself from heartache?

You can. But there's a price to pay, as Clare has discovered. Here's her letter. It's the letter of a clever, cautious, modern girl who is determined that life shall not get the best of her. She has devised a philosophy to that end—and it's a good philosophy. But—if you don't let life get the best of you can you get the best of life? That's what Clare wants to know.

Dear Miss Robinson:

I feel that in facing life young people should select a certain philosophy for themselves. I selected mine. I decided that I, myself, could determine just how I would be affected by other people—particularly men—and I decided that I would love, or allow myself to be loved, just as much as I thought best. In short, I felt that I could save myself suffering if I would build a wall about my heart.

I took that attitude and it worked. Other girls lost their heads and broke their hearts over men. I didn't. Other girls were at the mercy of their own emotions. I wasn't. My wall protected me. But now I am beginning to be afraid of my own calmness. I find that I am cool and indifferent to everything.

I wonder if, in saving myself heartache, I haven't taken all the warmth out of life. I am inclined to believe that if you build a wall strong enough to shut out sorrow, joy can never get in. Am I wrong?

CLARE.

You're a hundred times right, Clare. And the thing you have discovered applies to every department of life, as well as to the department of love.

If you shut life out, life will shut you out.

If you give nothing, you will get nothing.

You may, it is true, achieve safety—but that is the most contemptible of life's gifts.

You may escape the storms, but you will never know the glory of the sun and stars, nor ride the great winds nor walk with the dawn.

Dare to live!

Dare to let life have its way with you!

Dare to cry and laugh and tremble and blaze and yearn!

Dare to be hungry and hurt and humiliated!

Let the rabbits have their burrows and the mice their holes, but as for you—stand up like a man and face life naked!

And what will life do to you?

Life will whip you cruelly. Life will freeze you and blister you and scar you. It will cast you into the blackest depths.

But life will also lift you up to the shining heights. It will put strength within your scarred hide and breed mysteries in your bruised brain. And your broken heart will be so wide that it will welcome all the world.

That is what life will do for you if you have the courage to face it.

And if you haven't? Then life will leave you alone. And that is the cruelest hell a man may know.

SCRAP BOOKS

By Garrett P. Serviss

A WOMAN who does me the honor to offer a suggestion occasionally, has just written about her system of scrapbooks, for the pasting of which she utilizes: "Old yearly Congressional Report books which would otherwise be wasted."

People often begin scrapbooks, but after a time lose interest in keeping them up, principally because they have not this lady's secret of using them continually as a reference library and a thought factory. By this plan her interest is kept alive and active. If you never read and reread your scrapbooks, and think over them, they will be of no use to you or anybody. But if you do regularly run through them you will find them endlessly interesting and extremely valuable for consultation and inspiration. Merely keeping up the indexes implies more or less rereading, and rethinking.

My correspondent says that she often uses her scrapbooks "for the school children and even for the college boy and girl." But chiefly she finds them an inducement "for systematic mental activity denied other channels of expression."

Here we have the scrapbook exalted to a high level in self culture. It serves to systematize knowledge and thought as fast as knowledge grows. The progress of science, the advance of industry, of sociology and of philosophy, are thus woven daily into the mentality of the scrapbook-keeper. Memory is reinforced, meditation is stimulated, lines of thought are developed with continuity. The scrap book thus becomes a vastly magnified notebook, connected and readable. The world's progress runs through it, leaving its permanent marks for reference, whereby alone it can be measured.

But this implies that scrapbooks capable of such service to their keeper shall be based upon a preliminary plan, and steady purpose. You may paste scraps on a single subject, which is a good thing for a specialist, or, like this woman, you may arrange them to cover substantially the whole field of human life. In either case they will promote the "systematic mental activity" which she finds so valuable. But the character of this activity depends on the scope of the books.

To keep a system of scrapbooks like hers, and to use them as she does, is to greatly enrich existence. The infinitely varied pageant of the world's life passes rapidly before the eyes, and can neither be fully comprehended in its complex relations, or fully impressed upon the memory in its multiplicity of impressions. But a well-chosen scrapbook fixes the picture and at the same time continuously records its progressive changes. Books, you may say, do the same thing. Yes, but they do it indiscriminately and too abundantly. Your scrapbook may easily contain the cream of a thousand volumes. It is a cyclopedia of your own making, shaped by the trend of your own mind, and helping to shape the development of your intelligence.

Bible Passages

Christ's Resurrection

(John 20: 1-10)

THE first day of the week cometh Mary Magdalene early, when it was yet dark, unto the sepulchre, and seeth the stone taken away from the sepulchre.

Then she runneth, and cometh to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple, whom Jesus loved, and saith unto them, They have taken away the Lord out of the sepulchre, and we know not where they have laid him.

Peter therefore went forth, and that other disciple, and came to the sepulchre.

So they ran both together: and the other disciple did outrun Peter, and came first to the sepulchre.

And he stooping down, and looking in, saw the linen clothes lying; yet went he not in.

Then cometh Simon Peter following him, and went into the sepulchre, and seeth the linen clothes lie.

And the napkin, that was about his head, not lying with the linen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by itself.

Then went in also that other disciple, which came first to the sepulchre, and he saw, and believed.

For as yet they knew not the scripture, that he must rise again from the dead.

Then the disciples went away again unto their own home.

The Year Is Young

THE year is young and hopes wax high;
Bow bright its promise glows,
Like some brave flag against the sky
It flaunts its gold and rose!
We shall at last achieve that task,
Long dreamed and long delayed;
Our gentle hands to all who ask
Shall render patient aid.
We shall be kinder to our friends,
More honest, faithful, free;
We shall forgive and make amends
To every enemy.
The year is young and life is sweet,
(So much of good to do)
Dreams spring like flowers about our feet,

Tex and the Grand Duke

By Herbert Kaufman

TEX RICKARD and the Grand Duke Nicholas died for the same edition. Comment on the Grand Duke averaged a half column, and editorial opinion of Rickard's news importance was registered with pages.

Many readers will be inclined to chal[illegible] fairness of journalism's tapeline, and protest that t[illegible]nder was scantily measured by the press.

Let's examine the facts of the c[illegible]se—of both c[illegible]

Tex started life without even a celluloid teething ring.

Nicholas' birthright was royal blood, boundless wealth, and incalculable opportunity. The resources of a vast empire and the latent possibilities in a hundred million subjects were largely his to mold for might or misery.

Rickard's folks hadn't a dollar, a prospect, an influence, or a servant, except their bare hands and unschooled minds.

Nicholas conformed to precedent and surroundings, chose bigotry, ruthlessness and reaction for counsellors, adopted laissez-faire for his creed, indorsed the stupid, reckless courses of tyranny, and helped furnish the strings on which a dynasty fiddled while an exploited populace burned with revolt, thwarted ambition and festering wrongs.

Rickard, step-child of fortune and son of the off-trail, was cast for poverty and drudgery.

His capital was a saddle, a lasso—and determination.

He traded up from a roulette wheel in Alaska to a gambling house in Seattle, to a saloon in Nevada. He staked their gains on a single bout and won—stayed with the game and kept winning—bought a ranch in Paraguay, came back, leased Madison Square Garden and established a monopoly in big matches.

He brought order and responsibility to an unsavory, crooked institution. He made promises and kept them—guarantees and fulfilled them—gave the public its money's worth—dragged pugilism from disrepute to community respect, earned millions and inspired national confidence.

Nicholas welched on his debt to self and society. He permitted a nation to be cheated of its liberties, saw its pockets picked, its citizens massacred, imprisoned without trial, refused every God-given right from education to representation, and lifted neither protesting hand nor voice.

The one delivered to the utmost of his lights and abilities—the other never even tried.

That's why a half column, and a half dozen pages, are their respective and just obituary dues—the target rings of a failure and of a success.

HAVRE—The Normandy coast and its perpetually sad, drizzle. But in five hours we will be thundering into Paris and—perhaps more rain. The piratical porters with their blue blouses, garlic breaths and lobster-red hands swarmed aboard early. The ship warns tipping them is optional. And that's a grand laugh.

Having subsisted on tea, fruits and salted nuts for the voyage, there was a magic in the sudden restoration of appetite the minute I stepped on land, and breakfast at a modest little pension a few steps from the pier never tasted so good. There was a relish even to the chicory coffee.

The dinkly little boat trains with their doleful peanut whistles puffed patiently in the dock sheds waiting for custom clearance. Nobody ever quits a steamer without leaving something behind. You may ransack your cabin with a fine-tooth comb and return later to find perhaps a bass drum. All I left was an overcoat.

Just as in every other seaport in the world, one is certain to meet at Havre—the Man From Cook's. I do not go on Cook tours, but I find a Cook guide indispensable in cutting the annoying little tangles of red tape, relieving you of the tipping and assisting you through customs. And for a modest pourboire.

Prowling through one of the ancient streets of Havre a voice from a dingy little shop called my name. Out bolted an old woman in sabots, stooped and supported by a crooked stick. Many years ago she was a chambermaid at a New York hotel, and with her savings had purchased the little fly-blown store.

The clop of the stocky bellied horses on the cobblestones, the rude tattoo of wooden shoes, the rhythmic pulsing of the sea and the tantalizing smells of vintage wine and delicious pastries make Havre pleasant for the voyager. And, of course, the curious jumble of French peasantry—staring one out of countenance.

Old World obeisance to plume and feathers was marked here. On the ship was a thrice-belted earl whom nobody noticed. And yet at Havre the mayor in all his regalia, accompanied by an eight-piece band, arrived with a fanfare of trumpets to welcome him in his hour's stay.

O, yes, at breakfast the French pride in its culinary skill was illustrated. It was only a three-table cafe to which you walked through a kitchen of shiny pots and pans. I ordered an omelet and when the cook lifted the lid with the customary flourish an edge was scorched. He was desolated. I thought he was going to have a spell as he tossed it out a window with a curse and made another. Chefs are decorated in France and monuments are erected to them. One begins to understand faintly why the immortal cook of one of the Louis—the 14th, I think—fell on his sword after he burned the fish.

I have always thought what leisure I had in life—not devoted to waiting for my wife to attend the theater—might be profitably spent in a seacoast town. Inland cities are standardized, but seaports are not. Marseilles, Cherbourg and Havre offer the same architecture, but they are as different as San Francisco, Naples and Kongkong. And the tug of adventure is irresistable.

Walking with my head knocking the stars along the rock sea wall at Havre, for instance, I was overwhelmed by an enthusiasm to escape the hum-drum of a disordered life of petty scribbling in New York and retire somewhere to solitude—you know, Real Work and The Lonely Way. In Paris or New York I would never give way to such ridiculous musings.

The leisure of Europe is always appealing at least for a few weeks. Two hours to dawdle over luncheon. Sauntering down the boulevards to sip a drink at a sidewalk cafe. Nine o'clock dinners, etc. For the laggards it becomes a pleasing soporific, but after a short while the wide-awake American wants to return to clock punching and hurry-up luncheons. The old dog and new tricks.

If one must take to tall drinking and low living, France is the ideal spot. On a narrow crooked street in Havre the American high ball was advertised for three francs—12 cents—and lodging overhead was five francs—20 cents—with breakfast.

Guy who makes a living shaking down speakeasies should be careful. One man who shook down a speakeasy recently forgot to get from under it.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

A WORD of praise is a little thing to extend, but it usually means much.

There are few men from high to low who do not experience pleasure from words of commendation.

This is especially true when a man feels himself that he has done well.

When a professional man, often employed by a business man to pursue his profession in the interests of that man's business, receives a letter thanking him for personal services to the company involved, it warms his heart.

Often there is friction between employe and employer and sometimes the words rankle.

The man who receives the tribute may be a top-notcher, but he still prizes the words of appreciation given him by his employers all the way up.

In fact, the more he is a man of affairs the more sensitive he is to praise which recognizes the quality of his services.

How often have you praised the person who has done a good job for you?
